COOLIDGE UNMOVED BY BUREAUS' 'ALARM' OVER BUDGET CUTS

Regards General Staff's Expressed Fear of Army Reduction as Propaganda Only.

DOUBTS SHIP BOARD STORY

Suggestion Made That Rival Companies Started Report That Leviathan Would Be Laid Up.

PREPARED FOR OPPOSITION

President Believes Public Backs Him in Fighting Higher Military Costs in Peace Times.

Special to The New York Times.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 25.—Opposition to President Coolidge's economy policy, apparently appearing in activities of the General Staff of the Army and the United States Shipping Board, will not be effective, according to views held by Mr. Coolidge.

It was made very clear today that the President will not be influenced by the reported activities of the Government bureaucracy to wreck his program to reduce Government expenses and probably to reduce the size and expenditures of the army to a pre-war basis.

When Washington dispatches, believed to be based upon activities of the General Staff were presented today to the President, the latter was represented as being fully aware of the opposition that always develops to attempts to make the Federal Government a business organization. While usually calm, Mr. Coolidge displayed some feeling over what was termed propaganda to arouse public opinion against his chief policy to reduce executive department expenditures to enable tax reduction.

It was stated that the public should not take too seriously published articles that the army would have to be reduced from 7,000 to 10,000 men and about 2,000 officers dropped to keep the appropriations for the next fiscal year within the Budget Committee's limitation. The President was not surprised at the reports, thought by him to emanate from the General Staff, picturing the army to be on the verge of dissolution. Such reports appear annually.

Believes Public Is With Him.

While a little annoyed over the persistent efforts of bureau heads to arouse sentiment against his program, Mr. Coolidge is represented as not at all disturbed. He feels that the public is with him in his policies and not disposed to favor larger expenditures for military purposes in peace times. He believes the General Staff will be able to provide the nation with a fair degree of defense with the present appropriation of about $300,000,000, which compares with $120,000,000 expended for the army before the World War.

President Coolidge has seen what the General Staff can do. He knows its ability to save when required, and its ability to expend. It has always been for increasing the military system, but sentiment now is against heavy military expenses, and the President means to interpret that sentiment despite the propaganda believed by him to have been authorized by subordinates in the War Department.

The President holds that it would be a serious reflection on the General Staff itself if it could not provide the United States with the proper defense at an annual cost of $300,000,000.

Instead of desiring to increase the cost of the army or its size, President Coolidge plans to reduce armaments, and he fully expects to call an international conference on further disarmament some time next year with the adoption of the security compact by the European countries involved. It is because the reported activities of the General Staff come in conflict with his economy program and his plans to have an argument to present to foreign nations for reduction in military establishments that he is represented today as annoyed by the General Staff's activities.

Discredits Leviathan Report.

Another report to which Mr. Coolidge gives little credence and regards as of small value is that Chairman O'Connor of the United States Shipping Board had said the steamship Leviathan would be withdrawn from service if the budget bureau's estimates for the Shipping Board were adopted. Admiral Palmer, as President of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, runs the vessels, and Mr. O'Connor, it is declared, has nothing to do with their operation. If Admiral Palmer had been so quoted the President would place some credence in the report.

It was pointed out that shipping was a highly competitive industry. The propaganda, it was remarked, might have originated with shipping lines in competition with vessels operated by the Government. The report that the Leviathan would be withdrawn from service, it was added, might have been started to influence booked passengers to cancel their reservations, but the President does not know that such is the case.

It was announced officially today that, although the President has not definitely selected the date for his departure for Washington, he expects to leave about Labor Day. He will make the trip by train.

Mr. Coolidge expects to take part next Thursday in the dedication of the largest flagpole in this section of the country on the Lynn Commons.

While sipping a glass of port on the Casino terrace after a dip in the ocean, M. Krassin, with his wife and daughter, quickly became the centre of a little crowd of people, among whom were several White Russians who shouted: "Vive Georgia! Down with Krassin!"

No attempt at physical violence was made, but before the hostile attitude of the people the envoy was forced to retire, the crowd vigorously applauding his sudden flight.

HOUGHTON FIGURES IN DEBT DISCUSSION

Ambassador Has Lunch With Caillaux and Churchill as Split Threatens.

OUR TERMS IN QUESTION

One Report That Houghton Outlined Them for France's Benefit—New Hope Aroused.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—No matter what European statesmen start discussing in these days the United States usually bobs up eventually in their debates. This was illustrated anew today in the negotiations now going on here regarding the French debt to Britain between the French Finance Minister, M. Caillaux and the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill.

When the news became known that Ambassador Houghton was present at a luncheon with Mr. Churchill and M. Caillaux and that he talked long and earnestly with the latter, London promptly buzzed—as it did early this month when Mr. Houghton lunched and dined with the French Foreign Minister, M. Briand, during the latter's visit in connection with the security compact conversations—with reports that America was about to assume a leading role in the debt negotiations.

Some well-informed circles go so far as to say that America has bridged an apparently hopeless gulf between the British idea of what France should pay Britain and the French idea of the maximum French payment. In these circles it is assumed that America achieved this remarkable feat by having Mr. Houghton tell M. Caillaux on what terms Washington would be willing to settle the French debt to America.

Talk of Three-Cornered Conference.

Armed with this knowledge, it is declared, M. Caillaux found himself in a much better position for continuing his conversations with Mr. Churchill. It is furthermore asserted here that the upshot of American intervention in the debt question may be a three-cornered conference by the United States, Britain and France, at which the entire question of debts may be discussed.

This morning it was said the chances were that M. Caillaux would return to Paris within a couple of days and lay certain suggestions before the French Government. These would be based on what he and Mr. Churchill had worked out in the course of their talks, and the probabilities were that there would be further conversations between Mr. Churchill and M. Caillaux.

Though Britain had reduced the original high figure which only a few days ago was declared to be the minimum annual payment she would accept from France in settlement of the debt, and though M. Caillaux had signified his willingness to consider a payment to Britain from France of somewhat more than the low total which was declared to be the utmost concession France could make to the British desires, everything indicated that the two Finance Ministers had been unable to settle upon a figure satisfactory to both.

The Morning Post, in an article it will publish tomorrow, flatly declares that America is responsible for the brightening prospect of a settlement of the question.

"America has come to the rescue at a moment when the prospects of an agreement over the payment of France's debt to this country seemed distinctly dark," says The Post. "There was difficulty in bridging the gulf between Mr. Churchill's claim of £20,000,000 a year

LEWIS CHARGES BAD FAITH

Declares in Three-Hour Address to Citizens' Committee the Owners Juggle Figures.

PROFITS ARE HUGE, HE SAYS

Cites Earnings as High as 187 Per Cent. and Asserts Companies Want a Walkout.

Special to The New York Times.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 25.—John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers of America, told the Citizens' No Strike Committee today that the miners would resume negotiations for a new wage scale if the anthracite operators withdrew their statements on the record of the interrupted parleys that they would reject every demand that tended to disturb the factor of production costs.

On being told of the attitude of the mine workers, which was backed up by a unanimous vote of the full Scale Committee, W. W. Inglis, Chairman of the anthracite operators subcommittee, said over the telephone from Scranton:

"Our attitude toward the demands of the mine workers is unchanged. We did not break off the negotiations. We still insist that we cannot agree to anything in the new contract that will increase our production cost, because that would mean increasing the price of coal to the public."

The reply of Mr. Inglis in advance of the joint meeting of the operators with the citizens' committee at Wilkes-Barre tomorrow is interpreted here as precluding any hope of the resumption of the wage negotiations broken off at Atlantic City on Aug. 4. The mine workers will draw up and issue their strike order not later than Thursday, and 158,000 mine workers will lay down their tools at midnight, Aug. 31, when the agreement expires.

The full Scale Committee met this evening and discussed questions pertaining to the retention of maintenance men to keep the mines from being flooded during a strike.

Gives Miners' View in Detail.

In a vigorous three-hour address, which his friends said was the greatest effort of his career, Mr. Lewis discussed in detail the position of his organization on every point at issue. He charged that the anthracite operators desired a strike because they could reap rich harvests from high prices, and quoted figures purporting to show the large profits made in recent years by the operators and their sales companies. He referred to wage figures from the work sheets of investigators for the United States Coal Commission, never before made public, to support his assertion that the anthracite workers were poorly paid. He threw into the record a mass of statistics on the cost of living to show that anthracite workers paid more for everything they bought than other workers.

Mr. Lewis charged that the operators' offer of arbitration was advanced to vitiate the possibility of a successful wage parley and declared that he was willing to enter a bona fide wage negotiation if the anthracite operators receded from their determination, announced when the parleys opened on July 9, that they would not make any concession that added a penny to the cost of production. Although the operators admitted that the check-off of union dues and assessments would not mean added expense, he asserted the employers refused it "because it was un-American," but held themselves to be 100 per cent. Americans when they checked off 29 items from the miners' dues.

Decries Talk of Substitutes.

Mr. Lewis assailed the campaign for the use of substitutes for anthracite coal and asserted that much of it was started to deceive the anthracite consuming public. He declared that in the last nine years since the operators started the cry that substitutes would replace anthracite their profits had been higher than for any other period of their existence.

"The cry that substitutes are supplanting anthracite shows the poverty of their case," he said. "If they believed that many people were turning away to the use of oil you couldn't pry such a statement out of them with a crowbar."

The comprehensive statement of Mr. Lewis, intended to be a complete record of the mine workers' position on every point in controversy, was made by Mr. Lewis extemporaneously after chairman

60 Bands Head 20,000 Negroes In Elks Parade in Richmond

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 25 (AP).—Sixty brass bands blared the marching time for upward of twenty thousand uniformed negro Elks today as the largest parade of negroes in the history of Richmond wended down Monument Avenue.

Eighty thousand negroes watched the parade from places of vantage along the line.

TONG WAR SPREADS INTO FIVE STATES

Rival Gunmen Kill Four and Wound Three Chinese in Six Cities.

REPRISALS ARE FEARED

Police Round Up Suspects to Stop Further Killings—Those Implicated May Be Deported.

The police of every large city in the country were warned yesterday by local officials to be on the alert for reprisals by gunmen and hatchetmen in the renewal of hostilities between the Hip Sing and the On Leong tongs, which began last Monday night with the wounding of two Chinese and a white man in Boston and the shooting and killing of an On Leong man in a restaurant in Chinatown here, less than an hour later.

The Chinese shot in Boston were said to be members of the Hip Sing tong, and, it was reported to the police here, the shooting had been done by gunmen of the On Leong tong in retaliation for the intrusion by members of the rival tong in the restaurant business and the opening of Chinese gambling houses there. Boston, together with all the other principal cities east of the Mississippi, had been for a long time considered by the On Leongs as their exclusive territory.

The slaying of the Chinese soon after midnight Tuesday morning in the kitchen in the basement of the restaurant at 15 Doyer Street here, was followed within the next ten hours by reports of shootings in Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Minneapolis. One On Leong man was shot and killed in Chicago, another member of that tong was killed early in the morning in Minneapolis, a third Chinese of the same tong, was killed in his laundry in Pittsburgh, and Long Choocy, Hip Sing leader and former "king" of Chinatown in St. Louis, was shot down there by gunmen in a group of six who cornered him near his alleged gambling establishment before he had received warning from this city that hostilities actually had opened between the tongs.

Police Had Been Warned.

The police of Newark, N. J.; Washington, D. C., and a few other cities, who had been warned through secret channels in their own communities of impending trouble, began gathering up suspects early yesterday morning.

General Butler, Director of Police in Philadelphia, following telephone conversations on the Tong situation with immigration officials at Washington and Gloucester, ordered Police Inspector McFadden to begin a round-up in Philadelphia of all Chinese not equipped with proper Government credentials.

It was the most drastic step ever taken by the Philadelphia police in a matter of the kind, and General Butler let it be known that it was intended to prevent the spread of the war between the Hip Sings and the On Leongs to that city.

Squads of detectives under direction of Inspector McFadden made a tour of Philadelphia's Chinese district last night in quest of gunmen and violators of the immigration laws. An extra force of uniformed policemen also was assigned to patrol the district to prevent hostilities being opened by Tong gunmen. The police found the shutters closed at most of the establishments of Chinese merchants on Race Street. This was taken as certain proof that trouble in the quarter was brewing, and that gunplay might be expected at any minute.

Four men among thirty Chinese gathered in by the Newark police at first were suspected of having participated in the tong killing here. Each had an automatic pistol on him, such as was used by the three or four gunmen who shot down the restaurant employe in Doyers Street. Witnesses to that killing failed to identify them, however, and they were held merely on the pistol charges.

The hope of influential Chinese business men in this and other cities that the new outbreak of killings by Chinese gunmen, knife-wielders and hatchetmen would be checked through peace methods was dispelled yesterday forenoon when the police learned that more than 100 telegrams had been sent to tong leaders in other cities from the headquarters of the Hip Sings at 15 Pell Street and the On Leongs at 42 Mott Street, instructing them to warn their members to be "on the alert for enemies."

Police interest in the telegrams centred principally on the report that nothing in the messages indicated that any effort was being made by either side to check hostilities by the "bad men" of each group. Upon request of Captain Donnelly of the Oak Street Station before dawn yesterday uniformed policemen had been stationed every fifteen feet on the streets in Chinatown to prevent pistol battles between the tong gunmen and

TRANSFER MEN TALK OF ENDING BUSINESS AS STRIKE GOES ON

Movement of Baggage Unhampered, With Public Turning to Makeshifts.

TAXIS DO BIG BUSINESS

Companies Fear Walkout Will Cause General Use of Cabs in the Future.

NO SETTLEMENT OFFERS

Employers' Spokesman Insists That Pay Demands of Strikers Cannot Be Met.

The strike of expressmen in the employ of the New York Transfer Company and the Westcott Express Company did not produce a ripple of excitement in the routine ways of the principal railroad stations in New York yesterday. Baggage was handled by taxicabs and local expressmen and by the house-to-house deliveries of the American Railway Express Company. The transfer companies had nothing to do but close their books and wait.

The situation has undoubtedly precipitated a crisis in the affairs of the transfer companies involved which far transcends the usual difficulties of a strike, for the walkout forced the public to find other ways of transporting its baggage, and much to every one's surprise the makeshifts worked very well. The porters in stations groaned and labored under unusual loads of trunks as they were carted to taxicabs, but they were well tipped and the owner of the trunk had the satisfaction of taking it with him.

"If we don't win this strike we might as well go out of business," said W. H. Woolverton of the New York Transfer Company. "We have been losing business for some years, because of taxicabs and the lighter weight women's clothes, which enables them to use suitcases instead of trunks, and this situation has precipitated a crisis which was bound to come. Our only hope is that the strikers will realize that if they persist in staying out they may not have any jobs when they want to come back."

Companies Losing for Years.

Officials of the transfer companies were perfectly frank in saying that they had been losing business for several years and that because of this they could not afford to grant the increases demanded by their men. The formation of the American Railway Express Company was the first blow to them, because that company offered house-to-house delivery of trunks, and although it guaranteed only sidewalk delivery it did not require a large tip to obtain delivery at any floor to which the trunk was to go. The taxicabs also cut into their business because a taxicab would deliver trunk and passenger to a railway terminal for about the same price that the transfer company would carry the trunk.

The Public Service Commission announced yesterday that it was not taking any part in the strike, because there was nothing before the commission on which it could act. The transfer companies also said that they could not apply for higher rates and had no intention of doing so.

There were no conferences between the commission, the strikers and the companies, and the companies took the attitude that there was nothing for them to do for the next few days except to await developments. They were apparently hoping that the lack of any confusion due to the strike would have its effect with the strikers, and said that until something definite occurred they were merely shutting up shop. Martin Lacey of the expressmen's union had nothing to say about yesterday's situation.

About a week ago railway companies, foreseeing the strike, sent word to their baggage agents not to accept trunks for delivery in New York, and the result was that this business was immediately diverted to the American Railway Express Company. This was the principal reason for the lack of congestion in the railway terminals yesterday, coupled with the fact that all the baggage which ordinarily is transferred through New York from one railroad to another was rerouted around the city.

Obstacles Ahead of Strikers.

These arrangements cut down the amount of baggage handled at both the Grand Central Terminal and the Penn-

HYLAN ATTACKS GOVERNOR AND WALKER; TALK OF A THIRD TICKET IS REVIVED; REVOLT GROWS IN MAYOR'S BOROUGHS

WALSH OUT FOR WALKER

Staten Island Senator Says the Issue Is Smith or Hearst.

SOMERS IS AGAINST HYLAN

Announces Opposition Despite His Recent Appointment to School Board.

BIG TAMMANY VOTE SEEN

Leaders in Brooklyn Declare There Is a Strong Movement There Against Mayor.

Defections from Mayor Hylan to Senator James J. Walker, Tammany candidate for Mayor, in sections where the Democratic organization is supporting Mayor Hylan, continued yesterday.

In Richmond, where the regular organization headed by David S. Rendt is supporting the Mayor, State Senator Thomas J. Walsh of the Twenty-fourth Senate District came out for Senator Walker. In Brooklyn, Arthur S. Somers, a member of the Board of Education by recent reappointment of Mayor Hylan and President of the Madison Club, the personal political club of John H. McCooey, Brooklyn Democratic leader, announced that he would vote for Senator Walker, but that because of personal friendship for Mr. McCooey he would not take an active part in the primary campaign.

Senator Walsh's announcement that he would support not only Senator Walker and the rest of the Tammany city ticket in the belief that the contest was really one between Governor Smith and William Randolph Hearst, was believed to be likely to have an important bearing on the bitter Staten Island Democratic contest. Representative Anning S. Prall has previously declared for Senator Walker.

Calls It Smith vs. Hearst.

Senator Walsh said in a letter to Mr. Rendt:

"After giving due consideration to all of the angles in the local political situation, I am compelled to take my stand against William R. Hearst in his fight against Governor Smith for the control of the New York State Democracy.

"I regard as my warm personal friend every one of the candidates on your local ticket. I believe that every one of those candidates is thoroughly capable and I believe that every one of those candidates is a real Democrat.

"I regard also as my warm personal friend every one of the candidates on the Walker-Tierman ticket. I believe that every one of those candidates is thoroughly capable and I believe every one to be a real Democrat.

"If the matter were to stop there and if every man on your ticket were to stand on his record alone, I should feel compelled to support you. But when you champion the cause of Hearst in his fight against Governor Smith, which is the paramount issue in this fight, you are doing something with which I cannot agree.

"Staten Island has recently received at the hands of Governor Smith and James Walker $2,000,000 toward the construction of the Tottenville-Perth Amboy bridge and the Holland Hook-Elizabeth (N. J.) bridge.

"Our late leader, Commissioner McGinley, foresaw as early as last January this very situation with which we are confronted and at that time, after a talk which he and I had with Governor Smith with respect to the $2,000,000 bridge, Commissioner McGinley told me that should this fight ever develop he would stand by Smith against the world.

Will Support the Winner.

"If it should develop that the great majority of the people on Staten Island on primary day show by their votes that they prefer Hearst to Governor Smith, I shall acknowledge defeat and shall be very happy to support the suc-

LaGuardia Asks Withdrawal Of All Controller Candidates

Representative F. H. LaGuardia, former President of the Board of Aldermen, wrote Mayor Hylan, George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany, and Samuel S. Koenig, New York County Republican Chairman, yesterday, suggesting that they withdraw all candidates for Controller and take the office out of politics by naming a man really qualified to take the place.

Mr. LaGuardia said he had in mind a well-qualified man, whom he did not name, but who, he said, would probably consent to take the office if he could get it without a contest. The Election law makes withdrawal of any of the present candidates impossible.

"With all due deference and regardless of my personal admiration of the gentlemen who have been selected as candidates for the office of Controller, I fail to see how the education, training or experience of any of them particularly fits him for the intricate, difficult and specialized work of that great office," Mr. LaGuardia said. "One an excellent physician, another a great sportsman and the third a brilliant lawyer, each stands out in his profession, but any of them would require years of training before he could commence to grasp the details and routine of the Finance Department."

SMITH WILL ANSWER HYLAN IN BROOKLYN

PLEDGES FIGHT FOR BONDS

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 25.—Declining to reply to Mayor Hylan's latest broadside against him at this time, but saying he would answer it Thursday night, when he is to speak at a Brooklyn rally for Senator Walker, Governor Smith concentrated his fire in a speech before the convention of the State Federation of Labor today on the issues of the proposed constitutional amendments on which the State will vote at the November election.

The Governor, while not taking up the issues of the New York City Mayoralty fight, referred to it in two instances. Quoting a sentence in a statement made yesterday by George K. Morris, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, "that the people will vote blindly on any recommendation is not likely," the Governor said:

"I was very much surprised to see this statement, its apparent purpose being to defeat these amendments, notwithstanding that the Republican platform of last year declared for the principles involved. If there is anything left of me when the primary fight in New York is finished I'll be around through the State trying to convince people that these amendments are right."

In speaking of the records of Democratic legislators the Governor called Senator Walker an "able, forceful and constructive leader."

The Governor returned to Albany tonight to prepare to go to New York City Thursday.

Branding the present executive system as antiquated and wasteful, the Governor said:

"I propose to revamp the present form of government and to make it more responsive, more responsible, more up to date. We now have a patchwork of commissions, from 135 to 140 in number, removed from the influence of the Governor, who is the real responsible officer. These boards and commissions duplicate effort and waste time and money.

"I wish to warn you against the insidious arguments advanced against the proposed amendment for reorganization. The move to cut down the number of elective offices has been branded as undemocratic. I can show you examples where the long list of offices to be filled at election time has led to disfranchising hundreds of voters because they did not have time to pass on them all.

"I vetoed the last park appropriation because it proposed to place the funds in the hands of a land board. This body, open to outside influence, might have given the people land no one else wanted instead of suitable park sites. When this condition has been remedied I will sign an appropriation."

Discussing his recent debate with former Governor Miller on the proposed expenditure of $100,000,000 for State buildings, Governor Smith declared that the war and the subsequent high costs of building held the construction program at a standstill for years.

He said the State was paying large sums for office rents when it should be housing its departments in State-owned buildings which would centralize the

HYLAN TALKS OF PLOT

CHALLENGES THE GOVERNOR

ASSAILS WALKER ON MEAT

Charges $1,000 Payment to Alienate a Supporter—Calls Chadbourne B. M. T. Owner.

With the assertion that the time had come to "call a spade a spade" and to handle the situation without "kid gloves," Mayor Hylan launched an attack yesterday against Governor Alfred E. Smith, Senator James J. Walker, Tammany candidate for Mayor, and George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany.

The Mayor asserted that he proposed to place before the people the transit record of Senator Walker and his record "in connection with those who sold putrid meat to the people."

Saying that he had no quarrel with Governor Smith and had worked four times for his election, the Mayor declared that every one knew the connection between the Governor and Thomas L. Chadbourne, who, he said, was the real owner of the B. M. T. Every one likewise knew, he said, that Lewis Nixon, appointed Public Service Commissioner by the Governor, had tried to increase the fare to 10 cents.

Puts New Haven Rise Up to Governor.

The Mayor added that he doubted that Governor Smith's political popularity could get the people to vote against him and suggested that the Governor tell the people frankly about the recent 40 per cent. increase in commutation rates granted the New Haven Railroad by the Public Service Commission. According to the Mayor, George R. Van Namee, former secretary to the Governor and the Governor's appointee to the commission, cast the deciding vote in the commission which gave the New Haven the increased commutation fare.

In a statement issued on his arrival in the morning at City Hall, the Mayor charged that "traction money" was being used against him and quoted John B. Fruhauf, head of the Hylan Five-Cent Fare Club, as authority for the charge that a worker in the Hylan campaign had received $1,000 to quit. This was repeated by Mr. Fruhauf, who said that a man who had been employed to obtain members of the club in a Manhattan Assembly district had told him that he had received that amount of money to quit the Hylan organization. Mr. Fruhauf said he did not know whether the man in question was a member of Tammany or not and declined to give his name or tell the Assembly district in which he was working.

Rumor of a Third Ticket Revived.

The Mayor's series of attacks were interpreted in some quarters as indicating an intention to run as an independent candidate at the election if beaten in the primaries. A report was current to that effect and that he would have the backing of William Randolph Hearst. Former Surrogate John P. Cohalan, the Hylan Manhattan and Bronx campaign manager, when asked if he interpreted the Mayor's letter to Senator Copeland as the forerunner of an independent candidacy, said:

"I haven't anything to say about that, except that it is not the way I interpret it."

"I am glad he wrote the letter to a doctor," was the only comment Senator Walker would make upon the Mayor's letter to his former Health Commissioner.

It was learned that the Tammany candidate considers it good strategy not to answer the attacks of the Mayor.

Senator Walker and his advisers believe, it was learned, that the people of the city have become tired of attacks and controversies between public officials and would be just as weary of controversies of a vituperative nature between candidates for public office. For that reason, it was said, no reply will be made to Mayor Hylan's charges at present. If in the future it should be necessary to answer them, it was said that complete replies would be made, but in terms that would not leave an impression that Senator Walker and his supporters were engaged in a "mud-slinging" campaign.

The Tammany candidate was said to have been advised that he will carry the primaries and become the Democratic nominee for Mayor, and to have been counseled to avoid a needless conflict which would, in the opinion of the Tammany board of strategy, be only to the advantage of the Republican nominee.

The Mayor's Letter to Copeland.

City of New York,
Office of the Mayor,
Aug. 25, 1925.

Hon. Royal S. Copeland,

New York City.

My dear Senator:

I heartily appreciate your letter,

Coolidge Expects Italy and France to Settle On the Basis of the British Debt Compact

Special to The New York Times.

SWAMPSCOTT, Aug. 25.—The attitude of the American Government regarding the Belgium debt settlement and the terms that will be accepted by the American commission from other debtor nations was explained today at White Court by a spokesman for President Coolidge.

The British standard of payment, it was asserted, was based upon the ability of that country to pay. This was the standard followed in reaching a settlement with Belgium, and which will be followed when France and Italy sit down to the council table to arrange terms for refunding their obligations to the United States.

The variation in the British terms granted to Belgium were because of the latter's peculiar position in the war. Belgium appealed to the sympathy of this Government and its people on account of the drive against her by the allied central Governments during the war.

It was made very clear that the favorable terms accorded to Belgium were not based on the Versailles Treaty or any other treaty, but were measured by the ability of Belgium to pay, and had no relation to the obligations of other countries owing money to the United States.

Gov. Ferguson Keeps Mrs. Canaday in Texas; Calls Kidnapper of Child 'Devoted Mother'

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 25 (AP).—A requisition issued by Governor Smith of New York for the extradition of Mrs. Roscoe Canaday of San Antonio, charged in New York with having kidnapped her own child, Roscoe Jr., from her former husband, was denied today by Governor Ferguson.

Governor Ferguson, in announcing her decision, said she did not believe "that Mrs. Canaday as a devoted mother has done anything more than any other mother would do under the circumstances."

She said she did "not believe any jury in New York or Texas would convict any good mother on the testimony of a husband who would want to put his wife in the penitentiary simply because she wants to continue the care and control of her own infant child."

As Canaday, the husband of Mrs. Canaday, resisted in the courts extradition granted by the Governor of his own State in response to my request upon a charge of kidnapping those children from Texas, I don't think he has a right to complain if I refuse the same remedy which he seeks to have used against his good wife, the mother of his children," added Governor Ferguson.

"If he wants his children, they are in Texas, and if he wants to come back to Texas and resort to legal proceedings to obtain possession of them, I am sure the courts of Texas will give every consideration to his legal rights. I shall give him a dose of his own medicine."

Governor Ferguson postponed the hearing in the case until this afternoon so that her husband, James E. Ferguson, could be present. Mrs. Canaday and Miss E. M. McLaughlin, a New York policewoman, who was ready to take Mrs. Canaday back to New York if the requisition was granted, were present.

wherein you offer every help and assistance within your power in the forthcoming primary battle for the nomination of Mayor of this great city.

The people appreciate your help and the help of every other good citizen of this great city in order to combat the powerful and vicious forces which are arrayed on the side of graft and privilege and against the interests of the great body of decent people in this primary fight.

As I see it, the opposition to my renomination—which is composed of powerful underworld grafters who have had their revenues from underworld graft shut off during my Administration and the traction financiers who have had to carry the people at a five-cent fare during my Administration—these two powerful forces have joined hands and, working through Judge Olvany and Sheriff Curran, have precipitated a bitter primary fight, which, if won by them, will make a wide open town and ten-cent carfares.

I am strongly of opinion that this situation is one which should not be and cannot be handled with kid gloves.

I propose between now and primary day, Sept. 15, to inform the citizens of this community just exactly what is going on behind the scenes and what this primary fight is really about. I propose to discuss freely and frankly with the great mass of decent people in this community the moral stamina and the business and political record of the man whom they have entered in this primary fight against me and whom they consider a fit candidate for the office of Mayor of the City of New York.

Refers to Walker's Record on Meat.

I propose to lay bare the record of Candidate Walker in connection with those who sold to the people putrid meat which was unfit for human consumption and his defence of the putrid meat handlers in the courts.

I propose to show his early transit record, such as his connection with the New York & Brooklyn Transit Company.

In other words, I propose to inform the citizens of this city with the facts in connection with this situation so that they may pass intelligent judgment on whether or not Candidate Walker is a proper person to aspire to the great office of Mayor of the City of New York.

I note that the traction newspapers confidently predict that Governor Alfred E. Smith is about to come here from Albany and throw his great mantle of political popularity around Candidate Walker and advise the people to vote for Candidate Walker in the primary.

If it is true that the Governor proposes to openly ally himself with those who are trying to "jimmy" their way into the City Hall, then all I have to say is that we will have to meet that situation in the most direct and forceful manner possible.

Mind you, I have no quarrel with Governor Smith. I did everything in my power to help elect him as Governor the four times he was a candidate. I very plainly perceive the Governor's political popularity, but no one can make me believe that even Governor Smith's political popularity with the people of this city will induce these honest, decent people to vote for a man of Candidate Walker's calibre when he runs for the high office of Mayor of the City of New York. It is to be hoped that the Governor in his addresses in behalf of Candidate Walker will speak freely about Mr. Walker's transit record and Mr. Walker's record of some of the Governor's former and present appointees.

Links Chadbourne With Smith.

Every one knows of the close personal and political friendship existing between the Governor and Thomas L. Chadbourne, who is the real owner of the B. M. T., and of the Governor's appointment of Lewis Nixon as Public Service Commissioner, who immediately after his appointment started in to advocate a ten-cent fare, as well as the action of the Governor's Public Service Commission appointees, Kellogg, Van Namee and Parsons, in voting to increase car fares to 6, 7, 8, 10 and 12 cents in up-State cities. Is it not fair to assume that Wall Street interprets this as meaning that the Governor is an advocate of increased fares?

It will be well for the Governor to speak frankly to the people of this city of his connection with the recent 40 per cent. increase of suburban fares on the New Haven Railroad, and how it was that his former private secretary, George Van Namee, who was appointed to the Public Service Commission by Governor Smith, cast the deciding vote in favor of this increased fare and why it was that Governor Smith did not utter even the slightest protest against this increase in fares by the New Haven Railroad.

It is going to be necessary for us to carry this fight right into the homes of the law-abiding citizens and inform them for the protection of their growing families, who are the future citizens, of the fact that a vicious attempt is being made to bring about a return to the wide-open town as was the case in the days preceding my Administration, and while the underworld grafters are collecting their toll from the underworld gamblers and dens of vice "higher-ups" will be busy collecting their share of the toll from the traction boodlers.

The people must be made to realize that this is not my personal fight—it is the people's own fight. I have always made my way in this world since I was a small boy. I have had to make my own living and I am proud of my ability to work hard and earnestly. So far as I am personally concerned, these gentlemen who are now so anxious to get me out of the Mayor's office were only too willing to have me retire by appointment to the high office of Supreme Court Judge; and every one knows that I could have retired from office with millions of dollars if I had gone over to the traction interests and allowed them to put over the billion-dollar increased fare deal.

I intend to speak out freely and call a spade a spade, an underworld grafter an underworld grafter, a traction boodler a traction boodler in this primary campaign. I shall hew to the line of truth and let the chips fall where they may.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN F. HYLAN, Mayor.

Sees Control by "Traction Interests."

The Mayor's charge that money was being used to influence Democratic "leaders and co-leaders" to come out against him followed a question as to what he thought of the declaration for the five-cent fare made by Frank D. Waterman, Republican organization choice for Mayor.

"Everybody knows that Waterman, like Walker, is part of the traction combination to get control of the City Administration," the Mayor said. It matters not to the traction interests which one of them may be Mayor, because either one or the other will do the bidding of the traction increased fare crowd. They are so tied up in their business and other affairs of life that there is no chance for them to stand by the people and they must do the bidding of the traction interests.

"There is a deal on between certain traction Republican bosses and certain Democratic bosses. Practically every traction company in the State has been allowed to increase carfare to 6, 7, 8 and 10 cents, and that is what the traction companies want to put over here, and with Walker or Waterman in the Mayor's office the traction companies are sure to increase the fare to 10 cents.

"Money is being expended by the Walker crowd like running water. Mr. Fruhauf, of the Five-cent Fare Club, had a conversation with a man who had been given a $1,000 bill to lay off and not help Mayor Hylan.

"This is the people's fight against the traction increased fare crowd, who have plenty of money and are spending it. I am told that they are very liberal in the distribution of their money in their endeavor to persuade leaders and co-leaders and supposedly influential people in the community to come out in favor of Walker and against me. The traction newspapers give great headlines to any one who will say that he or she is against me. They are trying to stampede the crowd into the Walker traction camp."

Calls Reporters to Reveal a "Plot."

A charge of a "plot" to make it appear that various clubs had declared against him was made by the Mayor when he invited the reporters assigned to City Hall to his office. He presented Jack C. Katlin, Chairman of the committee organizing the American Jewish Political Club of the Fourth Brooklyn Assembly District, and said:

"He will tell you of a plot."

Mr. Katlin, whose audience with the Mayor had been obtained through his brother, former State Senator Abraham Katlin, a Republican, contradicted the report that the club had endorsed Senator Walker and declared that this report had been put out by Solomon Lebowitz, who was a member of the organization committee, but had no authority to speak for the club. He said that so far the club had not endorsed any candidate, but would hold a meeting and endorse Mayor Hylan within a few days.

"B. M. T. money can get almost any lying statement in the newspapers," Mayor Hylan then said. "I am not running against Senator Walker, but against 'Jerry' Dahl. If Walker is elected, Dahl will be Mayor. There have been more lies in traction papers about desertions from me to Walker than I have ever read before. It is amazing how far newspapers will go to lie about anything I do to injure me."

Mayor Hylan then thanked Mr. Katlin for having visited him voluntarily to deny the report of the club's endorsement of his opponent. "I also want to thank the Jewish people for the stand they have taken against exploiters," the Mayor added.

"The Jewish people will stand loyally by you, Mr. Mayor," replied Mr. Katlin. "They will not be fooled."

A reporter suggested that an American Jewish League of Greater New York was being formed to support Senator Walker.

Says Desertions Are Exaggerated.

That the reports of the desertions from the Hylan camp in Brooklyn had been greatly exaggerated was declared by Jacob M. Foss, a lawyer, of 1,658 Broadway, in a letter to the Mayor.

"Do not let the newspaper talk of disaffection in Brooklyn disturb you," Mr. Foss wrote. "I happen to be the President of a local taxpayers' association and I know the sentiments of my neighbors. With some one else in the Mayor's chair the fare may remain five cents. With you in the Mayor's chair the fare will remain five cents.

"The pre-selection campaign will require a considerable sum of money. The transit interests will no doubt see to it that the opposition is well supplied with funds. It seems to me that your financial support should come from the millions of fare payers whose money you have saved. My carfare bill for the past eight years has been approximately about $600. If the fare had been eight cents, this carfare bill would have amounted to $960. In other words, through your efforts, I have saved the sum of $360. I hereby contribute to your campaign fund 1 per cent. of the amount I have saved, viz., $3.60, and I call upon all other fare payers of this city to contribute 1 per cent. of the carfare that they have saved by reason of your firm stand for a five cent fare."

William J. Lee Heads Field Forces.

The appointment of William J. Lee, former Supervisor of Recreation of the Park Department, as chief of the Hylan field forces in Manhattan and the Bronx was announced by Judge Cohalan. Mr. Lee has been active in Democratic politics for many years and once tried unsuccessfully to wrest the Tammany leadership of the First Assembly District from Thomas J. McManus. It was said that Mr. Lee had already formed nearly a complete election district organization in Manhattan and would have captains, watchers and workers at every polling place on primary day.

"I'M REGULAR," SAYS EDWARDS

Will Abide by Result of Primaries, He Adds, Foreseeing Victory.

William H. Edwards, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Controller on the Hylan ticket, announced yesterday that he would abide by the result of the primaries. In a statement issued at his headquarters in the Hotel Roosevelt, Mr. Edwards said:

"I have always been a regular Democrat. I am a regular Democrat and will always be a regular Democrat and will abide by the result of the primaries.

"Being a Democrat, it is only natural that if I find the enrolled voters do not favor me, I shall give the best I have in me for the election of the successful ticket.

"I have no thought of defeat. Letting go plays no part in my life. I am certain of victory. I am in this campaign to win and I am making my appeal to the enrolled voters and to my many loyal friends and supporters who are not enrolled.

"My life has been one of service, a service which I have not sought. I have never sought favor of the electorate and have always done everything within my power to help the local organization. The only time I ever thought of running for public office was when I filed petitions for the office of Sheriff the year Governor Al Smith was a candidate. When his candidacy was announced, I withdrew. Al Smith was no stranger to me and his candidacy appealed to me more than my own, so I withdrew and hustled to help elect him.

"There will be no personalities in my campaign. I am fighting no group. I am a candidate for the controllership.

"I look upon this Democratic campaign as a tryout for members of the Democratic primary team who hope to make the big team which will go against the Republican players in November, and I am certainly going to make that big team."

SAYS BROOKLYN IS LOYAL.

Tells Hylan Meeting Democrats Will Support Walker if He Wins.

George M. Curtis, Chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of the Democratic organization in Kings County, told an audience at the headquarters of the County Committee in 4 Court Square, Brooklyn, last night, that if Senator Walker was victorious in the primaries he would receive generous and loyal support from the Democrats of Brooklyn. This statement was made a few minutes before the Mayor arrived to launch another attack upon the traction interests and those who would throw the town wide open to vice and gambling by defeating his aspirations for a third term.

Mr. Curtis declared that the present primary fight was simply the result of a difference of opinion among Democratic leaders and he said that Mayor Hylan had stated that he laid his case before the jury of Democratic voters and that he would abide by the result.

"I am authorized to say," he continued, "that if Senator Walker prevails in the primaries, that not even Tammany Hall will give him more loyal, more generous or more unlimited support than he will receive from the Democrats of Brooklyn."

The Mayor at one point in his speech held up a pamphlet, "Seven Years of Progress," and advised the speakers to take it for their guide in the coming campaign. He emphasized his loyalty to his party leaders in the past. This he told his audience was Charles F. Murphy's last message to him:

"Tell the Mayor he is all right. He has done great things for the public. He has kept the government honest," was the Mayor's quotation from Murphy.

"I can say that now," said the Mayor, "for the messenger who brought that message to me is still alive. During the time that Mr. Murphy was alive I had every cooperation and kept to a peaceful harmonious policy. I extended every possible courtesy to Mr. Olvany when he came in, but to my amazement he began speaking in behalf of persons and things with which it would not have been right to associate."

The Mayor took his fling at the traction crowd and those who, he said, would open the doors to vice if they got into power.

"I have opposed to me those who want to open the town wide," he continued. "They would let in the vice and crime that flourished under the Mitchel Administration."

As an instance of that condition he said that "Chapin, former editor of The Evening World, who is now in Sing Sing had a police boat for a floating cabaret."

The Mayor went on, "It is a battle now between the people and a little ring composed of a traction lawyer, a former poolroom king, and a man connected with a newspaper who was one of the most intimate friends of the biggest gambler."

William A. Cokeley made an attack upon his rival in the primaries, Judge Joseph V. McKee. "Why does he not resign?" he asked. Mr. Cokeley said that he had two sons and three sons-in-law in the late war and then he asked "Where was Judge McKee during those perilous times?"

William H. Edwards also spoke.

EX-GOVERNORS OUT TO HELP WATERMAN

Hughes, Mille and Whitman, the Latter a Candidate, to Speak in Campaign.

NOMINATION THOUGHT SURE

Little Attention Will Be Paid to Rivals in Party by Waterman Strategists.

Three former Governors, Charles E. Hughes, Nathan L. Miller and Charles S. Whitman, the latter a candidate for District Attorney of New York County, will speak during the campaign for Frank D. Waterman, Republican organization choice for Mayor, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Miller is expected to make a vigorous speaking campaign against the proposal to issue $100,000,000 of State bonds for the improvement of existing State buildings and the erection of new ones, on which project he recently debated with Governor Smith. He also will take part in the campaign to elect Mr. Whitman to the latter's former post of District Attorney.

The speeches of the three former Governors will be more with a view to the election of Mr. Waterman than his nomination, for the Republican organization leaders were said to consider Mr. Waterman's success in the primary election certain, despite the fact that William M. Bennett and John J. Lyons, former Secretary of State, are candidates.

Headquarters for Mr. Waterman will be opened in a few days. Space is now being sought in an office building, it being the idea that Mr. Waterman, being a business candidate, should have his headquarters in a business building rather than in a hotel.

Although a certain amount of work for the primary contest will be done from these headquarters, the real primary campaign for the nomination of Mr. Waterman will be in the hands of the Republican organization leaders of the five counties, who were said to have assured the candidate that there was no doubt that he would be the choice of a majority of the enrolled Republicans.

The Waterman primary campaign, it was said, would be made almost entirely with a view to its effect for the general election. This is in keeping with the official notification ceremonies Monday night, when the name of neither Mr. Bennett nor Mr. Lyons was mentioned. Organization speakers before the primaries, it was said, will make little reference to either of Mr. Waterman's opponents but will stress the need for a business administration of the city and urge not only his nomination but his election.

Mr. Waterman will make few speeches this week. On Thursday night he will speak before the Third Ward Republican Club at Flushing, of which Alderman George U. Harvey, candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, is a member.

Mr. Waterman has been asked to visit on Friday night the Republican Club of the Twenty-second Brooklyn Assembly District, of which Jacob A. Livingston, the county leader, is the head. Mr. Waterman said he did not expect to make a formal speech at either of these meetings, which will be in the nature of a reception.

LYONS SEES A 'FRAME-UP.'

Complains That Waterman Notification Was 'Cut and Dried.'

John J. Lyons, candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor, declared yesterday that the formal notification of Frank D. Waterman of his selection as the organization candidate for Mayor had convinced him that Mr. Waterman's selection was a "frame-up" and that there was no chance of his nomination or election. He also attacked Mr. Waterman's reference to "politicians" and repeated his assertion that Mr. Waterman was not a Republican and had in the past rarely been interested enough in public affairs to vote.

"In spite of my long service to the party I was not invited to the meeting," Mr. Lyons said of the notification meeting. "I was not consulted. It was a cut and dried affair. It was more than that: it was a frame-up, not against me merely, but against the Republican voters themselves.

"The primary will not be held until the 15th of next month. There candidates are in the field asking for the votes of those who alone have the power to decide who shall be the nominee. The victor in that contest will alone be the standard bearer of his party in this campaign against a possible divided Tammany camp. The conclusion is inevitable, then, that the leaders have taken it upon themselves to act as both a primary and a convention without any thought of the rank and file, of the men and women who are sufficiently loyal to the party to register as Republicans. These leaders depend upon their nerve combined with the check-book and fountain pen of their millionaire candidate. It will not work.

"Mr. Waterman makes no denial of the fact that he consistently voted in New Jersey and for President Wilson and the League of Nations. He announces that he is a Republican. If he is a Republican, every mugwump who turns turtle for the sake of a little advertising and an office and then asks Republican voters for support is also a Republican. For years he was not sufficiently interested in public affairs to vote at all. Then he espoused the cause of Wilson and the League. Now he asks the 510,000 registered Republican voters to believe that he is entitled to their support.

"If Mr. Waterman holds such civic pride as he now expresses, where was it during all the years that he was sleeping over on the Jersey side? If he was opposed to the manner in which the affairs of the city were being conducted, why didn't he exercise his right as a citizen to correct them? He held that remedy in a ballot which is the right of every citizen, but he failed to utilize it. During his period of sleeping he could have expressed his choice at the polls and aided his party in an effort to secure a different representation in city officials."

COURT STOPS; HAS NO JUDGE

Hylan Fails to Reappoint Substitute Magistrate.

Because of the failure of Mayor Hylan to reappoint Michael N. Delagi a City Magistrate for another thirty-day period, business in Morrisania Court halted yesterday until another Magistrate could be obtained. Mr. Delagi was named to substitute for Magistrate August Glatzmeyer, who is ill, and upon the expiration of his temporary term, the Mayor refused to reappoint him, it was alleged, because he continued with the Bronx Democratic organization in support of Senator Walker, Tammany candidate for Mayor.

According to the printed schedule, Magistrate Glatzmeyer was supposed to be sitting in Morrisania Court, but no Magistrate appeared and more than a hundred prisoners with many more complainants, witnesses and policemen waited in the court room for somebody to arrive. Magistrate Bernard J. Douras, who had been sitting in Bronx Traffic Court, went to the Morrisania bench.

Arctic Travel Speed Rose 7,500 Per Cent. When MacMillan Fliers Crossed Ellesmere

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Commander Richard E. Byrd and the naval fliers of the MacMillan Arctic expedition increased Arctic travel speed about 7,500 per cent., according to calculations based on radio dispatches to the National Geographic Society.

In the flight searches for an intermediate base between Cape Thomas Hubbard and Etah, Commander MacMillan, in the course of one hour looked down on country he had once toiled fifteen days to cross with dogs and Eskimos.

Three times in three differenet years MacMillan crossed Ellesmere Island. The planes crossed it three times in a week.

In MacMillan's terse message from Etah, "we arrived in twenty minutes at the Greely camp of 1884, where eighteen men died of starvation," is packed a story of the conquering of part of the Arctic by the airplane.

Cape Sabine, to which Greely and his men retreated, is thirty miles across Smith Sound from the Eskimo settlements at Etah. That thirty miles separated them in 1884 from necessary Eskimo help for nine lean months.

Dr. Hayes, another Arctic explorer, took thirty-one days to cross Smith Sound.

With four dog teams and the best of conditions MacMillan crossed to Greely camp on his previous trip North in eight hours, in order to erect there the memorial tablet sent by the National Geographic Society.

Navy planes covered 300 miles in less than three hours, according to radio reports to the society. Under good conditions a sledge party seldom covers more than twenty to twenty-five miles in a day. When a glacier has to be climbed or a wind-blown, rock-strewn pass traversed, a day's work in the Arctic still will leave the mileage at a fraction of the average expected.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—Bad weather has forced the MacMillan Arctic expedition to halt on its way South from Etah, Greenland. A dispatch received at the Navy Department today from Lieut. Commander Byrd, commanding the navy section, said:

"Perry and Bowdoin are laying-to at Booth Sound on account bad weather."

Study of maps led officials to believe the expedition was at Booth Fjord and that an error in transmission was responsible for the message saying it was at Booth Sound. Booth Fjord is about 150 miles south of Etah near Cape York, the northern boundary of Melville Bay, where severe ice conditions were encountered on the run North to Etah.

PERSONAL ATTACKS DECRIED BY WALKER

Senator Says He Won't Descend to Mud Slinging Against an Opponent.

AVOIDS MENTIONING HYLAN

Makes Two Speeches in Manhattan and Expresses Pride in Being Associated With Smith.

A declaration that he did not intent to participate in any mudslinging campaign was made last night by Senator James J. Walker, Tammany candidate for Mayor, in speeches to members of the Tammany organization at the Miami Club of the Eighteenth Assembly District at 1,459 Lexington Avenue, and to the Twentieth Assembly District organization at 165 East 125th Street.

Senator Walker did not mention Mayor Hylan by name, but his reference to the Mayor's attack on him and Governor Smith was obvious.

"I don't propose to get down in the gutter," Senator Walker declared amid cheers. "I have too much respect for this city. I wouldn't feel right on Sept. 16 if I got up all bespattered with mud from grappling in the gutter with some one who is comfortable in the gutter.

"I am told that the papers carry a story that puts me in a class with people the author of the story seems to think I should be ashamed of. Yet I thank those who thought they were annoying me for associating me with the greatest Governor we ever had, Alfred E. Smith."

This reference to the Governor brought applause which temporarily halted the meeting. Another reference to the Mayor's attack on Senator Walker was made by Justice Joseph V. McKee, candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, who said:

Calls the Charges Absurd.

"The charges against Senator Walker are perhaps the utterances of a disordered mind. They are so ridiculous that they fall of their own weight."

Senator Walker in his speeches denied Mayor Hylan's contention that he was the choice of the majority of the Democrats of the city because he had the support of three out of five Democratic county leaders. "There is a renewed determination that Tammany Hall will never be made a ratifying agency for any self-appointed candidate, no matter who he may be," Senator Walker said. "I look on the Mayoralty job as no sinecure. Much of it will be cleaning house because I know a great deal of dust has been swept under the sofa."

Senator Walker started to make some reference that "no egotist and no self-seeker—" but stopped, saying that he had been asked to restrain himself. He continued:

"When I meet St. Peter on the steps of Paradise I'm going to have something to say to him besides that I stood for a 5-cent fare. That will be the day when there will be no 'bunk,' and I hope to get in on past performances that count.

"I don't waste much time on the 5-cent fare because my legislative experience has taught me to say nothing about a thing that is unanimous. But it must be a good issue. It has carried one man along for seven years without the aid of anything else."

Says Party Made Hylan Mayor.

Senator Walker said that the party emblem was what counted, and said the emblem that counted was the star. "It made some one a Mayor seven years ago," he said.

"It will make you a Mayor," a voice shouted.

"That's right, but only once," replied Senator Walker. "I won't ask for it again."

Senator Walker stopped and smiled. "You may be assured that I will never ask for it a third time," he added.

Senator Walker said that he had the original copy of a bus bill he received from the Corporation Counsel's office and which he refused to introduce until he had written in a provision fixing a 5-cent fare. He said he intended to produce this during the campaign to show how sincere the City Administration had been in its 5-cent fare cry.

"Is it possible for a man buffooning at a nickel sideshow to make this great community forget everything else—health, sanitation and the children's welfare?" he continued. "Our platform is forward looking and no amount of vituperation and slander will cause me to take my eyes off that mark."

Senator Walker, as would be expected, at two Tammany rallies was received with enthusiasm. The halls in which he spoke were not large but were crowded to their capacity, 400 or 500 men and women being present at each meeting.

If Hylan Runs Independently.

Still without mentioning Mayor Hylan's name, Senator Walker humorously discussed the possibility that Mayor Hylan might run independently for election if defeated in the primaries.

"I have seen men who, under the Walker Boxing law, didn't know when they were out," he said. "Some of them had to be knocked out twice. Well, if it has to be done it will have to be done, that's all."

Senator Walker also replied to intimations made by Mayor Hylan and the latter's supporters when he said:

"To those who would couple me with the underworld, I would say that they are liars. I am true to two graves in this town."

The reference made by Senator Walker was to his parents.

WANTS CITY RADIO DIVIDED.

Dr. Thomas Suggests WNYC Be Used by All Mayoralty Candidates.

Division of the time of the municipal radio station WNYC among the different candidates for Mayor was suggested yesterday by Dr. Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate, in a letter to Mayor Hylan.

"New York has a broadcasting station," Dr. Thomas wrote. "Recently Justice Churchill very properly refused to enjoin your use of that station for speeches which the Citizens Union thought political. It seems to me that a political use of the city broadcasting station at the present time is eminently proper. Only the station ought not to be monopolized by one candidate or one party. It ought to be made an important means of the political education of the people.

"I suggest, therefore, that a definite time be fixed by mutual arrangement when each candidate for the Mayoralty nomination be permitted to set forth the issues on which he appeals to the people. After the primaries the candidates regularly nominated by their parties should be given further opportunity to set forth the issues. It might be stipulated that such discussion should not descend to any mere calling of names. Nevertheless, it should be frank and to the point.

"The people have a right to know what in the world our Republican friends are quarreling about and what issues they have to present to the voters. They have a right to know what brought to so bitter an end the beautiful friendship between you and Tammany Hall and your partnership in the administration of the city. They have a right to know why neither you nor Senator Walker have any program on housing and markets, matters even more fundamental than transit to the workers of our city.

"Some time ago I wrote you suggesting the propriety of permitting other candidates than yourself to speak at Boardwalks and from bandstands at municipal concerts. I received no answer. I respectfully submit that this letter requires an answer. It is good neither that the city radio should be monopolized by one candidate, nor that it remain unused when it might be a valuable means of political education."

BENNETT ASSAILS SUBWAY DEFICIT

Lines Should Be Made Self-Supporting, Says Republican Aspirant to Nomination.

MAKES ECONOMY HIS ISSUE

Thinks City Should Have an "Anti-Bunk" Mayor—Outlines His Platform.

A declaration that subways in the future should be made self-supporting and that deficits should no longer be saddled on the taxpayers was made yesterday by William M. Bennett, candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor, in a statement of his platform.

Mr. Bennett asserted that there was $15,000,000 in this year's city budget to make up the transit deficit caused by carrying passengers at less than cost, and that the total subway deficit that the city had had to raise by taxation, aside from the cost of subway construction, now amounted to $100,000,000. He declared against municipal operation and asserted that new subways should be leased to operating companies and operated on a profitable basis. His statement follows:

Says He Represents the Thrifty.

"I should be nominated and elected Mayor because this city, in its present financial condition, needs as Mayor one who believes in the governmental policies of Coolidge and Dawes, rather than those of Hearst, Hylan and Smith. All the other candidates have issued platforms promising everything imaginable, without counting the cost. One candidate has even promised to give up his right arm under certain contingencies. When all the other candidates are vociferating socialistic doctrines there is need for a conservative candidate.

"With a gross city debt of nearly two billions, constituting a first mortgage on all real estate, and a tax rate approximating the net income from improved property, it is time that a Mayor representing the thrifty and industrious should be elected. During the past eight years an administration representing only the thriftless and self-indulgent has been in control.

"I am a candidate because all the other anti-Hylan candidates are trying to out-Hylan Hylan, which would mean the re-election of Hylan, as it did four years ago. The adoption for the past eight years by the Republican leaders of this policy of trying to out-Hylan Hylan is responsible for the present minority position of the Republican Party in this city. There is no room for two Hearst-Hylan-Smith parties in Greater New York. Running as 'anti-bunk' candidates, Coolidge and Dawes received 689,000 votes in this city, as against 130,000 votes for La Follette, and carried the Greater City over John W. Davis.

"Honesty and economy in government. No promises of free ice, free coal, free concerts, free excursions, free nurses, nor anything else free at the expense of the property owner and rent payer, except to those who are physically or mentally infirm or as a matter of charity to dependents.

"The Government owes the people nothing but protection to life and property and the efficient and economical performance of certain functions that can best be carried on by the people generally rather than by the people individually.

His Transportation Views.

"One of these is better transportation service, but not at the expense of the property owner and rent payer. The companies now operating should be compelled to live up to their contracts and the city should be compelled to live up to its contracts to give them additional lines and connections. New independent lines, when built, to be leased to operating companies to be operated on a profitable basis, the city to get interest and amortization on its investment.

"Fifteen million dollars will go this year into the city budget to be raised by taxation to make up the transit deficit caused by carrying people, including at least 500,000 non-residents daily, at less than cost. This is nearly fifteen points in the tax levy, and $15 each year to be paid by the home owner or tenant in an ordinary house or anartment. The total deficit which the city has had to raise by taxation since the adoption of the dual subway contracts now amounts to more than $100,000,000. My opponents, who are so blithely promising everything, do not seem to have considered the transit situation from the standpoint of the city.

BROWNSVILLE BUSES WILL RUN TOMORROW

Celebration Is Held, at Which Mayor Hylan Makes a Speech Attacking Tammany.

Ceremonies celebrating the resumption of the Brownsville bus service were held yesterday afternoon. Several buses were driven over the route to permit officials to inspect them. Among the passengers were Mayor John F. Hylan, Borough President Joseph A. Guider and several Aldermen. The buses were under the direction of Hyman Shorenstein.

Many of the streets were decorated. At Stone and Pitkin Avenues there was a bandstand from which the Mayor made a speech attacking Tammany and the traction interests.

"Since the death of Charles F. Murphy the traction interests have made connections with Fourteenth Street," he said. "Over in the financial district they feel that they have the divine right to exploit the people and extort money from them, but they haven't been getting away with it altogether, I've seen to that."

The Mayor also asserted that if he had not been obstructed he would have had bus lines running in every part of the city, and reiterated his assertions that he had cleaned the city of liquor, gambling and immorality. His speech was applauded.

The Brownsville service will reopen for the public tomorrow. It takes the place of the service that was discontinued two years ago following an injunction. Eighteen buses will operate between the I. R. T. station at Eastern Parkway and Utica Avenue and Sutter Avenue. The line will be operated by the Eastern Parkway, Brownsville and East New York Transit Relief Association at a five-cent fare.

He urged passage of the $300,000,000 bond issue to remove grade crossings as a step toward conservation of life and limb and as a great aid in industrial development. Under the present disorganized system, he said, only 10 per cent. of the grade crossings had been eliminated in twenty-seven years.

He assailed the assertion of Republican opponents that the State proposed to give part of this money to the railroads, maintaining that the money would be in the nature of loans, and that the ultimate cost of crossing removal, so far as the taxpayer was concerned, would be only $75,000,000.

Labor Tribute to Gompers.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP).—The memory of Samuel Gompers was honored today by the New York State Federation of Labor at the outset of its sixty-second annual convention here. From a flower-banked platform, in the centre of which rested a black-draped photograph of the former President of the American Federation of Labor, Matthew Woll, Vice President of the American Federation of Labor, voiced the regret of the labor world at the passing of its leader.

The convention was urged by President James P. Holland, in his report, to give serious attention to the unemployment situation in the State. The situation had come to a point, he asserted, where "American standards of life and living are in danger," and where "the handiest remedy for a great part of this disemployment is a sane use of the power of our purchasing public."

Blame for unemployment through sale of foreign manufactured goods was laid by Mr. Holland at the door of the Dawes plan of reparation payments by Germany to other foreign nations, which constituted, he said, "a plan devised and supervised by international bankers and brokers whose only product is a profit-derived cash." "Foreign goods and prison manufactures can be driven off the markets and home-made products can take their place if Americans will only resolve to purchase American-made goods, manufactured by free American workers at fair wages," he said.

In considering the legislative program of labor for 1926 he suggested as a nucleus ratification of the child labor movement, enactment of a forty-eight-hour week for women workers, substitution of an exclusive State insurance fund for all other forms of industrial insurance, definite decision on proposals to prohibit issuance of court injunctions in labor disputes under certain conditions and settlement of the park deadlock.

Regarding the park controversy he said that the 1925 Legislature at its regular session "sought to defeat the popularizing of parks by passing an enabling act that tied the hands of the park commissions and State Park Council on the selection of sites and locations." At the special session, he said, "the Legislature responded by passing the same objectionable bill that permitted multimillionaire fox-hunting clubs by appeals to the Land Board to veto the selection of park sites near congested districts that might interfere with fox hunting or other out and in-door indulgences of the idle rich."

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 26 (AP).—Governor Smith returned to Albany tonight. He announced that he planned to go to New York Thursday to begin an active campaign for the nomination of Senator Walker, but he may start tomorrow night if his desk can be cleared.

DENIES BOND ISSUE REPORT.

Wadsworth Says Coolidge Has Not Favored Federal Proposal.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 25.—Denial of a report that President Coolidge at Swampscott last week favored a Federal bond issue for public improvements similar to the one supported by Governor Smith and opposed by the State Republican organization was made today by Senator Wadsworth, who stopped here last night on his way from Swampscott to his home at Mount Morris.

"The Federal Government has never borrowed one penny for such purposes," he said, "or even for the construction of battleships and I can't see any reason why it should start now. Nor can I see any indication that Congress would approve such a proposal."

Senator Wadsworth indicated that he would make several campaign speeches against a State bond issue.

Information from Swampscott that President Coolidge would favor a permanent improvement Federal bond issue proposal had been regarded in Democratic circles as supporting Governor Smith's plan.

CROSSINGS HEARING HELD.

Hewitt, Republican Foe of Bond Issue, Calls Roads Lukewarm.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 25.—The legislative Grade Crossings Committee today heard representatives of railroads that will be required to eliminate grade crossings in case the $300,000,000 bond issue is approved at the November election.

The railroads represented were the Erie, by R. L. Turner; Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville, by William J. Mader and Judson Zimmer; Lehigh & New England, by W. P. Dennis; New York, Chicago & St. Louis, by S. D. Parvey, and the Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern, by E. N. Thompson.

At the end of the hearing Senator Hewitt said that the majority of the railroads probably never would ask the State for a cent, but would finance the work themselves

"They do not care much about it, apparently," said the Senator.

SOMERS AND WALSH TO SUPPORT WALKER

cessful candidates, even though I differ with them on Hearst."

"It is what I expected," was the comment of Mr. Rendt on Senator Walsh's letter. "Walsh is in the law office of Bertram G. Eadie, counsel for the Staten Island Edison Company and the Richmond Light and Railroad Company and the Chairman of the Tiernan campaign committee."

Mr. Rendt also referred to the fact that Senator Walsh, as counsel for some Italian owners, recently succeeded in having a bus line at New Dorp declared illegal. "Senator Walsh and I disagree on some things," Mr. Rendt added. "I favor buses at a 5-cent fare. Evidently he does not."

"I shall vote for Senator Walker," said Mr. Somers, when asked his position in the primary contest. "As I observe the feeling in my district, there are a large number of persons who are going to support the Mayor because of their friendship for Mr. McCooey and for no other reason.

"The general talk that you hear around Brooklyn would indicate that there will be a big vote in this borough for Walker. There is a feeling that eight years is enough to enable a man to carry out a constructive program, and if this has not been done it is time for a change."

Joseph Bulger for Walker.

John J. Curtin, Tammany Brooklyn manager, announced that Joseph Bulger, President of the regular Fifteenth Assembly District Democratic organization club, of which Register James A. McQuade is leader, had declared for the Walker-Berry-McKee ticket. Mr. Bulger is also Vice President of the Sterling Cobweb Club, a Greenpoint social organization with a large membership.

Harry T. Rogers, for twenty years Corresponding Secretary of the Twelfth District Democratic Club, announced for the Tammany ticket. "I am for Senator Walker," he said. "It is too early to say how the organization as a whole is going to line up. There is no doubt that there is an enormously strong sentiment in the district against Hylan."

The Young Men's Democratic Club of this district, which declared for Senator Walker on Monday, has received many offers of support in its fight against Mayor Hylan, Joseph B. Carrick, its President said. Despite these defections, Joseph Saunders, Secretary of the Twelfth District Democratic Club, insisted that the organization was "regular" and was supporting Mayor Hylan as the choice of Mr. McCooey.

Governor Smith is expected to reach here tonight from Albany and, with Senator Walker, will open the Brooklyn campaign with a speech at Prospect Hall tomorrow night. The Governor and Senator Walker will speak in Queens on Friday night and in Richmond on Saturday night.

In his speech in Queens the Governor is expected to make an attempt to learn whether Borough President Maurice E. Connolly, candidate for re-election and supporter of Mayor Hylan, agrees with the Mayor in the latter's opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment for the elimination of grade crossings by the issue of $300,000,000 of State bonds to pay for the State's quarter share and to finance the railroads and the communities for their share of the cost, the money loaned by the State to be repaid with interest.

Will Stress Dangers in Queens.

LAWSON BEQUESTS TOTAL $4,775,000

$2,505,000 Goes to Public Benevolences—Relatives and Associates Included in Will.

NEWSPAPER TO CONTINUE

Bank as Trustee Says Daily News Management and Policies Will Be Retained.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Practically three-quarters of the entire estate of the late Victor F. Lawson is bequeathed in his will to benevolent purposes. Bequests total $4,775,000, of which $2,505,000 goes to benevolent purposes. Three-quarters of the residuary estate goes in equal parts to three agencies—the Chicago Congregational Missionary and Extension Society, which in addition receives a bequest of $1,300,000; the Chicago Theological Seminary, which has also a bequest of $100,000, and the Young Men's Christian Association of Chicago, which has a bequest of $100,000. The remaining one-quarter of the residuary estate goes to the decedent's brother, Iver N. Lawson, who also receives a bequest of $200,000 and the income from a trust fund of $300,000. Thus he is the chief individual beneficiary under the will.

Other relatives receive substantial bequests. Melville E. Stone, Mr. Lawson's former partner in The Daily News, is given $200,000, and many long-time employes of Mr. Lawson's newspaper are also beneficiaries. One of these employes, Miss Wilhelmena Werner, for many years Mr. Lawson's secretary, for whom the will set aside a trust fund of $60,000, has died since the will was drawn. The Illinois Merchants Trust Company is made executor and trustee of the estate. John J. Mitchell, President of the trustee bank, said today:

To Continue Newspaper Operation.

"The Daily News is a great property that through many years was built up by Victor Lawson in accordance with policies definitely outlined, policies expertly calculated to be beneficial to the city, State and the nation, physically, intellectually and morally. During the many years of his active life Mr. Lawson systematically distributed a very large share of the profits of his newspaper to good causes. Now, in entire accord with his lifelong custom, his will provides with admirable directness and simplicity for the distribution of about three-quarters of the fortune of which he died possessed, including the immense value of his newspaper, for carefully selected benevolent purposes. In order that those values may be conserved and the greatest possible amount of good may come from the eminently worthy plans of the decedent, it is essential that The Daily News be conducted henceforth in full accord with the policies which have made it great and profitable.

"This being manifestly true, it follows that the management provided by Mr. Lawson, the management trained in his methods and in tune with his purposes, should continue in charge of the newspaper. It is a corporation guided by the surviving members of its duly elected board of directors. The late chief of the organization is dead, but the organization that worked under his guidance remains intact, and will go on functioning in full strength."

Brother Receives $200,000.

After designating the disposition of his newspaper property, Mr. Lawson's will names the following beneficiaries, beginning with the sixth clause of the will:

I give and bequeath to the several legatees hereinafter named the respective amounts set opposite their several names, viz.:

To my brother, Iver Norman Lawson, $200,000.
To my brother-in-law, William Harrison Bradley, $25,000.
To George W. Lewis, $20,000.
To Alice Bradley Sampson of Andrew, Iowa, $25,000.
To each of my Chicago household employes not specifically named herein, including part-time employes, $500.
To Jessie Bradley of Evanston, $10,000.
To my friend and former partner in business, Melville E. Stone, $200,000.
To Agnes F. Bradley, widow of Luther D. Bradley, $25,000.
To William Ilig, $5,000.
To George H. Baker, $5,000.
To Henry Oosterman, $5,000.
To William G. Griesemer, $5,000.
To Kate A. Daly, $5,000.
To Lillian G. Engel, $5,000.

Many Institutions Remembered.

To the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, 124 East Twenty-eighth Street, New York City, $100,000.
To the Young Men's Christian Association of Chicago, $100,000.
To the Young Women's Christian Association of Chicago, $100,000.
To the Children's Memorial Hospital of Chicago, $100,000.
To the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, $50,000.
To the Northfield, Conn., Schools, founded by Dwight L. Moody, $50,000.
To the Pacific Garden Mission of Chicago, $20,000.
To the Glenwood Manual Training School, $100,000.
To the Art Institute of Chicago, $100,000.
To the Chicago Orchestral Association, $100,000.
To the Chicago Nursery and Half Orphan Asylum, $50,000.
To the Northland College of Ashland, Wis., $25,000.
To the American Bible Society, $10,000.
To the American Sunday School Union, $10,000.
To the Chicago Tract Society, $10,000.
To Berea College of Berea, Ky., $25,000.
To the Chicago Commons, $100,000.
To Wheaton College of Wheaton, Ill., $25,000.
To Yankton College of Yankton, S. D., $25,000.
To Chicago Theological Seminary (Congregational), $100,000.

In addition to the trust fund of $60,000 for Miss Werner, a similar fund is created for Harriet M. Dewey, cashier of The Daily News for forty-nine years, and the following employes of The Daily News are also among the beneficiaries:

Hopewell L. Rogers, assistant to Mr. Lawson, $50,000; Charles H. Dennis, managing editor, $50,000; James Langland, editor of The Daily News Almanac, $50,000; Walter A. Strong, business manager, $50,000; Edward Price Bell, foreign correspondent, $25,000; Andrew B. Adair, superintendent of the mechanical department, $25,000; John B. Woodward, advertising manager, $25,000; Irving Stone, superintendent of the press room, $10,000; Henry Justin Smith, former news editor and now assistant to the President of the University of Chicago, $10,000.

Residue Goes to Religious Work.

The concluding clauses of the will are as follows:

"I give and bequeathe to my brother, Iver Norman Lawson, all the personal property, of every kind and nature, used in or about, or in connection with, either my residence in Chicago or my farm in Wisconsin, excepting farming machinery and implements, including household furnishings, works of art, horses, carriages and automobiles.

"All the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, of every kind and nature which shall remain after the payment and satisfaction in full of all gifts and legacies given by the previous articles of this will, I direct to be divided into four equal parts, two of which equal parts shall be turned over conveyed and paid to the Merchants Loan and Trust Company, as trustee, to be held in trust as one such equal part to be added to and form a part of the trust fund held by it under the provisions of this will for the Chicago Congregational Missionary and Extension Society; and one of such equal parts to be added to and form a part of the trust fund held by it under the provisions of this will for my brother, Iver Norman Lawson. I give, devise and bequeath one-fourth of said residue to the Chicago Theological Seminary of Chicago. The remaining one-fourth of said residue, I give, devise and bequeath to the Young Men's Christian Association of Chicago."

Man Feigns Heart Attack and Foils Hold-Up; Robbers, Once Balked, Succeed in Second Theft

Dramatic acting by the manager of a chain grocery store foiled a hold-up by two robbers, who later executed another successfully in Newark yesterday.

The man who played actor was John B. Netschert, manager of an Atlantic & Pacific grocery store at 110 Littleton Avenue. Shortly before 8 o'clock he and John Passara, a clerk, were in the store when one of the robbers entered. At the command of "Throw 'em up!" Passara obeyed, but Netschert hesitated. The bandit poked his pistol against the manager's ribs.

As Netschert felt the weapon he pretended the excitement had brought on an attack of heart trouble. Holding his hand over his heart he shouted, "Oh, my heart! Oh, my heart!" At the same time he began to stumble around the store until he reached a rear door. He then ran out in search of a policeman.

By this time the robber, who had been baited by his victim's acting, was out of the store. A block away he met a companion. Both men jumped into a waiting automobile and drove off.

Fifteen minutes later the same robbers, judging from their descriptions, entered the Mutual grocery store at 172 Leslie Street. This time they walked boldly into the store and demanded the receipts. When Joseph G. Fejes, the manager, showed no signs of complying they became angry and threatened to kill him. He immediately handed over $69. The robbers escaped in an automobile.

FRENCH TROOPS QUIT LAST RUHR CITIES

Midnight Rejoicings in Duisburg and Duesseldorf as Occupation Ends.

HAD LASTED FOUR YEARS

No Demonstration as Soldiers Depart—Special Celebration to Be Held Sunday.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Tonight at midnight the church bells will ring and whistles blow for a quarter of an hour, while a torchlight procession in carnival array will dance through the streets of Duisberg and Düsseldorf celebrating the end of four and a half years of occupation by foreign troops.

Early this morning the last troops crossed the Rhine, leaving behind only a small detachment of civilians of the International Shipping Commission. The final withdrawal of the occupation troops from the sanction cities was completed without the slightest clashes between the citizens and soldiers. The Mayors had ordered that the citizens must not take cognizance of the departure of the troops, and, following these orders to the letter, only a handful of Germans with expressionless faces witnessed the ceremonies of taking down the Tricolor from headquarters while the band played the "Marseillaise."

Since the occupation officially ends at midnight tonight the Mayors ordered all ceremonies postponed until then, though the entire right bank of the Rhine in the Ruhr was free from troops. Tomorrow all the public buildings will be beflagged, while Sunday has been set aside as a special fête day.

"The victory of right over might" is the way a number of Berlin papers see the re-establishment of freedom of the Ruhr.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—With the strains of the "Marseillaise" echoing from the square in the centre of Düsseldorf, where the French army corps headquarters had been situated for four years, the tricolor was lowered today. Then dragoons led the way to the Rhine Bridge where all troops embarked for various destinations.

These were the last troops to be withdrawn from "Sanction Territory," occupied by the allies on account of various breaches of the Treaty of Versailles by Germany.

Meanwhile German schupos, or security police, awaited outside the city and tomorrow will enter fifteen hundred strong. Ordinary police kept order—although there were no attempts to disturb it—while the French left.

SOLICITOR BLESSING QUITS.

Postoffice Legal Head Is Succeeded by H. J. Donnelly, His Assistant.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The resignation of Edgar M. Blessing, Solicitor of the Post Office Department, effective Sept. 15, and the promotion of Horace J. Donnelly, Assistant Solicitor, to succeed him, were announced today by Postmaster General New.

Mr. Blessing, who came to the Department, Sept. 29, 1923, succeeding John H. Edwards, has resigned to resume the practice of law in Indiana.

Mr. Donnelly has served successively through fourteen grades of the Department. He entered the law branch through civil service examination in 1907, as a stenographer. This is the first instance since the establishment of the law Department in 1872 where an employee, rising through the grades, has reached the top.

Mr. Donnelly has been the Assistant Solicitor since 1921 and was the Acting Solicitor for a long period. During the time the Post Office Department waged its campaign against fraudulent oil stock promoters, which resulted in the issuance of fraud orders against hundreds of operators, the cases were heard by Mr. Donnelly. The case of Dr. Frederick A. Cook was one of them.

PHILLIPS INSISTS ON PLOT.

Says Man Tried to Creep Past Guard Last Night—Won't Appear in Court.

Max Phillips, collar manufacturer and polo player, who caused the arrest of three women and one man last week on the charge of conspiring to ruin his reputation, insisted yesterday that he was still the victim of plotters. He said that somebody attempted to creep past the guards around his estate outside of Red Bank, N. J., at 1 o'clock yesterday morning and that he had to run downstairs in his pajamas to help Mike Snyder, his chief bodyguard, to repel the invaders. Mike fired several shots and the intruders ran away, he declared.

Mr. Phillips said that he would not appear in the Washington Heights Court this morning as a witness in the case of Mrs. Margaret Campbell, alleged fortune teller, because he had been informed Mrs. Campbell was ill and could not appear. Previously Mr. Phillips had intimated that he would appear at the Campbell hearing and tell what the alleged conspiracy was all about.

WINS DAUGHTER'S CUSTODY.

Paul Gordon to Have the Child One Day Each Week.

Justice Walsh issued an order in the Supreme Court yesterday granting Paul Gordon of 201 West Seventy-ninth Street the custody of his five-year-old daughter, Evelyn Maxine Gordon, one day in each week. The child has been in the care of her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Reisburg. In his petition Gordon charged that his first wife's parents would not let him see Evelyn alone and were influencing the child against him. The motive for their action, he said, was dislike for the present Mrs. Gordon, who was a dancer.

The first Mrs. Gordon was killed in a fire on July 17, 1922. She jumped from a window in their home, 235 West 109th Street with the baby in her arms. She saved Evelyn but lost her own life.

INVENTOR HANGS HIMSELF.

Bay State Man Was Despondent When Flying Device Failed.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 25 (AP).—Alphonse J. Dube, 45 years of age, an inventor of a motorless flying machine which would not fly, committed suicide today by hanging himself in his garage during a fit of despondency caused by disappointment at the failure of his machine.

The apparatus consisted of a pair of wings which he tried to flap like those of a bird, and he tried many experiments by jumping off buildings.

The last time he jumped, a few years ago, he broke a leg, and gave up his flying attempts until he perfected his machine, which he was not able to do.

TELL WHERE THEY GOT RUM.

Prisoners Freed in Mount Vernon if They Inform the Police.

The prohibition enforcement methods of the Mount Vernon police were disclosed yesterday when Michael Schneider of Mount Vernon was arraigned before United States Commissioner Cotter, charged with hip-flask carrying. The policemen who arraigned Schneider presented an affidavit to Commissioner Cotter in which Schneider told where he had last replenished the flask.

"Are you making this affidavit voluntarily?" asked the Commissioner.

The Mount Vernon policeman replied for Schneider, saying the Chief of Police had directed that all men arrested for intoxication be questioned as to their source of supply.

"Do you make these men swear to affidavits while they are drunk?" asked the Commissioner.

"No," said the policeman, "we wait until they sober up. Then we tell them that they may go to jail or go free. They get their liberty if they tell us where they get the stuff."

Y. Maki Heads Japanese Party—Woman Descends Long's Precipice.

SEATTLE, Aug. 25 (AP).—After climbing Mount Alberta in the Canadian Rockies, Y. Maki, Japanese mountaineer, and five companions of the Japanese Alpine Club were here yesterday, on their way to Japan.

The Japanese were said to be the first to scale Mount Alberta. They were assisted by two Swiss guides. The climb was started July 20 and ended July 21. Sixteen hours were taken to reach the summit of the peak, which is 11,874 feet high. The descent was made in fourteen hours.

DENVER, Aug. 25 (AP).—For the first time in history a woman, Mrs. A. B. Edmonds of Chicago, descended the east face of Long's Peak, near here, yesterday. That portion of the noted mountain is a precipice of 2,700 feet, which is much easier to climb than to descend. Accompanied by two male guides, Mrs. Edmonds negotiated the descent in seven and one-half hours.

TAKES POISON BY MISTAKE.

City Fireman Swallows From Wrong Bottle in Dark and Dies.

Alexander Dickson, 34 years old, a city fireman attached to Engine Company 228, drank lysol, which he mistook for cough medicine, in the bathroom of his home at 659 Sixtieth Street, Brooklyn, early yesterday. He died soon afterward.

Dickson returned home from duty shortly after midnight. His wife and 3-year-old child were in bed asleep. He did not want to disturb them, so he did not turn on the light when he went into the bathroom for a dose of the cough medicine. When the liquid burned his throat he turned on the light, saw the poison label and shouted for his wife. Mrs. Dickson summoned an ambulance from Norwegian Hospital. Dr. Meath endeavored in vain to save Dickson's life.

MAN DIES IN CAVE-IN WITH RESCUE NEAR

Five Times Firemen Uncover Face of Victim, but Fail as Sand Banks Collapse.

PRIEST GIVES LAST RITES

Workman's Companion Saved From Fifteen-Foot Trench—No Shoring in Excavation.

Tony Ambrosio, 38 years old, of 225 Essex Street, Brooklyn, died last night in a cave-in of a fifteen-foot trench on Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn, after his employe, Raymond Gratziano, 29, of 85 Siegel Street, Brooklyn, was rescued by a score of firemen and policemen. Five separate times the firemen and policemen, working with picks and shovels, watched by hundreds of spectators who had seen a clergyman administer last rites to the trapped man, sought to extricate him from the shifting dirt and stones, once even having a rope ready to slip about his shoulders, and five times the earth slipped again, burying Ambrosio beneath it.

He and Gratziano were making a sewer connection for a new building on the west side of Fourth Avenue, between Third and Fourth Streets, and had been working in the trench all day. There was no shoring in the excavation, which was midway in the block, about six feet wide, twenty feet long and fifteen feet deep. The two men were almost ready to come up at 4:30 o'clock, when, without warning, the sandy soil of the pit gave way with a rattle of stones and buried them, leaving only Ambrosio's face exposed.

Persons watching the work on the building notified the police immediately as a crowd of pedestrians surged to the spot. Reserves from the Fifth Avenue Police Station arrived in a few minutes headed by Captain George Rauff, and a moment later firemen of Engine Company 239 and Truck Company 109 followed with Battalion Chief David Kidney in charge.

The policemen and firemen had to fight their way through the crowd to reach the trench. They found a man there already scooping handfuls of dirt and exposing presently the face of Gratziano. The man was William J. Bergen, a chauffeur, of 506 Sixth Street, Brooklyn. As soon as Gratziano was able to breathe Bergen leaped to where Ambrosio was buried and began scooping away dirt from about his head.

Dirt and Stones Felt Rescuers.

As the firemen and policemen descended into the trench with picks and shovels, a small avalanche of dirt and stones descended upon them, throwing down Clifford Evans, a fireman of Engine Company 239, cutting him on the head and face. He was relieved by another fireman and all, because Gratziano had been completely covered and because it was feared he was in the worse condition, began working first to release him.

They dug feverishly for forty minutes before they were able to slip a rope about his shoulders and drag him, unconscious, to the sidewalk.

Meanwhile someone had telephoned for an ambulance and a priest. Dr. Falkenberg of Methodist Episcopal Hospital arrived as Gratziano was laid on the sidewalk. Then came Father James J. Collins of St. Thomas Aquinas Church. Together they revived Gratziano. He was apparently unhurt and was sent home.

The firemen and policemen were working carefully now about Ambrosio, fearing another slide of the dirt and gravel. Ambrosio was moaning with pain, and imploring for help although evidently expiring.

One of the firemen called to Father Collins.

"He's going!" he cried, and the priest, helped by other firemen and policemen, descended to the dying man on a plank and administered the last rites of the church.

As the clergyman spoke a second slide of the earth since the rescuers' arrival fell on the imprisoned man, dirt and stones flying against Father Collins.

The man's head fell limply to one side and the earth, slipping again, covered it.

Uncover Victim's Head Repeatedly.

The firemen and policemen now began tunneling around the sides of the trench, feeling it was the safest way to approach the man and hoping the porous nature of the soil would permit sufficient air to get through to permit Ambrosio to live.

Once more they got his head uncovered. His eyelids fluttered. He seemed alive, and the firemen and policemen redoubled their efforts. This time they got the dirt from about his shoulders and a fireman was slipping a rope about them when again the earth lifted, covering the man another time.

Father Collins had waited in the trench, hoping he could be of help, but now the firemen, despairing of bringing up Ambrosio alive, asked him to leave. He went, shaking his head, and again the firemen and policemen started digging.

Once more they got Ambrosio's face uncovered, and again the earth covered it.

At 7:30 o'clock, three hours after Ambrosio was caught in the cave-in, his body was brought to the sidewalk. He had been dead for nearly two hours.

While the rescue work was being carried on the crowd about the excavation was increased by hundreds of persons from near-by streets as homegoers came from the subway and elevated stations of the neighborhood. All the reserves from the Fifth Avenue Station were called to keep back the curious and traffic on Fourth Avenue, the main traffic artery of the district, was diverted to Third and Fifth Avenues.

Assistant District Attorney Leo J. Healy began an investigation of the case immediately. He questioned Gratziano and ordered the police to get other witnesses.

Ambrosio was said to have sub-leased the work from a plumbing contractor who undertook the work after an agreement with Irving Feinschel of 1,477 Carroll Street, who is erecting the new building at the spot where the cave-in occurred.

CONVICTED OF TICKET FRAUD

Brooklyn Men Used Name of Non-Existent Body for Dance Sales.

Matthew Franz, 40 years old, of 96 Columbia Street, Brooklyn, and Charles Mange, 39, of 284 Humboldt Street, Brooklyn, were found guilty in Special Sessions Court, Jamaica, of attempting to sell tickets for a dance of a "pretended benevolent, humane and charitable organization which has no existence." They were remanded for one week for sentence.

According to William P. Schlicht, a merchant, of 490 Second Avenue, Long Island City, the men, both employed by a private detective agency in Brooklyn, tried to sell him tickets for a policemen's dance to be held under the "Active Protective Bureau." Franz's uniform aroused the merchant's suspicion and he notified the police.

Detective Dale made the arrests. The defendants declared they had not tried to sell tickets to a dance, but were trying to get new business for their employer.

Daily Style Hint For Well-Dressed New Yorkers

NEW YORK, August 26—What are the fashionable touches of the new lounge suits for autumn? The broad, long-roll; peaked lapels and the high, squarish shoulders. These help to "set one up", as the Englishman laconically puts it, giving you the compact-and-erect military look of the man who keeps his figure in top trim, instead of letting it slump and slouch. Exclusive, but not expensive.

ELECTION DISRUPTS MEXICAN CABINET

Secretary of Interior Resigns When Calles Backs Labor Candidate in Disputed Vote.

FOUR CLAIM GOVERNORSHIP

Other Officials, Including Ramon Ross, Are Expected to Follow Valenzuela Into Retirement.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—The first split in the Calles Cabinet occurred today and caused great surprise in political circles. The resignation of Gilberto Valenzuela, Secretary of the Interior and chief of the Cabinet, came out of a clear sky. Valenzuela was regarded as a strong Calles supporter and the leading Conservative in the Cabinet.

Differences over the election of a Governor of the State of Mexico caused Valenzuela's resignation. There were four candidates—Liberal, Conservative, Agrarian and Labor. All of them claimed the election, and feeling grew so strong in Toluca, capital of the State, that Federal forces were ordered to remain in barracks. Each candidate established his own Legislature, sending reports to the President of his election.

Secretary Valenzuela, under whose direction the election was held, felt that the election should be declared void, as he had evidence of many attempts at fraud. President Calles differed with the Secretary, backing the Labor candidate, Riva Palacios, who is holding his State Legislature in the City of Toluca.

After a conference with the President, Minister Valenzuela returned to his office and sent in his resignation, saying:

"My conversation with you this morning has convinced me that there exists a substantial difference of opinion between us in regard to the decision taken in the election in the State of Mexico. As your opinion is openly in conflict with my convictions and with my conscience, I consider that the question is of transcendental importance to the interior politics of the nation, and in accordance with our democratic practices I beg to tender by resignation from the office of Secretary of the Interior, which you were good enough to place in my charge. I thank you sincerely for the confidence you have placed in me while occupying the Secretaryship in question, and take the opportunity of assuring you of my distinguished consideration."

It is stated that other resignations of minor officials will follow, among them Under Secretary Michel, Chief of Police Barcenas and the Governor of the Federal district, Ramon Ross. These rumors are unconfirmed.

Colonel Tejeda Appointed.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25 (AP).—President Calles today accepted the resignation of Señor Valenzuela and appointed Colonel Adalberto Tejeda, at present Minister of Communications, to succeed to the Ministry of Interior. Under Secretary of Communications Eduardo Ortiz will be in temporary charge of the Communications Department.

CHICAGO IN WATER CRISIS.

Mayor Acts for Meters After Getting Ultimatum From Government.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP). — A special meeting of the City Council for next Tuesday was called by Mayor Dever today to take action on the ordinance providing installation of water meters demanded by the War Department to curtail Chicago's wasteful use of water taken from Lake Michigan.

The call for a special meeting was caused by the ultimatum issued by Major Rufus Putnam, United States District Engineer, that unless action is taken the Government permit under which the withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan is authorized would be revoked Sept. 3.

The crisis was brought about today at a conference between Major Putnam, Mayor Dever and E. J. Kelly, President of the Sanitary District. Major Putnam returned from Washington today, where he had been in conference with officials of the War Department regarding the Chicago water question.

Withdrawal of the permit would cut the water supply to the original 4,167 cubic feet per second, which would be insufficient, it is said, to carry off Chicago's sewage.

The metering ordinance when presented at the last session of the Council was opposed and laid aside for the Summer.

SHOTS FROM TAXI HIT TWO.

Cab With Four Gunmen Vanishes After Chase on the Bowery.

Eldridge Street was crowded last night when, suddenly, four men in a passing taxicab began firing at some one in front of 176. The crowd fled into doorways, but two persons fell, wounded, as the taxicab disappeared.

The wounded persons were Arthur Gisler of 61 East Third Street, who was shot in the right arm and right thigh, and Solomon Markell of 9 Rivington Street, who had two wounds in his right arm.

Patrolman Harry Young of the Clinton Street Police Station followed the taxicab in a commandeered automobile, but lost it at the Bowery and Third Street.

A few minutes later, Daniel Ryan, a taxicab chauffeur, of 68 Norfolk Street, told the traffic policeman at the Bowery and Delancey Street that four men whom he had picked up as fares at Grand and Christie Streets had suddenly opened fire on Eldridge Street. He said they forced him to continue to the Bowery and Third Street and had got out there.

HOUGHTON FIGURES IN DEBT DISCUSSION

and M. Caillaux's offer of £10,000,000. There was a sudden meeting between M. Caillaux and the American Ambassador and the clouds appear to have lifted."

The Morning Post also repeats the report that the upshot of the present debt negotiations may be "A sort of Anglo-Franco-American conference."

Commenting further on Mr. Houghton's talk with M. Caillaux, The Morning Post says:

"Mr. Churchill has naturally been most persistent in trying to find a solution which could bridge the gulf of difference of nearly £10,000,000 a year between the French offer and the British request. The Chancellor was further hampered by the fact that if he gave in too much to France America might later succeed in making a considerably more advantageous arrangement with France than we had ourselves.

"M. Caillaux was fully aware of this fact and it appears that he decided to see Mr. Houghton with a view to discussing this point of view. Thus it is now generally supposed that Mr. Churchill and M. Caillaux will reach a preliminary tentative agreement, but that this agreement will be subject to an Anglo-American conference, either unofficially this week through the agency of the American Ambassador or later.

"The suggestion of a moratorium which was mentioned earlier in the debates appears to have been discarded now that America has stepped into the breach."

Caillaux Calls on Bankers.

Much interest was aroused here by a visit M. Caillaux made this morning to downtown London, where he conferred with many financial notables, including Reginald McKenna, formerly Chancellor of the Exchequer and now Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Midland Bank. He also conferred with Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England.

This is taken by some to mean that M. Caillaux hopes to obtain loans for France from the British financial strongholds. Others, however, declare he merely effected a sort of reconnoissance in the City in order to get, through talks with the best equipped British financiers, a good idea of the general situation as Britons view it.

In French circles today it was said that Mr. Churchill had brought down the British demand to £14,000,000 which is within £4,000,000 of the French offer last month (£10,000,000 annually).

M. Caillaux is understood to have told Mr. Churchill that France might increase her offer to £12,000,000—half in sterling and half in gold marks to be derived from Germany through the Dawes plan. This would mean that only a matter of £2,000,000 keeps Britain and France from agreement. The British are still reluctant to accept part payment from proceeds of the Dawes plan, since they deem these too uncertain.

It was said today in French circles close to M. Caillaux that Britain had distinctly told the latter that if she finally agreed to accept £14,000,000 yearly from France in settlement of the latter's debt to her this sum would have to be paid by French in sterling, regardless of receipts from the Dawes plan.

Visitor Talks to Correspondents.

It was quite apparent today that M. Caillaux had had a difficult ordeal not unmixed with a certain degree of disappointment. When he entered the same reception room at the French Embassy wherein he received the correspondents last evening his smile, though friendly, was that of a tired man and his manner lacked the buoyancy of last night. He spoke in English after the correspondents had assured him his English was perfect. Visibly pleased with the compliment M. Caillaux said:

"Well, gentlemen, I have had a busy day. I saw Mr. Montagu Norman, Director of the Bank of England. I lunched with the American Ambassador, Mr. Houghton, and had a long chat with him. I had a long talk with Mr. McKenna of the Midland Bank.

"This evening I had a twenty-minute chat with Mr. Churchill again. We continued our efforts to reconcile our viewpoints. This debt question is a difficult thing, you know. Before a settlement can be signed the experts must work out the details."

M. Caillaux's trip today to the City—London's Wall Street—is said in French official circles to have been due to his anxiety to arrange credits to facilitate payment of the French commercial debt to Britain. This debt is entirely separate from the war debt, and the Bank of France, acting for the French Government, agreed with the Bank of England last year to pay the debt in yearly instalments until 1930.

It is said that Montagu Norman declared British financial interests would be willing to extend to France the desired credits if and when France settled the question of her war debt to England.

Steck Gains Six Votes in Iowa.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—Daniel F. Steck, the Democratic contestant, made a net gain of six votes today in the recount in the Iowa Senatorial contest through tabulation of the votes in Pottawattamie, Sioux and Tama Counties and addition of the vote in Hayes precinct, Hamilton County, and Webster precinct, Hamilton County. This brings his net gain to date to 803 as computed after correction of clerical errors and by counting here of the votes not counted in the State.

HEAR HINDENBURG MET RUPPRECHT SECRETLY

Berlin Papers Say President Visited Bavarian Ex-Crown Prince at Mountain Castle on Aug. 18.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—According Munich dispatches to two Berlin papers, President Von Hindenburg met former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria several days ago at Koenigsee, which is in the Bavarian mountains not far from Dietramsell where the President is spending his vacation.

For unexplained reasons the meeting was kept secret and the Bavarian authorities at Munich professed to know nothing about it.

The Vossische Zeitung says Herr Von Hindenburg paid a visit to Rupprecht at Castle Hohenburg, near Koenigsee, the former Crown Prince's summer residence on Aug. 18.

GIRL DIES OF POISON.

Miss Marion Pickard, 22 years old, of 168 West Ninety-sixth Street, died in Harlem Hospital last night from a large dose of lysol which she drank in mistake for listerine. She was enrolled for Summer study at Columbia University and was also studying nursing.

Her cousin, Mrs. George Rowan, with whom she lived, said that the young woman came home about 6 o'clock in the evening and a short time later fell to the floor of the bathroom moaning with pain. Mrs. Rowan said the young woman told her she did not want to die and gave her directions for making an antitode. The girl grew steadily worse and died an hour after she was taken to the hospital.

TRANSFER MEN TALK OF ENDING BUSINESS

sylvania and there was no tieup at all in the baggage sent to New York. It went out about as fast as it was received.

Henry Hawthorne, chief baggage agent at the Pennsylvania Station, said that the strikers have two great obstacles to overcome. One is that their strike had caused the public to handle their own baggage by means of taxicabs, and they found that it was not expensive and the trunks arrived at the same time they did. The other is that if the strikers should win the transfer companies would have to raise their rates, which would make a still greater differential in favor of the taxicabs.

The taxicabs charge 20 cents for transporting a trunk, while the transfer companies charge $1. The transfer companies have found by experience that raising or lowering their rates does not greatly influence their business at the present time, and with taxicabs bidding for it they seemed bound to lose.

A few special policemen were added to the forces at railroad terminals, but they had nothing to do, and the presence of extra city policemen was unnecessary. The strikers were orderly and did not attempt to interfere with the transfer of baggage by other routes.

The Edison of the National Greek Line was delayed several hours in sailing yesterday from pier 5, Bush Stores, Brooklyn, for Piraeus through the strike of the baggage handlers. Most of the 586 passengers came from out of town and there was considerable time lost in waiting for the trunks to get to the pier.

Officials of the Cunard Line said that a good deal of the baggage belonging to the passengers leaving at 10 A. M. today on the Berengaria for Cherbourg and Southampton, had arrived at the pier.

At the White Star Line offices it was said that no trouble was expected in handling the baggage for the Olympic, due to arrive this forenoon.

NEW DEADLOCK DIMS HOPE OF CONFERENCE

John H. Uhl of the Citizens Committee had proposed that the mine workers resume negotiations with the operators without conditions if the employers were willing to meet under the same circumstances. The miners' chief spoke practically without notes and consulted memoranda only when he quoted wages, cost of living figures and earnings of the operators.

Mr. Uhl declared that in case of a suspension anthracite users would be compelled to use oil, coke and other substitutes. He said that the tremendous advertising given to the use of substitutes in the newspapers would influence thousands and that if they turned away from hard coal it would affect every resident of the anthracite producing territory. He predicted that in the end a suspension would defeat its purpose and would lessen the demand for anthracite in the future. Millions of tons that otherwise would be mined would remain in the ground, he declared.

Pleads Against a Suspension.

"In the interest of the public in the anthracite field—and that term includes every mine worker and his family—we respectfully urge you to start negotiations anew, provided the operators will do the same."

He added that an agreement fair to all concerned should be reached with the least possible delay. "In the meantime let us have no suspension," he pleaded.

"The operators have agreed to meet us tomorrow in Wilkes-Barre, when we propose to present to them a statement similar to the one submitted to you today," Mr. Uhl continued. "We propose to ask them if they will resume negotiations with you promptly without conditions, provided you are willing to meet them under the same circumstances.

"Impelled by the tremendous public interest in our movement as 'reflected' in the press and as expressed by the sentiment in our communities as we sense it, may we have your assurance that you will meet the operators, provided they signify their willingness to meet you?"

Mr. Lewis rose and said he was glad to be able to make known to a committee from the anthracite region and the public certain facts concerning the dispute, and said he was convinced that the questions at issue were not fully understood by the public.

After saying that the mine workers had entered the Atlantic City negotiations seven weeks prior to the expiration of the contract with the demands adopted by the tri-district convention in June, Mr. Lewis said he was surprised when Samuel D. Warriner, Chairman of the anthracite operators' committee, took the position on July 9 that under no circumstances would the operators agree to any of the demands that called for additional cost, and "as an added rivet to bind together that proposal he suggested a wage reduction."

He asserted that Mr. Warriner removed any thought of genuine wage negotiations by saying at the beginning that the operators stood for arbitration of all points, "which to the mine workers meant that the operators would agree to nothing and would force matters to arbitration, knowing that the worst they could hope for was the retention of the status quo." No matter if any of the demands meant safer working conditions for the mine workers, the operators were adamant in their opposition to anything that would add a penny to the cost of production, he said.

Mr. Lewis could hardly blame the public, he said, for believing that higher wages meant increased cost of coal in the bins. Their experience with coal sellers had taught them that, he added, but he scouted the implication "that because the operators are evil we should not ask for a wage increase."

He charged the operators with juggling figures and concealing costs, and said that if they were bankrupt they should not object to an examination of their books.

Asserts Profits Are Enormous.

Discussing the financial status of the operators, Mr. Lewis said that last year the Lehigh Valley and Coxe Brothers Company obtained a reduction of $4,500,000 in tax assessments and made profits of $3,500,000. The company made profits of $5,831,000, or 137 per cent. on its investment, in 1921, he added. In 1923 its profits were $4,495,000, and it paid dividends in the same year to the Lehigh Valley Railroad of $3,253,000, as well as $2,300,000 profits to its sales company.

"If the alleged segregation of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company is being used as a cover to deflate the book earnings of the coal company the public and the miners are entitled to know it," he went on to say. "Samuel D. Warriner, who is President of this company, says he is not able to pay a living wage. The profits of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company were $1,500,000 in 1922, $3,500,000 in 1923 and $2,500,000 in 1924."

Figures of the United States Coal Commission, Mr. Lewis said, indicated that the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company in 1921 earned 38.2 per cent. on its investment, that its profit of 1923 was $11,678,000 or 51.2 per cent. on its investment, and that its profit in 1924 was $7,182,000 or 31.5 per cent. on its investment. In the last two years the company has declared dividends of $15,292,000, according to the figures given by Mr. Lewis. In April, 1924, a stock dividend of 200 per cent. was paid and in January, 1925, an extra dividend of $3 a share was "handed out to the impoverished stockholders."

Tells of Advance by Shares.

"The Glen Alden Company's stock climbed from a high of 50 in 1921 to a high of 130 in 1924," the miners' chief continued. "Its income in 1923 was $9,411,000 or an earning of 100 per cent. on its investment. On Dec. 10, 1924, Mr. Anglis, who has been prominent in putting forth the claims of the destitute operators, told the stockholders that the business for that year should be the best since 1921. Wall Street estimates the 1925 earnings will be the same as 1923, the big profit year.

"The D. L. and W. Coal Company, the sales agent of the Glen Alden Company, has, as Governor Pinchot pointed out in 1923, averaged 50 per cent. profit a year in the last six years.

"Officials of the Delaware and Hudson Coal Company, the sales agent for the Hudson Coal Company, refused to explain to the United States Coal Commission three sums on its books aggregating $30,220,802, or enough to pay the wages of the anthracite mine workers for one year.

"Through transfers and wash sales in the coal industry, as in the railroad business, investment figures are inflated and purely imaginary values are set up for the purpose of concealing profits and making it appear that the companies cannot pay decent wages.

"We have had arbitration with the anthracite operators, and we know how they arbitrate. In my letter to Mr. Warriner I spoke more plainly on that subject than I care to speak today. Mr. Warriner and his associate operators know what I mean and they also know that the anthracite workers are not going to arbitrate in the year 1925. Their only reason for insisting on it day by day and from time to time is because it may prejudice the minds of some against the mine workers.

"Where is the anthracite coal operator who will agree that the amount he shall make on his investment shall be arbitrated by three men on the street? Where is the anthracite operator who will say that the price at which he shall sell his coal f. o. b. the mine shall be arbitrated by some committee of distinguished men? No; that would be interference with business, and the operators are on record, with other leaders of industry and finance, as being against interference with business. There is no merchant in the anthracite fields, no business man or professional man, who is willing that the mine workers shall arrange what price he shall get for his meat, his sack of flour, his rent, his house, his automobile, his suit of clothes or his professional services.

"No, that is not in accord with our national concept of what is right. We as a nation are committed to the theory of the unrestricted right of a man to sell his commodity in the best market available to him. Just because some one may not like the price we ask for our labor is no reason why he should ask us to accept a proposal that he would inherently refuse in his own business, namely, arbitration.

"If it is true that we must arbitrate the price of our labor and the condition of our employment and the safety of our bodies, then by the same token we should carry that principle to the point where everything else of importance to the mine workers should likewise be arbitrated.

"Arbitration in the present instance does not offer any solution of this controversy. The operators offered it in the first place to vitiate the possibility of successful wage negotiations. We are not convinced that they are not deliberately playing, following a prescribed policy that is designed to bring about a suspension in the industry. We believe they want a suspension for substantial commercial reasons, that they want time to dispose of accumulated stocks of steam sizes at enhanced prices, and we believe it is a successful commercial proposition for them to bring about a suspension.

"We want an agreement. We want nothing else. Is there any one within the sound of my voice who believes the miners like to strike? Is there any one who believes that the mine workers would rather remain idle than to work and provide for themselves and their families? We would like to make an agreement to avoid a suspension on agreement to avoid a suspension on Sept. 1, but we will not make an agreement with the anthracite operators so long as they deliberately and arbitrarily set up barriers that prevent negotiation."

Rates of pay for mine workers, Mr. Lewis declared, compared unfavorably with the pay of mechanics in other lines, such as bricklayers and printers. Last year 538 men were killed in the hard coal mines, he said.

The cost of living, he asserted, was still rising. Anthracite workers and their families paid more for their food, rent and other necessaries in proportion to the rest of the population. Their clothing cost between 25 and 50 per cent. higher than prices in New York.

COOLIDGE FOR SUBSTITUTES.

Agrees With Policy of Governor Fuller in Event of Coal Strike.

Special to The New York Times.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 25.—President Coolidge is in sympathy with the efforts of Governor Fuller of Massachusetts to educate the coal consuming public to use substitutes for hard coal, it was learned today. He also agrees with the statement by John Hays Hammond that the public can get along comfortably if need be without hard coal. The Federal Government, it was pointed out, would do everything possible to see that sufficient fuel was supplied in the event of a strike. The President did not indicate, however, what policy would be pursued by the Government to accomplish this, or to settle the strike if one occurs on Sept. 1.

There is every indication that the President will be back in Washington early in September in time to consult with the Government officials who will take the initiative in any movement to settle the troubles between the operators and miners.

C. W. Barron, publisher of The Wall Street Journal and head of the Boston News Bureau, conferred with President Coolidge today and gave his views upon several financial questions. He said upon leaving White Court that Wall Street would like to see a coal strike because the large surpluses now available throughout the country would tend to make a strike unsuccessful and would lead the public to find other fuel. A strike now, in his opinion, would be disastrous both to the operators and hard coal miners. Anthracite, he said, was a luxury coal used principally in New England, and he declared this section of the country should learn to use substitutes.

The miners, in his opinion, will be foolish if they declare a strike, because they will be playing into the hands of their competitors and the mines will lose their business to the gas, electric, oil, waterpower and soft coal industries. He declared that the prices of both anthracite and bituminous coal already were too high.

MORE WORK IN BANNING MINE.

Pittsburgh Coal Officials Pleased—Deny Importation of Labor.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 25.—Well pleased with the progress made in their first attempt to reopen the mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in the Pittsburgh district officials of the company announced today that 110 workmen had entered the Banning No. 2 Mine at Whitsett Junction, near Fayette City, this morning. The mine was opened under the 1917 wage scale last Thursday, when only thirty-six men reported for work. Eighty-nine men reported for work yesterday.

Officials of the coal company this morning emphatically denied reports of union leaders that the men at work in the mine were imported from other districts. It was stated that every man now employed in the Banninng Mine was a former employe of the company.

Reiterating previous statements, P. T. Fagan, President of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, today declared that no coal was being mined at Banning No. 2, that no union men were working there and that no additional imported men had entered the mine today.

According to President Fagan's statement yesterday there were twenty-six men working in the mine. His information, it is stated, comes from union pickets who have been on guard about the Banning pit since the mines resumed operations.

GERMANY AGREES TO SECURITY PARLEY

Expectation Is That It Will Be Held in Lausanne Before End of September.

EXPERTS PREPARE GROUND

Juridical Authorities Will Meet, Probably in London, Within Next Two Weeks.

By LINCOLN EYRE.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—The Luther Cabinet today accepted the French note as a basis upon which an international conference for the creation of a European security compact may be called together.

As the result of a second conversation this evening between Foreign Minister Stresemann and Ambassador de Margerie it has been decided tentatively to have a preliminary discussion, probably within a fortnight, between German and allied juridical experts, after which plenipotentiaries of the powers concerned will meet formally. The meeting place has not been fixed, but Lausanne is considered the likeliest spot.

The chief immediate obstacle to this conference is a disagreement as to whether its participants shall be the Premiers and Foreign Ministers or only the Foreign Ministers of the conferring States. M. Painlevé and Mr. Baldwin prefer to leave the business to their respective Foreign Ministers, M. Briand and Mr. Chamberlain, but Chancellor Luther is frankly desirous of participating personally in a conclave so important to his Government and the country, although Dr. Stresemann is understood to feel no need of his chief's presence. Settlement of this vexatious problem was left open in today's talk between Dr. Stresemann and the French Ambassador.

The necessity for a juridical survey of the situation is generally agreed upon. The jurists must consider to what extent Article 16 of the League of Nations Covenant must be taken into account in formulating the security compact and how new guarantee treaties can be formulated to escape a conflict with existing instruments, first and foremost the Treaty of Versailles. France proposes that the authorities on international law shall foregather in London as soon as possible to study these questions.

At both Wilhelmstrasse and the French Embassy hopes are expressed that the general conference may be held before the end of September.

Chancellor Luther seems to have the bulk of German political opinion behind him in his demand, which, of course, is not publicly voiced for collaboration by the heads of the Governments in decisive deliberations. German Parliamentary practice makes him directly responsible for the Reich's foreign policy, and with the Nationalists already extremely restive about the whole security proposition, the Chancellor is averse to leaving so grave an issue entirely to subordinate hands.

PARIS, Aug. 25 (AP).—Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany has asked the French Ambassador, M. de Margerie, to go over with him the entire text of the French reply to Germany's latest rejoinder on the security question, official circles here are advised.

The Foreign Minister's knowledge of the French language, while sound and extensive, is said not to be sufficient to solve all the intricacies of French diplomatic style, in which delicate shades of language might be variously interpreted. Dr. Stresemann expressed himself as satisfied with the French original, but when the German translation was submitted to him by his assistants, he decided some of the points needed further elucidation verbally from the French Ambassador. Consequently he invited him to call at the Wilhelmstrasse this afternoon.

The French have agreed to publication of the note Thursday morning instead of Friday as originally intended.

LUSITANIA'S DESTROYER BLOWN UP BY DANES

German U-20 Was Abandoned Off the Jutland Coast in 1916.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 25 (AP).—Another act of the World War drama ended today at Vellby Beach, on the West Jutland coast, when the German submarine U-20, credited with the destruction of the Lusitania, torpedoed and sunk off the Irish coast on May 7, 1915, with a loss of 1,206 lives, was blown up by order of the Danish Admiralty.

Explosives to the amount of nearly a ton were used in destroying the submarine, whose conning tower had been sticking out of the water since November, 1916. A hail of broken metal was thrown over a wide area.

The end of the U-20 recalls the days of Germany's ruthless submarine warfare, which culminated in the entry of the United States into the World War in April, 1917. One hundred and forty-two Americans perished in the sinking of the Lusitania.

The U-20 grounded off the Jutland coast on Nov. 4, 1916, in a fog. The boat was abandoned by her crew after attempts to destroy her with explosives failed.

The German Admiralty in 1918 admitted the death of the commander of the U-20, who had ordered the firing of the torpedo against the Lusitania. He was Lieut. Commander Schweiger.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The fund started by The London Times for the preservation of St. Paul's Cathedral has just passed the £250,000 mark. This is nearly double what the dean and the chapter asked for last January.

Within a fortnight that was subscribed, but ever since a slow but steady stream of subscriptions has been received, literally from the ends of the earth. The London Times points out that some of the latest checks received from Yukon, Ballaral and Geelong were from people who have never seen and probably never will see the cathedral itself, but who recognize that its name and fame and condition are a common possession.

M'CARL'S CRITICS TO GO TO CONGRESS

Washington Departments Will Seek to Curb Storm Centre of Government Economy.

CONTROLLER ENTRENCHED

Law Gives Him 15-Year Tenure of Office and President Is Without Power of Removal.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Angered by the refusal of Controller General J. Raymond McCarl to authorize certain departmental and individual expenses, influences in Washington are now planning to try to have the Controller shorn of some of his broad powers when Congress meets next Winter.

The manner in which Mr. McCarl has administered his office has gained him a host of enemies, backed by an even larger army of critics. Many persons here believe he has been conscientious to the last degree, others declare he has been unwarrantedly arbitrary. But no matter how one feels toward Mr. McCarl, there is no disguising the fact that he is a storm centre and that those affected by his sweeping decisions are now ready to seek their revenge.

Even now it is said pressure is being brought to bear on members of Congress to change the parts of the budget law which bestowed such extraordinary power on the office of the Controller. How much influence this pressure will exert is a question to be determined only when Congress meets, but it may be said that as economy is the watchword of both the Congress and the Administration, Mr. McCarl is in good position, for his work appears to be purely along the line of preventing useless expenditures.

Job Is Considered a Jewel.

Mr. McCarl's job is undoubtedly one of the great jewels in the possession of the Government. Although he is constantly under fire from departments and individuals he has antagonized, he is in office for fifteen years at $10,000 annually, and he may be removed only by a joint resolution of Congress when he has become incapacitated, inefficient, guilty of neglect, malfeasance, felony or conduct involving moral turpitude, "and for no other cause and in no other manner except by impeachment."

The President cannot oust Mr. McCarl from office, only Congress can do it. Woodrow Wilson vetoed a former budget bill on this very ground, holding that if Congress gave him the right to name a Controller General it would be unconstitutional to deprive him of the power to displace him. But the Congress which came into being with President Harding did not agree with this contention and passed the present budget bill, leaving the Controller, in the language of the street, "sitting pretty."

Powers reposed in the Controller General are broad indeed. The law states that balances certified by him "shall be final and conclusive upon the executive branch of the Government," which, translated into lay language, means that if the Controller is not satisfied with how a department spends money he can curtail the expenditures at his wish. He exercises all the strength of the former Controller of the Treasury and a great deal more.

Law Gives McCarl Full Control.

The law goes so far as to give him complete control over all claims by the Government or against it. Through budget law he is specifically directed to report to Congress "every expenditure or contract made by any department or establishment in any year in violation of law."

He is empowered to be a critic of all departments by reporting upon "adequacy and effectiveness of the administrative examination of accounts and claims." Every department is required to throw open its books to him.

Mr. McCarl, the present Controller—and the first one under the law—was rewarded with his office, many persons think, for the diligent work he did in promoting the campaigns for Republican candidates for the House in 1918 and 1920.

That Congress clearly realized the great authority it was reposing in the Controller was demonstrated by the debates when the budget bill was passed. In the forefront of those begging for this power Representative Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, who told the House the independence of the Controller was the backbone of the budget system.

Those interested in the attack on Mr. McCarl have been combing The Congressional Record and have now, they say, discovered an utterance of Dr. Fess which will come back to plague him since Mr. McCarl has acted with such independence. This particular expression by Dr. Fess was: "The growth here in Washington of bureaucratic control is ominous."

Officer Is Not Mere Bookkeeper.

A demand that the President should be unable to remove the Controller was made by the author of the budget bill, and the man who worked hardest for it, James W. Good, former Chairman of the Appropriations Committee. He, too, insisted that the Controller must be able to appear before the Congressional Appropriations Committee to explain where waste or lack of efficiency occurred in any instance; that when the committee from the budget or from the President's staff should appear they must be "confronted with the Controller backed by Congress."

Citing that his State of Massachusetts had a "censoring officer," Representative Luce remarked: "We do not mean this man to be a mere bookkeeper, cashier, or accountant, but we mean him to be our will, eyes, and ears to study, determine and enforce economy." Representative Byrns of Tennessee, one of the strongest Democrats of the House made an ultimatum that the Controller be regarded to all intents and purposes as an officer of Congress and responsible alone to it. Even John N. Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat of the Ways and Means Committee, took this attitude, predicting that if a man with courage were selected, he would be the "second largest man in the executive department."

Expressions such as these and the added fact that the budget bill passed the House by a vote of 335 to 3 would indicate that Mr. McCarl will not be greatly affected by the contemplated attacks. However, his conduct in office may have displeased members of Congress, either personally or through their constituents, enough to persuade them some change in the law is necessary.

SLASH NAVAL COSTS TO SUIT THE BUDGET

ATLANTIC YARDS ARE HIT

Shore Establishments Likely to Be Closed, New Construction Minimized and Other Cuts Made.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Confronted with the problem of lopping off more than $50,000,000 from the original estimates submitted to the Budget Bureau, naval officials, after weeks of conferences, have finally worked out a revised estimate to meet the "economy" demand.

At a conference today departmental officials again went over the controversial points of the revised estimates sent the budget after the paring process and made a number of modifications. Much of the discussion is understood to have centred on the aviation figures.

With expenses pared to what is said to be the limit, the current appropriations have been barely sufficient to maintain the navy at its present subtreaty strength and the reduction has been made possible only by a proposed curtailment of naval activities, which includes closing several shore establishments on the East coast, a slashing of funds required for new construction, cutting of aviation estimates and activities and a general trimming along the line.

Approximately $310,000,000 is the total which the rigorous paring of the budget leaves for the coming year, as against a total of $323,000,000 for the current year. In view of the fact that the operation and maintenance of the present navy, which is below treaty strength, requires about $300,000,000 a year to maintain readiness of material and personnel, the margin of $10,000,000 is said to be slim for public works and new construction.

Last year's bill for these two items carried slightly more money than this, and in addition Congress made an appropriation of $80,000,000 for the modernization of five of the older battleships, for the completion of the aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington, and to begin construction of two of the eight 10,000-ton cruisers and of six river gunboats authorized last December.

In March appropriations were made available for starting work on a small part of this program.

Some Reductions Impossible.

This year $47,000,000 is needed for the annual expenditure to carry this work on; $33,000,000 in round numbers was recommended for maintaining and increasing the activities for naval aviation; the present enlisted strength of 86,000 men must be maintained if the ships in commission are to be operated; cost of paying retired officers and men, salaries for personnel, pay for sixteen and twenty year men transferred to the Reserve Corps, pay of the Nurses Corps and other items are all fixed charges that permit of no cutting in the interests of economy. Facing this situation, naval officials felt that the only solution of the problem lay in curtailment of some part of the navy's activities. Withdrawal of the naval forces from European waters, from Central American waters and even a curtailment of the Asiatic fleet were among the drastic was found practical.

The navy submitted a revised estimate that provided for the closing of the Boston Navy Yard, the Charleston Navy Yard, the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, the supply base in South Brooklyn and other minor shore activities.

Considerable resentment is felt in naval circles that this recommendation was looked upon as a "political feint." It is declared to have been only a bona fide effort to meet the demands of the budget and in harmony with the basic findings of the Rodman board after study of the shore establishment situation in the navy.

Against Aviation Cuts.

With the transfer to the Pacific of the major portion of the naval activities, due to the permanent location of the battle fleet there, naval officials are a unit in believing that the navy is top-heavy with shore activities on the Atlantic Coast. It is realized that such a move will meet with bitter political opposition and that it would face defeat in Congress.

Believing, however, that these shore activities can be dispensed with without serious damage to the service Secretary Wilbur and his advisers are urging this action. Closing of the air station at Lakehurst has also been suggested.

Every effort is being made to avoid heavy cuts in the amounts requested for aviation. Approximately $14,000,000 is the minimum requirement for the Bureau of Aeronautics for actual maintaining and operating its flying strength. The rest of the $33,000,000 is needed for replacements, new construction and for experimental and development work to keep the navy abreast of other powers in the air.

While official figures and comment on the naval estimates are lacking, it is understood that the President, while seeking a reduction in naval as well as other Government expenditures, has no desire to hamper the development of the first line of defense and wants whatever funds are essential to provide for its necessary increase made available, but feels that further savings can be effected in the current cost of operating and maintaining the existing navy.

Idlehour Listed Again for Sale to Pay Tax; Bourne and Maude Adams Estates in Arrears

Special to The New York Times.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Aug. 25.—Idlehour, the Suffolk County estate left by the late William K. Vanderbilt to Harold S. Vanderbilt, was among the properties listed today as liable to sale for non-payment of taxes. The estate includes a mansion and about 500 acres and has once before been entered in the annual tax sale. Mr. Vanderbilt, however, settled the taxes and the estate was withdrawn.

The amount of taxes due on Idlehour is $17,039.99, which includes the cost of advertising the property as scheduled for public sale by County Treasurer Scudder at the Riverhead Court House on Oct. 5. Several years ago Mr. Vanderbilt sold the estate to a syndicate headed by Israel Putnam, Manhattan banker. At that time the sale price was understood to have been about $450,000, of which $390,000 was on mortgage. The syndicate planned to develop an exclusive country club, but the plans went amiss.

The property returned to Mr. Vanderbilt by virtue of foreclosure. Several weeks ago it was sold at foreclosure to a group of Detroit business men. Owing to a technicality this sale was set aside on Saturday by a decision of Supreme Court Justice Carswell, who ordered the property resold.

Eight parcels of land which comprised part of the estate of Commodore Frederick G. Bourne are in the sale. They include Indian Hall, near the Vanderbilt holdings at Oakdale. A total of 1,176 acres is in the Bourne land and the taxes due amount to $7,151.63. Only four-sevenths of the land, however, can be sold at the tax sale. This, it was explained, is due to the fact that three of the seven Bourne heirs have paid their share of the tax due. The land is tied up in litigation among the heirs. It was predicted here that Idlehour and the Bourne properties would be withdrawn from the sale through settlement of the tax claims.

Twenty-seven acres at Lake Ronkonkoma owned by Maude Adams, the actress, are in the tax list. The amount due is $218.69. Other Suffolk County properties listed as in arrears include Southward Ho Club at Islip, $7,980.75; the Annie Tinker estate at Setauket, $1,073.54, and the estate of the late Rear Admiral George Watson Sumner at Patchogue, $1,075.01. An opportunity for some one to buy a water works will be provided at the sale unless the Ocean Beach Water Company, near Bay Shore, pays $227.07 which is owed to the county.

TWO DROWN AT MARGATE.

Swimmers Are Swept Out by Strong Current and Die Before Aid Comes.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 25.—Hugh J. Nealis, 52 years old, real estateoperator of Twelfth and Christian Streets and residing at 49 Marlborough Road, Philadelphia, and Richard D. Seirson, 30, of 1,701 Morningside Avenue, Pittsburgh, employed in the directory bureau of the Bell Telephone Company, Pittsburgh, were drowned off Washington Avenue, Margate City, below this resort, late this afternoon. They became exhausted while trying to reach shore when strong currents and a sorm swept them from the breaker line while they were bathing. Volunteers and a lifeguard tried to rescue them, but reached them too late.

Nealis and Seirson put on bathing suits and went for a swim before going fishing at the Margate Club pier. An offshore current swept them several hundred feet out.

James Mason, a guard, rowed to the spot, dived and, after several attempts, brought up the bodies.

RENEW POLITICAL FEUD.

Special to The New York Times.

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 25.—The long-standing political quarrel between Mayor Robert J. Talbot and Director of Revenue and Finance Harry Hosford, broke out afresh today at a meeting of the Board of City Commissioners when the Mayor brought up the subject of a proposed investigation of the water mains in the city. Although the resolution for the investigation was introduced a year ago by Director Hosford himself, the latter refused to discuss the matter and referred instead to the "Mayor's booze" and his "friends."

After mutual accusations of bootlegging activities, Mayor Talbot invited the director to search his house. "You won't find a drop of loquir," he added.

All of which brought a counter-invitation of the same nature, and the meeting adjourned.

THOMPSONS RECONCILED.

Wife Who Ran Off Will Keep Shop While Husband Is Away.

Mrs. Isabelle de Puy Thompson, 22-year-old wife of George Alanson Tracy Thompson, who left him in a pique on Aug. 10 because he failed to come home for dinner, has become reconciled to her husband, it was learned yesterday. Former County Judge William R. Bayes, counsel for Mrs. Thompson's family, confirmed the news last night. He said they would continue to live at their home in New Gardens.

Mrs. Thompson left her young baby with an aunt, Miss Lillian de Puy of Amityville, L. I., when she disappeared. She was absent a week and on her return said she had been with friends in Nova Scotia. She went then to her mother, Mrs. Sarah de Puy Gildersleeve, of Freeport and said she would see her lawyer and "would decide what she wanted to do" after talking with him.

Mr. Thompson sought to effect a reconciliation on the day of her arrival. The differences between them, he said, were only temperamental, and he felt sure they would be adjusted. His wife, he also said, was upset because he was going away on Sept. 15 to teach.

Mr. Thompson, who is 25 years old, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of 162 East Sixty-first Street. He was married to Miss Gildersleeve in 1922 when he was teaching European history at Columbia University. In addition to his teaching he conducts a bookshop at 2,210 Broadway, and his wife, it was said, would keep the shop while he is away.

Detective Hurt Stopping Runaway.

Special to The New York Times.

IRVINGTON, N. J., Aug. 25.—Detective Graef of the Irvington police force was severely injured today when he halted a runaway milk wagon, crouched under the seat of which was six-year-old Hortense Kalb of 92 Welland Avenue. Joseph Stehlia, the driver of the wagon, had gone into a house to collect a bill when the girl climbed aboard the wagon. This frightened the horse, who started running. Graef clutched the reins, fell, and was dragged for some distance, but he stopped the runaway.

POWERS IN ACCORD ON REPLY TO CHINA

Agree on Scope of Customs Conference in Note Soon to Be Delivered.

OUR ACCEPTANCE IS SENT

Divergence on Tariff Autonomy Believed Likely to Be Reconciled by New Phrasing.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The treaty powers are now in harmony respecting their reply to the Chinese notes of last June asking for a general revision of the so-called "unequal treaties," and it is expected that the reply will be delivered to the Peking Government soon.

While an agreement has been reached as to the principles of the note, there remain some minor questions of form and phraseology, which are being left to the members of the diplomatic corps at Peking, acting on instructions from their Governments.

It is understood that the note will not touch on the question of the Shanghai riots, that being left to the Peking diplomatic corps and to be answered in a later communication. The note is expected to cover the question of the scope of the Customs Conference, to be held in Peking on Oct. 26, and also will set forth the views of the powers on the convening of the commission to investigate the question of extraterritoriality.

The Washington Government today instructed Minister John Van A. MacMurray to transmit its acceptance of China's invitation to attend the Customs Conference to the Provisional Government at Peking. The American delegates will be Mr. MacMurray and Silas D. Strawn of Chicago.

The Chinese Government has formally served notice on the powers that they are expected to bring up at the Customs Conference the question of tariff autonomy. This conference was called by China in accordance with Article Eleven of the treaty between the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, China, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and Portugal, signed in Washington Feb. 6, 1922.

Positions of the Governments.

The position of the United States Government, which is understood to be set forth in the American reply to the Chinese notes of last June, is that this country is ready to consider the questions of the conventional tariff treaties and tariff autonomy, and favors the immediate appointment of members of the commission to investigate extraterritoriality.

The attitude of the American Government is one of sympathy for the aspirations of China to rid herself of unequal treaties, though it feels the need of assurances from China that foreign lives and property will be amply protected.

The British Government, though fully convinced that the scope of the Customs Conference will be considerably broadened, is understood to have found itself unable to concur entirely with the original draft of the American note, on the ground that it was too lenient and did not insist strongly enough upon the protection of foreign interests.

The Japanese Government is understood to have objected strongly to the use of the phrase "tariff autonomy." The French and Italian Governments, it is understood, were inclined to the view that the position of the United States was too lenient and that of Great Britain too severe, and to adopt a middle course more in line with that of Japan.

These differences are now understood to have been satisfactorily ironed out, as to principle at least, and it is expected that some other phraseology than "tariff autonomy" will be used to cover the same idea.

Whether a single note, signed by the entire diplomatic corps at Peking, will be sent to the Chinese Government, or whether separate notes identic as to fundamentals, but each perhaps containing in addition some elaboration of the particular country's views, will be transmitted, remains to be decided by the diplomatic corps in Peking.

British Acceptance Transmitted.

LONDON, Aug. 25 (AP).—The British Government has accepted China's invitation to participate in the Special Customs Conference provided for by the Nine-Power treaty negotiated at Washington.

Hongkong British Ask Blockade.

HONGKONG, Aug. 25 (AP).—Indignant because of the open hostility displayed by Chinese officials toward the British, residents of Hongkong today adopted resolutions at a mass meeting urging the complete naval blockade of Canton and neighboring cities because of flagrant deliberate violations of treaties by the Chinese. The resolutions were addressed and cabled to the British Prime Minister at London.

The resolutions urged the British Government to send an ultimatum to the Canton authorities demanding that Canton be restored to the status of an open treaty port, that all Bolsheviks be expelled from Canton, that the Whampoa College cadets be disbanded and that the boycott on British goods be ended.

Hold 3 in Shanghai Arms Plot.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25 (AP).—The French police today seized arms and ammunition valued at $46,000, which they believe was smuggled into the country by an international trio of former high army officers and officials. The shipment was intended for hostile Chinese and was to be paid for with counterfeit coin.

Those under arrest are booked as: Colonel James Christie, British Army, retired; Brig. Gen. Charles Krausch, alias Charles A. Nelson, American; E. Chaperon, French; Otto Christ, former German customs officer, and a Chinese reported to be Secretary General Wong Tsen-hua, in whose possession the police discovered $40,000 including a quantity of counterfeit money.

The American, French and British mixed courts will hear the cases.

Chinese Would Be Howard Hostage.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Aug. 25 (AP).—A Chinese military officer has offered himself as a hostage for Dr. Harvey J. Howard, the American who was captured some time ago by bandits in Manchuria, and is proceeding to the bandit camp.

Samuel Sokobin, the American Consul, has returned to Mukden from the vicinity of the camp. He expresses the belief that Dr. Howard will remain with the bandits until the ransom is paid. Food, clothes and provisions have been sent to Dr. Howard.

Rumbert Posar, an Austrian, who has lived for twenty years in Manchuria, and two of his Chinese employes have been captured while descending the river near Kochi-Pao, fifty miles from Harbin in junks.

COOLIDGE TO HONOR FLIER.

Will Present Schiff Memorial Trophy to Lieutenant Thomas Today.

Special to The New York Times.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 25.—President Coolidge will award tomorrow the Herbert Schiff Memorial Trophy to Lieutenant Reginald D. Thomas of the navy for the best airplane record of the year, based upon the greatest number of hours in the air without accident. The presentation will be made at White Court and will be attended by several navy fliers.

Lieutenant Thomas's time for the year was 583 hours and 43 minutes. His nearest competitor, Captain Harold D. Campbell of the marines, made a record of 494 hours and 58 minutes. Third place went to Lieutenant Vernon F. Grant of the Naval Air Station at Pensacola.

The trophy was presented to the navy by the family of a naval pilot who was killed in an accident while training at Pensacola.

100-Pound Watermelon Sent to Coolidge.

ONE BUTLER PLAN DROPPED.

Massachusetts Republicans Won't Form Irish-American Clubs.

Special to The New York Times.

SWAMPSCOTT, Aug. 25.—The plan of forming Irish-American Republican clubs to help Senator Butler in his campaign for re-election in 1926, announced a few days ago, has been dropped by Senator Butler's promoters of the scheme. It is said publication of the story aroused many prominent Republicans of Irish descent, who resented the attempt to group them under the hyphen. They notified party leaders that they objected to being exploited by professional politicians and desired to be known as Republicans, asking no special privileges.

The Republican State committee also opposed the plan, believing it would prove a two-edged sword. It would drive the Irish Democrats together for Welsh, it was thought, and would offend Republicans who might do Senator Butler more harm than good.

THAT FRESH FROM THE GARDEN TASTE

The fruits and vegetables used in the 57 Varieties grow in all parts of the world—wherever sun and soil combine to produce the best.

Nearby to these gardens and orchards are Heinz Kitchens, insuring that "fresh from the garden" flavor of every variety bearing the name Heinz.

Firm, sun-ripened tomatoes find themselves transformed into delicious Ketchup while their vine freshness is upon them. Rosy apples are pressed for cider vinegar while in their full tree-vigor and flavor. Pickles are salted while tender and garden-crisp.

And so with the rest of the 57—garden freshness and flavor distinguishing all.

Planted by Heinz, from seed developed by Heinz—grown under Heinz supervision—and then prepared in kitchens that are the pride of the whole world—is it any wonder that all of the 57 Varieties are so truly and uniformly good?

RUSSIA CULTIVATES JAPAN'S FRIENDSHIP

MIKADO'S AIRMEN FETED

Russians Now Proud to Be Classed as Asiatics, Officials Tell the Visitors.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Aug. 25.—The growth of friendship between Russia and Japan is undoubtedly the most striking development of Soviet Union foreign politics during the last few months.

Since 1923 it had become evident that Soviet diplomacy was turning from Europe toward Asia for various cogent reasons:

First—Failure of the European proletariat to follow the example of the Soviet revolution.

Second—Belief here—whether justified or not matters little—that the Western nations, especially England, were desirous to crush the slowly recovering Soviet Union by an economic boycott or even by force of arms.

Third—the awakening of nationalism of the Eastern peoples, China and India especially.

Fourth—The geographical situation of Russia and the economic importance of the Far Eastern markets.

A little over a year ago the Japanese Government seems to have realized that the Soviet Union might be a valuable friend in an otherwise not over friendly world. This was not the least important consequence of the Washington conference. The Russians, made wary by long-drawn and unsuccessful negotiations with Japan were at first slow to respond. For economic, and especially financial reasons they would, they said, have preferred a reprochement with the United States. Taught by the almost complete failure of Communist propaganda to make a dent in Japanese patriotism, they distrusted the Japanese advances.

Then they reflected that four years' experience of Japanese occupation of Vladivostok had shown the physical impossibility of the little brown islanders meeting the living conditions of the Siberian Winter.

"If Japan must find an outlet for her surplus population," they argued, "it cannot be on our territory. Europe will not listen to us and America holds aloof." So one gets the amazing word of welcome that M. Stalin, today the most powerful individual in the Soviet Union, gave to an interviewer from a great Japanese newspaper a few weeks ago, "I, too, am an Asiatic," and the statement yesterday at a semi-official banquet given to the Japanese Tokio-Paris fliers of a representative of the Soviet air fleet, M. Muklevich:

"In the old days when they wished to insult a Russian they called him an Asiatic. Today we are proud to be included among the countries on Asiatic soil."

No less significant was the speech of the Soviet Foreign Minister, M. Tchicherin:

"The flight of the Japanese airmen shows the road to other Eastern peoples. Hardly more than fifty years ago Japan was a backward country. This flight shows how highly Japanese culture has progressed. Japan long ago fought for freedom from capitulations and unfair treaties and was completely victorious. Thus, too, she shows the road to other peoples of the East."

Tchitcherin and other speakers, both Russian and Japanese, emphasized the importance of the first aerial connection between Russia and Japan as proof of the growing friendship of the two countries. It was announced that Soviet fliers would soon make a return visit to Tokio.

Auto Tourists Pour Into Canada.

TORONTO, Aug. 25 (AP).—Eight hundred thousand automobiles from the United States have entered Canada at Niagara Falls during June, July and August, according to an estimate here. The influx of American tourists into Canada is estimated to be 50 per cent. greater than last year, particularly at Windsor, Ont.

BULL BRINGS RECORD PRICE.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 25 (AP).—What cattlemen claim is a world record price for a shorthorn bull was paid yesterday at the annual cattle show. A prize-winning shorthorn bull named Faithful was knocked down for $60,000 to Bartolome Ginocchio.

It is asserted that the previous high mark paid for a bull was £10,500 in England, whereas Faithful fetched the equivalent of £12,000.

Foreign judges at the cattle show said that Faithful was the finest specimen they ever had seen anywhere. Faithful's father, when sold some time ago, brought $44,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—The world record price for a bull is $102,000, paid in the United States by the Carnation Farms Company for a Holstein. The previous record was $60,000, paid by two owners for Financial Sensation, the celebrated Jersey sire. Breeding experts say the Argentine price of $60,000 for a shorthorn is undoubtedly a record for that breed.

WIFE SHOT FOR SMILING.

Berlin Shopkeeper, Jealous of Customers, Then Kills Himself.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—The green-eyed monster of jealousy led a 73-year-old Berliner today to attempt to kill his wife, twenty years his junior, after which he committed suicide.

Though the wife bore the brunt of the labor in their wholesale grocery shop, the husband considered her over-pleasant to customers after announcing the present high prices.

This morning for the first time in many months the husband accompanied his wife to the store at the opening time and fired a shot at her, injuring her slightly, when she smiled at the first customer.

Maintaining a resolve to commit suicide even after the revolver failed to fire the first time, he repaired the revolver and fired the next shot into his temple, causing instant death.

FRENCH BEGIN DRIVE ON BRANES TRIBE

ALHUCEMAS ATTACK NEAR

French Troops Will Be Landed, Paris Hears—Spaniards Heavily Bombard the Coast.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Having had a few days' rest after reconquering the entire territory inhabited by the Tsoul tribes, the French Nineteenth Army Corps, commanded by General Boichut, today began a new offensive northeast of Taza to reconquer the Branes tribe. Several columns are operating between Bab Moroudj and Kifane.

The primary movement is an attack on Jebel Ameseef, a former French outpost four miles north of Bab Moroudj and three miles south of El Hadar River, one of the most important streams in the region. It is perched on a hill 1,383 meters high, dominating the neighboring summits with exceedingly steep slopes except toward the southeast and north. The plan will be naturally to surround the hill with wide sweeps of converging columns, and it will be a test of the Riffians' valor when in the position they repeatedly put French units in earlier in the war.

First reports indicate the operation is proceeding as planned, in spite of the extremely difficult country with forest growths and many enfilading ravines where ambushers may lurk.

According to unconfirmed rumors in political circles tonight, Marshal Petain will be Commander-in-Chief of all forthcoming operations in Morocco, and specifically the landing at Alhucemas Bay, which is said to be due to begin in the near future with the French and Spanish cooperating at sea while French troops alone are landed.

MELILLA, Spanish Morocco, Aug. 25 (AP).—The coast line of Alhucemas has been virtually leveled by the gunfire from Spanish warships which were rushed there after the long range bombardment of the island of Alhucemas by the rebels.

The cruiser Alfonso XIII, firing broadsides, put the enemy's guns out of commission and destroyed several rebel villages. A squadron of giant airplanes bombed Abd-el-Krim's headquarters at Ajdir.

TANGIER, Aug. 25 (AP).—Abd-el-Krim's brother is reported to be making preparations to lead a Riffian attack on the Ouzzan front, in the western part of the Moroccan war zone. His forces have been heavily reinforced, and Abd-el-Krim has instructed all the tribes in that region to hold themselves in readiness to lend assistance.

The Riffians are also organizing resistance to the Spaniards on the western part of the front, believing that Spanish forces are likely to advance along the Loukkos River and that other Spanish troops probably will attempt to make landings at various points along the coast.

Reports continue that many tribes are lukewarm in their support of Abd-el-Krim, believing that the Riffians cannot hold out long, and they are ready to abandon the rebel chieftain at his first big defeat.

Opium Cut Off From Macao Island.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Aug. 25.—At today's session of the League of Nations Opium Advisory Commission, Sir John Campbell, delegate for India, stated that his Government had decided not to renew arrangements to furnish the Portuguese and Persian Governments with opium. This means a large source of supply will be cut off from the island of Macao, near Hongkong, the centre of the opium trade in the Far East. The Portuguese Government leases or farms out free opium trading rights to Chinese traders for about $8,000,000 annually. Persia has exported scores of thousands of tons of opium to China from India and re-exported it as a native product. M. Bourgeois, representing France, told the opium commission that his Government in the near future would ratify the second opium convention.

CZECHS 'SEIZE' MARIENBAD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Aug. 25.—The fight which has been going on regarding the famous watering-place of Marienbad, Czechoslovakia, for some time came to a head when a Czechoslovakian commission from the Land Expropriation Bureau descended suddenly on Marienbad, establishing themselves, taking over management, seizing all available cash and closing the books.

All employes were immediately replaced by Czechs and orders posted up that henceforth only Czech would be spoken.

The celebrated wells with the adjoining real estate are the invaluable property of the Abbey of Tepl. Abbot Doctor Helmer has been carrying on a hard fight to retain the property, which was leased to a German-Bohemian corporation until lately. The Abbot was in court defending cases when the commission established itself without notifying the authorities.

This was only one more step in the fight against the Church on the one hand and against the German element in Czechoslovakia on the other.

Marienbad is noted for its curative springs and is visited by thousands of tourists annually.

DOG CAUSES CAR STRIKE.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—One of the most curious strikes on record occurred today, when sixty street-car employes went out at Leatherhead, near London, through the carrying of a dog by a passenger.

About a fortnight ago the street-car men passed a resolution that they would carry no more dogs on cars, although, as their routes ran through a country district, they had been doing so for years. A woman presented herself, accompanied by her dog, as passenger. The conductor refused to admit her to the car. She complained to the management, and the conductor, when expostulated with by the company, declared he was going to take his instructions from his fellow-employes, and not from the company. He was dismissed, with the result that all his mates stopped work today.

PALESTINE GREETS PLUMER.

New British High Commissioner Arrives in Jerusalem.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 25 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Field Marshal Baron Plumer, new British High Commissioner for Palestine, arrived here today and was received with impressive ceremonies.

High officials of the Palestine Administration, local notables and large crowds gathered at the station to greet Lord Plumer and his wife. Mayor Nashashibi delivered a speech in Arabic, to which the new High Commissioner responded. The speeches were translated for the benefit of the polyglot assemblage.

Lord Plumer was to take the oath under the Constitution of Palestine this afternoon.

WILL ISSUE VISAS FREE.

America and Germany to Conclude Reciprocal Treaty This Week.

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP).—A reciprocal agreement providing for abolition of all charges for the issuance of visas to the nationals of both countries will be concluded between the American and German Governments in the course of the present week.

Only aliens classified as emigrants will be excluded from the benefits of the new treaty, which it is expected will become effective Sept. 1, the negotiations between the American Ambassador and the German Foreign Office having progressed sufficiently to permit of formal conclusion of the agreement this week.

Vesuvius Is Again Active.

NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 25 (AP).—Mount Vesuvius has resumed extraordinary activity, the volcano erupting great quantities of ashes and lighting up the whole countryside at night. Authorities at the volcanic observatory, however, have expressed the opinion that no great danger is imminent.

"Bad Men" in Hiding.

Those Chinese whom the police had in the past listed as "bad men" appeared to have sought places of concealment or had fled from Chinatown. The police are satisfied, however, that these tongmen will return secretly to the district to wreak vengeance on enemies.

The impressions prevailed yesterday among the police and the respectable element of Chinese in the city that the death last week of Lee Hue Ying, a merchant at 15 Mott Street, had much to do with the renewal of the tong feud. Lee was President of the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association and the Chinese Chamber of Commerce. It was mainly through his efforts that the tong leaders on March 26 last signed the peace compact which ended the reign of terror among Chinese here in which many members of both tongs were killed or maimed by gunmen or hatchetmen.

Lee was buried on Monday with much pomp. Almost 100 automobiles, many of them containing members of both tongs, were in thee cortège.

Information which the local Chinatown detectives had received from Chinese informants in this city indicated that the moving spirit in the reopening of the tong warfare is Chin Jack Lem, now serving a prison term for the theft of more than $40,000 in funds of the Cleveland branch of the On Leong Tong. Chin joined the Hip Sings after he had been expelled from the On Leongs, which is the stronger of the tongs numerically. He brought all his gunmen into the Hip Sings, it was alleged at the time of his arrest, and through them had tried to prevent the signing of the tongs' peace agreement.

Detectives said they had been informed that some of the Cleveland gunmen had been frequent callers on Chin in the prison there and that last week on the morning of the death of the influential leader of the merchants in this city, he gave the order to the Hip Sings to open hostilities with their rivals in Boston.

Government officials came to the aid of the local police yesterday in an effort to put an end to the renewed tong warfare. It was said that an agreement had been reached that all Chinese proved to have been connected with shootings and killings in the tong feud or convicted of possessing dangerous weapons would be deported to China on the expiration of their prison terms.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP).—Squads of policemen invaded the Chinese quarter here tonight, made several arrests and seized firearms, as the aftermath of the tong warfare, in which one Chinese was slain here. The police attributed the outbreak in part to ill-feeling engendered by narcotic raids recently, when raided tongmen accused their rivals of giving information.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 25.—The long-expected tong war broke out in the heart of the Hill district this morning with the murder of Loo Gee, 54 years old, a member of the On Leong Tong, in his laundry at 82 Fullerton Street, by two unknown members of the Hip Sing Tong, police say.

Gee and his partner, N. G. Tum, were working in the laundry shortly after 8 o'clock when two Chinese gunmen, who, the police say, came from Cleveland, entered the shop and opened fire. Gee fell fatally injured. Tum dodged to cover and escaped the two bullets meant for him. Gee died in a hospital a short time later. The gunmen escaped.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25 (AP).—Long Choocy, member of the Hip Sing Tong was shot down and dangerously wounded here this morning. Long Choocy declared that the On Leong Tong had placed a price of $5,000 on his head because he had refused to pay tribute. He said he was the only remaining Hip Sing member in St. Louis since the slaying of Lem Geow here on Dec. 7. Four Chinese were arrested and Long Choocy identified them as his assailants.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 25 (AP).—The police here were ordered today to disarm all Chinese after the killing of a member of the On Leong Tong in his restaurant this morning. The Hip Sings are to hold a nation-wide gathering in Minneapolis in October and the disarming order was issued as a precautionary measure.

BOSTON FEARS NEW CLASH.

On Leong Leader Says Shooting Followed a Message From New York.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 25.—Police of Boston took extraordinary precautions tonight to prevent reprisals in the Chinese tong war which started here when two Chinese were shot down early yesterday. Evidence that the outbreak in Boston was part of an organized plan was seen in the assertion of an On Leong leader today that the shooting followed a telephone message from New York. He said that the Hip Sing Tong has been importing many men to Boston to wrest control from the On Leong tong of various shops and enterprises here.

Boston's Chinatown was calm tonight but extra police and plainclothes men were on duty in the district.

Several suspects who had been taken to the police station after the outbreak of the early morning were released later today.

The flat where Yee Hin and his 20-year-old American wife make their home was deserted tonight. Accompanied by a girl chum, Mrs. Yee drove away from her home in the afternoon in an expensive coupé which her husband recently gave her. Heedless of reports that Hip Sing members had threatened to shoot her, she drove about the district in the afternoon and visited her husband in the hospital.

PULLMAN PORTERS TO DEMAND PAY RISE

200 JOIN THE NEW BODY

Ask Better Working Conditions and Abolition of Present Plan of Representation.

A movement to organize Pullman porters took definite form last night with the organization of Locals 1 and 2 of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters at a meeting in Harlem. Two hundred porters joined the new organization, which hopes ultimately to enlist 2,000 others in the metropolitan district and 12,000 throughout the country.

More pay and better working conditions are demanded by the men as well as the abolition of the present plan of employe representation, which the porters say keeps the men under the power of the Pullman Company.

The principal demands of the men include a fifty per cent increase in pay, payment on the basis of 240 hours work a month, pay for overtime, and for so-called preparation work, or making cars ready for occupancy. They assert that they now get $67.50 a month to start with and that the maximum is less than $90 a month. Recently there has been a marked decrease in tips from travelers, they say.

A. Philip Randolph, editor of the Messenger, a negro magazine, was the principal speaker, and urged a quiet organization of the men until they become strong enough to deal with the company openly.

ENGLISH SWIMMER FAILS.

London Girl Covers Only Seven Miles in Channel Swim.

FOLKESTONE, England, Aug. 25 (AP).—Miss Mercedes Gleitzer, a London typist, tried to swim the English Channel today, starting from the British shore, but was forced to abandon her attempt because of a cramp when seven miles out.

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 25 (AP).—A rough sea today made necessary another postponement of the attempt of Ishak Helmy, an Egyptian, to swim the English Channel. Owing to unfavorable weather prospects, Helmy did not set a new date for his attempt.

The several Channel swimmers here continued their training today despite the rough water. Miss Gertrude Ederle, the American girl, who intends to wait for favorable tide conditions at the end of the month, is gradually increasing her workouts both in the water and on land.

World Conference at Stockholm Supports Plan to Aid Near East Orphans.

APPLAUD COOLIDGE LETTER

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 25.—Five hundred bishops, clergymen and laymen, representing thirty religions from thirty-four different countries, dined on boiled rice and prunes in Stockholm's leading hotel tonight to perpetuate Golden Rule Sunday on Dec. 6. The movement has for its purpose the helping of the thousands of orphans cared for by the American Near East Relief Association.

Prominent speakers announced that on that day Americans in seven hundred cities and towns and people in twenty-one countries would partake of a similar dinner of orphan fare and donate the equivalent of the remainder to the Near East Relief.

Two hundred Americans attended Stockholm's first Golden Rule dinner. The simplicity of the fare was in marked contrast to the round of elaborate banquets held here since the arrival of the delegates to the Universal Christian Conference. Fred B. Smith of New York, who presided, said that 30,000 orphans under American care in the Near Eastern countries of Armenia, Syria, Palestine and Greece would be assisted by the international observance of Golden Rule Sunday.

A picturesque touch was lent to the scene by the gray-bearded Patriarch Alexandria, Metropolitan of Sofia, and the Jewish Boy Scouts, who led in singing the international Golden Rule hymn.

Motion pictures showing the work of American philanthropy in the stricken countries made a deep impression upon the gathering. A letter from President Coolidge commending the Golden Rule movement was received with cheers.

Malaria a Scourge in Near East.

International Near East Association headquarters in Stockholm and the New York office of the association gave out simultaneously yesterday a report of a preliminary survey on malaria in the Near East. This survey was made by Dr. Fridjof Nansen of Norway, Dr. William A. Kennedy of England, Dr. William S. Dodd of the United States, Dr. Apostolides Doxiades of Greece and William Jourdan Rapp, Near East Relief Secretary.

The report says in part:

"In Greece, Asia Minor, Syria, Palestine and the Caucasus malaria is a veritable scourge. The wars and revolutions which have swept over these countries in recent years have broken down the resistance which the population had developed to the disease, and death stalks today on the wings of mosquitoes throughout the lands which were the cradle of Western civilization.

"In every war in the Near East from the remotest historical times until today, deaths from malaria have far exceeded those from steel and cannon.

"Malaria throughout the Near East is a social and economic disease. Like tuberculosis, it can be influenced and even eliminated by proved measures of social hygeine, notably by improved conditions of housing and feeding. Insufficient nourishment and bad living conditions undermine the resistance of the populations, and this resistance can only be restored by remedying the cause.

"Quinine is still the only serious weapon of the doctor against malaria. The manner in which this drug acts has recently been the subject of careful study. In the Near East Relief orphanages careful charts have been kept on thousands of patients undergoing various types of quinine treatment. In a large group of cases, comparatively small doses of quinine have prevented relapses of the disease in children whose infection was not deep-seated. But the experience of refugee camp doctors is much less favorable, and the question naturally arises as to the manner in which quinine exercises its curative effect.

Says Quinine Kills Parasites.

"Formerly it was thought that quinine was a specific poison to the malarial parasite, and cured the disease by killing the parasite. Were this a complete explanation, it would follow that big doses would be more effective than small ones. But this is not the case. There is now almost overwhelming evidence that quinine, after absorption by the human organism, is somehow modified by the body cells and thereby changed into a substance which is fatal to the malaria parasites.

"Thus, man himself is to some extent responsible for his cure, and any factor which reduces his power of self-help must reduce his hope of cure. What these factors are we can only speculate, but they probably include deficient nutrition, ill-health due to extraneous causes, exhaustion and strain, repeated infection, and perhaps also overdosing with quinine.

"Among general measures against malaria, first consideration should be given to improving the health of the human subjects of the disease and to undertaking certain sanitary operations against the anopheles mosquito. These measures have passed the stage of criticism and experiment, and may be recommended for general adoption, both from the practical and economic points of view, and as being calculated to yield appreciable results.

"All infected persons should be treated systematically with quinine and its derivatives. The treatment must be prompt, energetic, regulated according to the condition of the patient, and prolonged even after the clinical cure is effected.

"Too great emphasis cannot be laid on the importance of an increase in the production of quinine, the world supply of which is at present inadequate."

BIG LOSS IN MONTREAL FIRE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 25 (AP).—Unofficial estimates today set at between $500,000 and $1,000,000 the damage done here when an entire block of buildings in Montreal was laid waste last night and early this morning by one of the most spectacular fires the city ever experienced.

The blaze started about 11 o'clock last night, and under a half gale spread rapidly and soon enveloped the entire block lying between Sanguinet and Emery Streets. The buildings consumed consisted of twenty or more dwellings, a large apartment house, an ice plant and other houses.

The casualties were comparatively few. Most of those reported consisted of several firemen being overcome by smoke or cut by flying glass and a woman who suffered a broken arm when a piece of fire apparatus in turning a corner went through the plate-glass of a cigar store.

Sixty-one families were rendered homeless by the fire.

BLUE SKY CAMPAIGN DRIVING OUT FRAUDS

Better Business Bureau Reports That Investors Also Are More Wary Now.

WARNS OF LAND SWINDLERS

Steadily growing successes in combating "blue sky" promotions and other stock frauds is recorded by the Better Business Bureau in its quarterly report, issued yesterday. The decrease in crimes and offenses of these types, as a result of the aggressive campaign that is being waged against them, the bureau states, has been especially noteworthy during recent months.

The report states that many fake promoters, whose operations brought millions of dollars' loss to the public, have been driven out of business or out of the State, temporarily, at least. Those at present engaged in pushing the sales of questionable securities are finding it more than ever difficult to induce investors to part with their money, the bureau finds.

This improved condition is noticeable not alone in New York, but in all parts of the country. More complete cooperation among the States and cities has played an important part in this achievement. Warnings against unsound stock selling campaigns have been broadcast, and public officials in some instances have had an opportunity to stop them before they have got well under way.

Praises Work of Officials.

The three leading factors that have been at work in accomplishing these results have been, says the bureau, first, education of the public; second, prompt and careful information service, and, third, alertness on the part of prosecuting and other public officials.

The report mentions the work of the Attorney General of New York, Albert F. Ottinger; of Inspector Charles H. Clarahan of the Postoffice Department; of District Attorney Banton and of United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner, saying that these public agents have rendered effective cooperation in safeguarding the public interest as it is affected by these improper practices.

Finding "blue sky" promotions no longer as profitable as formerly, many dealers in questionable securities are now turning to real estate, the report warns, and some of them are using the magic name of Florida, to the detriment of legitimate Florida development enterprises. The report says on this point:

"In addition to such operations set in motion wherever persons with ready cash are likely to congregate, such as the popular shore resorts, 'free lot' schemes have multiplied."

In some of these schemes lots are "given away" as prizes for solving puzzles; in others the "gift" is made in the name of advertising.

"In a typical free-lot' scheme," the report continues, "a 20 by 100 foot lot, plotted on unimproved farmland, is awarded for solving a very easy puzzle. The catch is in a small charge for 'drawing up legal papers,' about five times the actual cost of the lots, which is about $1 each. Lots additional to the award are offered at about $50 each. The land is covered with heavy growth, only a 50-foot 'Main Street' having been pioneered."

Near-by Land in "Free-Lot" Schemes.

In a free-lot swindle, where the lots were dispensed as "advertising" and on which District Attorney Banton went before the Grand Jury and obtained indictments, women victims received lots said to be worth $450 each, after which they were induced to buy others for $1,500 each, with an allowance for the "free" lot.

Some of the land used in these "free-lot" schemes is in New Jersey and some on Long Island and other near-by localities.

Gratifying results have been achieved, the bureau reports, in the efforts to bring about more accurate representations in the sale of merchandise. This is having the effect of eliminating much unfair competition. All of the big retail stores, and many small ones, the report states, are developing a new form of competition which is raising standards of accuracy and gives the buying public increased confidence in the stores with which they deal.

LOST OAR COSTS A LIFE.

An attempt to recover a lost oar caused a rowboat to turn over in the Hackensack River yesterday afternoon and William Malgady of 66 Madison Street, Hoboken, was drowned.

Harold Meehan of 562 Ferry Street, Hoboken; Peter MacCormac of 131 Clinton Street, Hoboken; Bruno Christier of 815 Eighth Street, Secaucus, and Malgady had put out from a dock near the Paterson Plank Road and rowed out to Christier's motor boat. After some time they started to row back. Twenty feet off shore Christier and MacCormac doffed their clothes, dived over the side and swam to land. When one of the oars slipped overboard, Malgady attempted to recover it and the boat turned over. Both occupants came up on the far side, so the men on shore did not see them struggle.

Meehan could swim, but apparently Malgady could not, for when he came up he seized Meehan and the latter was forced to break his hold to save his own life. Malgady was 34 years old. His body was not recovered.

HITS JERSEY AMENDMENTS.

Newark Lawyer Sees Illegalities in Zoning Resolution.

Amendments approved by the 1925 New Jersey Legislature which would enable municipalities to adopt zoning ordinances and provide for biennial legislative sessions, a four-year term for Governor and a two-year term for Assemblymen were attacked yesterday by Charles R. Hardin, Newark lawyer and Democratic candidate for the Assembly last year.

In studying the resolution containing the zoning amendment, Mr. Hardin declared he found the yeas and nays of the members of the House were omitted from the House minutes. The Constitution states that these shall be recorded. The other technicality on which the lawyer attacks the resolution on the terms of the Governor and legislators was the fact that five distinct changes in the phrasing of the Constitution were proposed in the resolution.

The Progress Of a Worthy Product

Year after year, from the very beginning, demand for Graham Brothers Trucks has increased from 50 to 150 per cent over each preceding year.

This year is typical. Production for the first six months equalled the entire output for 1924.

The significance of these facts will appeal instantly to any good business man.

He knows that public demand for a product increases no faster than the product's ability to prove its worth. He knows that these increases would have been impossible without the most vigorous indorsement of Graham Brothers Truck owners all over the world.

He also knows that manufacturing costs decrease as production grows—and that the purchaser benefits by every economy Graham Brothers are able to effect.

Today, as a result of a recent reduction, Graham Brothers Truck prices are lower than ever before—and the trucks are substantially better.

Dodge Brothers Dealers can readily prove it.

TO AVOID ADVERTISING WASTE

Go into the cities with your costly ads in the weekly field —that's where the buyers of ADVERTISED PRODUCTS live

74% of the income tax returns; 57% of the motor registration other than Fords and 49% of the total; 47% of the population of the United States are contained in 7% of the counties; 78% of Liberty's circulation is in this field.

LIBERTY is the advertising sensation of today. More advertisers and agents discuss it than any other publication.

Publishing history fails to present a parallel to approximate it.

Now, in your interest and ours, please let us tell you why:

First . . . Liberty circulates where people with the spending habit, and the money to gratify it, live.

That's in the important centers where the big purchasing power of the nation rests. Where the major percentage of advertised products are sold. 74% of Liberty's circulation is in cities of 25,000 and up.

Second . . . It, for the first time, "Meets the Wife, Too" in the weekly field. And 85% of all advertisable articles are influenced by women in their sale.

48% of Liberty readers are women. Every article appeals alike to men and women. And that means a 100% reading in the home.

Third . . . No ad in Liberty is "buried." Every ad is given full position, next-to-reading matter.

Thus in three important ways, Liberty cuts advertising waste.

The waste of appealing to readers who cannot or will not buy your product.

The waste of "buried" ads, passed unseen by readers.

Relieve even an ordinary advertisement of those three wasteful factors and multiplied results will surprise you.

THE PLAY

Far From the Boulevards.

THE KISS IN A TAXI, a "farcical comedy" in three acts by Clifford Grey, adapted from the French of Maurice Hennequin and Pierre Veber. Staged by Bertram Harrison; produced by A. H. Woods. At the Ritz Theatre.

Victor.....Arthur Bowyer
Armand.....Frank Sherlock
Gisette.....Claudette Colbert
Angele.....Eleanor Williams
Lucien.....John Williams
De Sage.....Edward Rigby
Leon Lambert.....Arthur Byron
Dergeot.....Harry Hanlon
Gilbert.....Charles Mather
Valentine.....Janet Beecher
Julie.....Patricia O'Connor
Francois.....Marius Underwood
Celestin Maraval.....George Graham

French farce and an American audience sat down together at the Ritz Theatre last evening, where "The Kiss in a Taxi" was put on, and found that they did not understand each other exactly. After the playwrights had laboriously set up their situation toward the end of the second act, and a lover discovered himself suddenly playing a very different and less welcome rôle, the farce became bright and amusing. Again in the third act confusions of identity still held out some amusement; and in both Arthur Byron as the abused, the misunderstood Léon Lambert, who had been guilty of—well, of masculine frailty, gave a very enjoyable performance. For the most part, however, "The Kiss in a Taxi" wants briskness and flair. Three acts of it do not bring steady response from the audience.

The core of the piece is this character of Léon Lambert, Parisian banker, who consoles himself for his success and his loving wife with a little friend at Montmartre. But all this most discreetly, using quite without authority the name of a bookkeeper in his employ. He is so practised in this deception that it now gives him no uneasiness at all. In Paris, and particularly in Montmartre, the playwrights imply (and who is so bold as to deny them?), people understand that sort of thing and behave like intelligent people.

But Lucien of the velvet jacket, fresh from the provinces, where life is ordered more simply, makes the fatal error of believing what a woman tells him—a woman, moreover, of Montmartre. She is Ginette, M. Lambert's little friend; and since she falls in love with this absurd yokel, who is further handicapped by literary tastes, she explains Lambert as her father. Being a well-meaning lad, Lucien sets out bravely to change all that, to persuade this pseudo-father to acknowledge his illegitimate child, "this blossom of inadvertence," as he puts it euphemistically. And all that places Lambert in a fresh light before his wife, his little consoler, his bookkeeper and, indeed, himself. He does not recognize himself. In fact, he does not care to. He is a much greater man than he had suspected.

Transporting a farce from the gay boulevards to the more garish Broadway may cost a good deal in piquancy and salt. What runs lightly there may limp and falter here. At any rate, the version set on the stage last evening, however closely it may reproduce the original, labors as earnestly in setting up the framework of the story as it does in providing merriment for the audience. Many of the subsidiary characters seem to clutter the farce more than they add to the general amusement. And several times the same story is retold to fresh characters on the stage. In consequence the piece suffers from repetition.

A brisker pace in the performance might keep "The Kiss in a Taxi" from scraping the stage, and might send it bouncing along much more buoyantly. Mr. Byron plays lightly enough in his central rôle. His ingratiating manner, his sardonic gentleness in the presence of his Montmartre amourette, his general demeanor of hopefulness when despair might be as appropriate, are all tastily entertaining. Never does he fall back upon burlesque or truckle to his audience. In the part of Lucien, Mr. Williams seems a trifle clumsy. Miss Patrick gives the part of Angele the absurd posture and the bright look of expectancy which now characterize the stage flapper. As Valentine, wife of the philandering Lambert, Janet Beecher is sweet and matronly, but not well cast in a farce of this frivolous quality.

EQUITY HEARING FOR VERDI.

Members Will Vote on Action Council Took Against Actor.

The Actors' Equity Association has called a special meeting of its members for Friday afternoon, Sept. 4, at the Hotel Astor, to consider the case of Francis Verdi, who succeeded Richard Bennett in the cast of "They Knew What They Wanted" a few months ago, and who subsequently lost the rôle to Leo Carrillo. The night after Mr. Verdi was informed by the Theatre Guild that Mr. Carrillo was to succeed him, he refused to play the rôle and for this action was suspended for two weeks and fined two weeks' salary by the Equity council.

In accordance with Equity rules, Mr. Verdi has obtained twenty-eight signatures to a petition calling for a special meeting to consider the council's action. A majority vote of those present is required to reverse the council's decision. This will be the first time that a decision of the council has thus been laid before an open meeting.

B. OCKO IN VIOLIN DEBUT.

Audition Winner Pleases in First Philharmonic Appearance.

Bernard Ocko, violinist, the second of the Audition's winners, made his début with the Philharmonic Orchestra at the Stadium last evening in Wieniawski's concerto for violin, No. 1. Willem van Hoogstraten conducted. Mr. Ocko displayed a broad, full tone of fine carrying quality. He treated his subject with energy, slowing his tempo in harmony with his surroundings, and played so effectively that he was recalled four times.

The orchestra showed itself ever on the qui vive in the response they gave to their leader. Mr. van Hoogstaten gave two overtures on the same subject, Weber's "Oberon," and Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream." Honegger's "Pacific 231" and Liszt's "Prelude" rounded out the program.

State Symphony Concerts.

The opening concert of the season of the State Symphony Orchestra will be given at Carnegie Hall Wednesday evening, Oct. 21. Nineteen other concerts will follow, the series concluding on March 13. The first half of the season the orchestra will be directed by Ernst von Dohnanyi and the second half by Alfredo Casella. Fellow-members of the symphony orchestra, on payment of $10, are entitled to admittance to ten special rehearsals of new American music to be given at Carnegie Hall, not open to the public; participation in the educational course on "The Make-up of the Modern Symphony Orchestra"; two orchestra seats without charge for one of the regular concerts of the orchestra, and an invitation to attend the special fellow members' concerts to be given at the close of the season.

Mme. Miura Returns.

Mme. Tamaki Miura, the Japanese operatic soprano, arrived yesterday from Rome on the Italian liner Duilo with her manager, Aldo Franchetti. During their stay in Italy, the singer said, they had completed the score for a one-act opera with a Japanese theme which will be produced in Chicago in December. Mr. Franchetti said the new opera would be named "The Daughter of the Wave." He added that Mme. Miura had been singing "Madame Butterfly" for eleven years and it was time she had a change.

Eight Midgets Gain 7 Pounds at Sea

Rose's Royal Lilliputians, eight in number and having an aggregate weight of 450 pounds, arrived yesterday from Germany on the steamship Bremen of the North German Lloyd Line. They gained seven pounds on the voyage. The oldest member of the troupe is 40 years of age. Also arriving was a German theatrical company which will play at the Pabst theatres in Chicago and Milwaukee under the direction of Fritz Fischer.

THE SCREEN

By MORDAUNT HALL.

An Eye-Full.

HELL'S HIGHROAD, with Leatrice Joy, Edmund Burns, Robert Edeson, Julia Faye, Helene Sullivan and others, adapted from a story by Ernest Pascal, directed by Rupert Julian; overture, "Selections from Scandals"; Marion Morgan, soprano; Ruth Granville, saxophone player; "Cuba Steps Out," a scenic; "Dance Divertissement." At the Colony.

Cecil B. De Mille's influence is apparent to a marked degree in "Hell's Highroad," the present offering at the Colony and incidentally the first production to be issued from the new De Mille studios. This picture was directed by Rupert Julian, who was responsible for "Merry Go Round," and yet it is typical of Mr. De Mille's work, although it was only supervised by him while he was busy with the screen version of "The Road to Yesterday." It is what might be termed an eye-full, as there are gorgeous female costumes, the action for which Mr. DeMille is famous, the spacious rooms with elaborate furnishings and a glimpse of a Broadway revue.

As a story it is not absorbing, as Mr. De Mille usually takes advantage of his characters. But there is plenty of violent entertainment and a more or less plausible love story. It is a costly effort, a fact which can be readily gauged from the settings, the dresses, the incidental figurantes and the novel inclusions. You have in this film a party given by Ann Broderick, a billionairess, who strains every effort to amuse and entertain her guests. She has various ideas, one of which is a circus sideshow, in which there is an amusing and original feature. It is where some of the guests are shown looking at themselves in one of those mirrors which distort the figure and make one look dumpy and fat. The audience yesterday afternoon got no end of pleasure out of this scene, and it was a pity that there was not more of it. It is interesting for once to behold a handsome leading man gazing upon himself as a sort of ogre, and also to see the villain looking in the glass at his absurd figure.

Billionairess Broderick is not the only wealthy character in this picture, as there is also the conniving and hopeful Sanford Gillespie, a man who owns a mint and a string of banks. Even the abbreviated name of one of the characters is reminiscent of Mr. De Mille. This weak hero is Ronald McKane, but as the story is unfurled he is alluded to as Ron. He is at first poor, then becomes wealthy, and finally is taught a severe lesson for neglecting his wife. She goes to Gillespie and asks that financial power to bring her husband to his senses by causing Ron to lose his money.

Old Gillespie is fond of pretty women, and his large eyes often gaze in a leaded way at Ron's wife, Judy. When Ron gets into an automobile, knowing that his wife is probably at the wondow, Gillespie is seen looking at the woman like an old flirt. Yet Ron is not supposed to be aware of this.

It seems almost natural that Ron should be angry when he discovered that Judy was responsible for his financial debacle, but one does not expect to see him try to throttle her. The quick De Mille touch comes when Ron, about to kill his wife, observes that she is quite attractive and therefore he stays his hands and kisses her!

There are parts of this picture which make one think that the censors were in a lenient mood when they viewed it. Such sequences do not add to the worth of this production. Love is treated in a harsh way. When Ron becomes infatuated with the Billionairess Broderick there are scenes depicting him with Mrs. Broderick and afterward others showing Judy and Gillespie. So one imagines that they are at separate tables, but subsequently one learns that the four people are together.

Leatrice Joy, who gave such a splendid performance in "The Dressmaker from Paris," impersonates Judy. She again displays her screen talent. Edmund Lowe as Lon is acceptable in some stretches and very good in others. He is for the most part too artificial in his facitl expressions, which appear to be governed by the camera man. Robert Edeson is satisfactory as Gillespie.

"The Fall of Eve" Opens Monday.

"The Fall of Eve," a play by John Emerson and Anita Loos, will be presented at the Booth Theatre next Monday night with Ruth Gordon in the leading rôle. The cast will also include Reginald Mason, Claude King, Diantha Pattison and Cora Witherspoon.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"The Getaway," a play by Charles K. Van Riper, is announced for production by Edward Childs Carpenter, in association with William Harris Jr. The cast will include Violet Heming, Minor Watson, Eric Dressler and Frederic Burt. The play will open in Washington on Sept. 21.

"The Fall Guy" will end its run at the Eltinge a week from Friday, so as to permit a Sunday night premiere in Chicago.

Rehearsals of "Gunpowder," by J. C. and Elliott Nugent, will begin today. J. C. Nugent will be the director.

Michael Arlen's second play, "These Charming People," will open out of town on Sept. 28, and will come to New York a week later.

Jerome Lawler, leading man of "The Little Poor Man," at the Princess Theatre, acted his role as usual last night. He was injured during a rehearsal on Monday and was unable to play Monday night.

Makes one weak—with laughter.

It is Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood's famous farce made into an hilarious photoplay by Al Christie.
It has as many laughs as July has mosquitoes, and is as savory as a porterhouse steak to a starving stevedore.
It is the sort of motion picture that makes hope hop high; that titillates the tantalized, and arouses the gloomy into hearty guffaws.
It has as mirth-provoking a story as ever marched gayly and uproariously into the celluloid.

Giants Win and Gain on the League Leaders; Yanks and Robins Also Triumph

GIANTS BEAT REDS, GAINING ON PIRATES

McGraw's Men Cut Lead to Five Games by 7-6 Victory While Buccaneers Lose.

ROSS YOUNG GETS IRATE

Hit on Elbow by Pete Donohue's Pitch, He Tries to Punch Twirler —Both Banished.

HOW THEY STAND.

By defeating the Reds yesterday while the Pirates were losing to the Braves the Giants reduced Pittsburgh's lead in the pennant race to five games, as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	69	64	.561

If the Pirates win eighteen of their remaining thirty-seven games the Giants will then have to win twenty-one of their thirty-one to win the pennant, as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	90	64	.584
Pittsburgh	89	65	.578

However, if the Pirates are victorious in twenty-one of their games the Giants will then have to win all but seven of their games to finish in first place, as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	93	61	.604

By HARRY CROSS.

Fisticuffs intermingled with much baseball gave an exclusive number of fans a hilarious afternoon up at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The Giants beat the Reds 7 to 6 and Ross Young lost his usual poise and left his place at the bat in the sixth inning to go out and take a few swings at Pitcher Pete Donohue. Inasmuch as the Pirates were trimmed by Boston, the Giants cut down the Pittsburgh lead to five games. The Reds dropped to three and a half games behind New York, so all in all it was quite an afternoon for the home boys.

The uprising of Young came after Donohue had hit him in the elbow with a pitched ball. The foundation of the fracas went back to the previous inning, when Young came tearing into first while Donohue was covering that base. There was a collision and Pete dropped the ball, Pep going to second. So when Donohue hit Pep in the sixth, Young dropped his bat and marched straight out to the box.

Young, usually a citizen of much restraint, squared off and directed numerous blows at Donohue. In a jiffy the infield was thickly populated with players. None of the blows landed, as far as any one was able to ascertain. Ping Pinnelli rushed into the fray, as did half a dozen other players. Then Umpire Quigley elbowed his way through the melee of milling players and grabbed Young amidships and carried him bodily over to first base, away from the scene of battle.

Both of Them Exiled.

The Boxing Commission itself couldn't call in anything but a draw. Young was exiled from the game and so was Donohue. To an innocent bystander Donohue's part looked like that of an individual in self-defense and nothing more. Anyway, they were both put out of the game without ceremony and the battle went on. King Brady succeeded Donohue and Koehler went into right in Young's place.

Much of the Giants' victory can be laid at the door of Grover Hartley. Slick, as he is known to his clubmates, got a two-bagger in the fourth and scored the run which tied the score, and in the fifth with the corners jammed he pummeled forth a three-bagger off the left field wall which swept the bases as clean as a hound's tooth.

The Reds, fighting like mad to dismantle the Giants from their second-place position, tied the score at 6 to 6 in the seventh.

What transpired on various baseball diamonds yesterday leads one to believe that the Pirates are going to have a hard job in retaining the wide advantage they possess in the league race. The reaction of the Pittsburgh series is upon the Giants, and they were scrappy and full of ginger yesterday, as one may surmise from the way Ross Young behaved.

Nehf's Pitching Polished.

Art Nehf, the veteran left-hander, did the pitching for New York and did it well. New York got 12 hits to 11 by the Reds and it was any one's game right up to the bitter end. Nehf tightened up when he had to, despite the fact that he had two bad innings—the third and the seventh.

The Reds started the matinee as if they were going to be the whole show. After two of them were out, Eddie Roush slammed a single to centre and went to third on a rap to the same place by Bressler. Right in the face of the whole Giant club, Roush and Bressler completed a double steal, Roush crossing the plate with the first run. The Giants were caught flat-footed on that one.

Undismayed, New York took the lead in the same stanza. Southworth walked and went to third on Frisch's single to left. Zitzmann fumbled the ball and Frisch continued to second. While Critz was tossing Young out at first, South scored and Frisch went to third, scoring as Meusel was being disposed of at first.

The Rhinelanders got gay with Nehf in the third and went to the front. Zitzmann got a two-base Texas leaguer over left centre and went to third on Pinelli's infield tap which not one of the Giant infielders disturbed. Roush cracked a trick double off Terry's feet, scoring Zitzmann, and Bressler died at first. Holke walked and filled the bases. As Critz forced Holke, Pinelli romped home and the session ended when Caveney died at first.

The tally see-sawed back to a tie again in the fourth, when, with one out, Hartley doubled to left. Nehf, believing it essential to do something in his own behalf, rapped a single to right which encouraged Hartley scress with the tieing run.

The Giants fell hard on Donohue in the fifth and got what appeared to be a substantial lead. Young got an infield single, Holke fielding the ball to chuck it to Donohue. Pete dropped the pill and fell over in his collision with Young. Young was on his toes in a second and raced to second while Donohue was brushing the dust from his haberdashery.

Young went to third on Meusel's out at first, and when Terry rolled to Critz Hughey tossed to third and got Young off the bag and he was exterminated trying to score.

Kelly walked and Jackson sent a high bouncer to short for a hit and filled the bases. Hartley barruped a three-bagger off the left field concrete and Terry, Kelly and Jackson all safe-footed it home. A clean sweep if there ever was one. Nehf put at first ended the fun.

Then came the sixth with its bushel of trouble. Southworth lined to Caveney and Zitzmann speared Frisch's liner. Young marched up to the plate and one of Donohue's unruly tosses scratched Pep on the arm. That's where the fight started and that's about where it ended. There was more action and less damage done than in any scrap in the history of impromptu pugilism. Young's timing was bad and his sense of distance was awful.

When Umpire Quigley had unraveled Young from the rest of the Reds and the Giants, of course, there was no one for Donohue to hit back at. Young and Pete got their walking papers and the game proceeded with old King Brady, a former Yankee pitcher, on the mound for the Reds. He chucked one to Meusel and Irish forced Koehler, who had taken Pep's place, for the final out of the fretful session.

The Reds tied it up in the seventh. Zitzmann singled and when Pinelli rolled to Jackson, Travis chucked to Kelly to make a forced play but the toss was atrocious and Zitzmann went to third. As Roush forced Pinelli, Zitzmann scored. Bressler forced Roush and Holke singled to left. On the throw-in Bressler went to third and Holke to second. Hughey Critz came through with a neat single to centre which sent Bressler and Holke home and the score was deadlocked again.

The Giants won it in the eighth. Hartley singled to third and beat it out. Nehf decided to bunt and popped to Brady. Southworth put at first sent Slick to second and Frisch laced a single to left which rushed Hartley home.

DE BERRY HITS KEY TO ROBIN VICTORY

His Single in Ninth With the Bases Full Finally Conquers Cards by 5 to 4.

BELL CRACKS A HOMER

By RICHARDS VIDMER.

It just wasn't in the cards for the Robins to lose yesterday's game at Ebbets Field. Tiny Osborne pitched no-hit ball for four innings and when Lester Bell hit a homer in the fifth, giving St. Louis its first run, Jack Fournier came right back in the last half and duplicated the feat. Even when Tiny blew wide open in the seventh and the Cards took the lead, the Robins flapped their wings and tied the score when they came to bat.

There just didn't seem to be any use of the Jolly Rogers trying to get anywhere, and as it turned out they didn't for in the ninth, with the bases full and the score still even, Hank DeBerry walloped the ball to the left field bleachers and Dicky Cox trotted home with the winning run.

The final quotation was 5 to 4, but it might just as well have been much larger. Hank's hit would have scored three runs if they had been necessary to the Brooklyn cause, and as there was none out the firing might have gone on until dark.

As a result of the victory the Robins flew up in the league percentages and the Cardinals were dragged down, until now only one point separates the Flatbush flock from the first division. With the serious series for the league leadership ended the immediate crisis is developing in the lower regions.

Each Side Gets a Homer.

When Bell tolled out the knell of Tiny's departing no-hit game the Robins were enjoying a two-run lead. They still had the advantage of a single run after the drive, but that didn't look any too formidable and Fournier felt it his duty to help out when he came to the bat with two out in the last of the inning.

"Oh, I wasn't doubting you," Fournier replied, "I just wanted to tell it goodbye."

And on the next pitch he sent it sailing far into the blue sky for his twenty-first home run of the season and his third round-trip ticket in as many games, which makes three in two days.

Once more the Robins had two runs to ride on, but Tiny went wild in the seventh, and when Tiny gets wild there are few things wilder. Only one hit had been made off him up to that time, but the Cards started making up for lost opportunities.

Jess Petty Called to eRscue.

Hafey and Bell singled to left and O'Farrell singled to centre, sending Hafey over the plate. An error by Jimmy Johnston filled the bases and Thevenow, Tiny's new charitable and walked Flack, who batted for Mails, and Blades, forcing over two runs and giving the Cards the lead at 4-3. He also gave himself a shower bath a few minutes later, as it was at this juncture that Jess Petty was called on to relieve the situation.

Jess was called in at a precarious point, for there were still three on bases and only one out. But worst of all Rogers Hornsby, the League's leading hitter, was up. However, Petty made Rogers pop to Fournier and Bottomley forced Blades at second. Thus was tragedy diverted.

Alan Sothoron, the spitballer, took Mails's place on the mound, and the Robins tied the score again in the last of the seventh. Wheat opened with a single, went to second on Cox's one-bagger, after Fournier had fouled out, and Eddie Brown drove him across with the tying run.

Sothoron's blow-up came in the ninth, when he lost his temper and the game went with it. Cox started the trouble with a single to left, and Eddie Brown got a base on balls in the opinion of Umpire Sweeney, but only against Sothoron's veto. On the fourth ball Cox dashed for second and if Mr. Sweeney had called it a strike instead of a ball there would have been two out and none on, as O'Farrell's throw beat Cox by a yard.

The Bases Become Packed.

But all Sothoron could say in rebuttal failed to convince Mr. Sweeney that there was anything wrong with his eyesight, and as Johnston followed the argument with a safe hunt the bases were well packed and the game ready to be salted away. DeBerry's single did that.

As evidence of the Robins' speed afoot the following facts might be filed away: twenty-five of them got on the bases and only five of them scored. Fifteen were left stranded, two were snared in double plays and three were thrown out on the paths.

Pickups and Putouts.

The uncalled-for effervescence of Pep Young and Pete Donohue at the Polo Grounds yesterday will probably be rewarded with a suspension for one or both players when President Heydler receives the report of his umpires.

There should be plenty of excitement today, when the two clubs will endeavor to dispense with a double-header. Luque and Rixey are ready as far as the Reds are concerned, and it may be Barnes and Scott for the Giants.

The ambition of the Reds terminates at second place, but the Giants, hopeful to the end, still stick to the theory that they may beat the Pirates yet. That is, if other clubs beat them often enough.

Slick Hartley was perhaps the oldest player on the field yesterday in years of service, and by far the liveliest. He drove in three runs, scored two himself and got a triple, double and single.

Umpire Ernest Quigley has the right idea for a real peacemaker. Carry one of the belligerents away from the fight and there is no fight. Simple enough.

The Giants have one satisfaction. The Reds cannot jar them out of second place in this series, anyway.

Evidently a large number of fans have taken it for granted that the Giants are reconciled to a Pittsburgh pennant. The crowd yesterday was small in comparison to the crowds which have been attending the games. The Giants will concede the pennant when the figures say so, and not before.

And another thing, the Pirates will have to cling to that lead like ivy to a stone wall if they expect to win the pennant. The Giants admit that they are going to win a number of games before the first week in October.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 25 (AP).—Without a change in the remarkable scoring form he displayed yesterday Steve M. Crothers, Chestnut Hills, Pa., today broke 200 more targets for a run of 400 in the Grand American tournament at Vandalia and won the national amateur and all-around clay target championship titles.

His sensational shooting is without precedent in American competition. Crothers was as steady on the last trap as he was on the first. In previous shootings of the grand classic there have been frequent runs of 200 to 250, and last year Frank Hughes of Mobridge, S. D., broke 256 straight, but no shooter has ever come near to Crothers's perfect performance.

Crothers was not without competition. Six other entrants tied for position of runner-up with scores of 199. They were C. A. Young, Springfield, Ohio; Ira Cartoll, Kansas City, Mo.; E. F. Woodward, Houston, Texas; George Lewis, Tulsa, Okla.; D. E. McCullough, Charlotte, N. C., and J. C. Bond, Louisville, Ky.

Jimmie Bonner of New York, 16 years old, had no difficulty winning the national junior championship. He broke 197 targets, thirty-seven more than his nearest competitor.

Miss Gladys Reid of Portland, Ore., returned a score of 185 to win the women's national amateur championship. Mrs. C. E Pike of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Walter P. Andrews of Atlanta, Ga., were the runners-up with 184.

Homer Clark, East Alton, Ill., took the national professional championship, breaking 100 targets, and the five-man team representing Texas won the State team race with a total score of 968. The Grand American Handicap event will be shot Friday.

Pirates' President Attends as Compliment to Third Baseman— Barnes Twirls Effectively.

BOSTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—Mann's hitting was responsible for Boston's 2 to 1 victory over the League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates at Braves Field this afternoon. After Welch singled in the first inning, he was sent across the plate with the Braves' first run when Mann tripled to the scoreboard. In the sixth Gautreau's single, Welch's sacrifice and Mann's base hit gave Boston its winning run.

Somerville fans turned out in large numbers to pay honors to their fellow-townsman, Harold (Pie) Traynor, the Pirates' third baseman. They presented him with several gifts. His triple followed by Cooch's double gave Pittsburgh its only run. After the second inning Barnes, the Braves' hurler, held the Pirates to only two hits.

For the third time since 1908 President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh club came to Boston with his team as a compliment to Traynor.

SENATORS SLUGGED BY BROWNS' BATS

St. Louis Pounds Out 8-2 Victory, Hitting Zachary Hard in Early Innings.

GASTON IS IN GOOD FORM

Brown's Pitcher Holds Washington to Five Hits—Senators Still in First Place.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25 (AP).—Pounding Southpaw Zachary hard in the early innings, the St. Louis Browns defeated the Washington Senators today, 8 to 2, in the first game of the series. As the Philadelphia Athletics lost, Washington retained first place. Gaston allowed the visitors only five safe hits.

H. Rice and Manager Sisler each got triples with two men on. The Browns took the lead in the second with a slugging offense which netted five runs. A walk and two singles filled the bases. McManus scored on Robertson's single and Evans tallied on Gaston's sacrifice. Then H. Rice tripled, scoring Hargrave and Robertson. H. Rice scored as Peckinpaugh threw out Lamotte.

2 Texan Tennis Stars Defeat Lacoste and Borotra

LACOSTE-BOROTRA BEATEN BY TEXANS

French Davis Cup Stars Lose to White and Thalheimer in National Doubles.

SIX U. S. TEAMS SURVIVE

One Pair From Spain and One From Australia Also Remain in Tennis Tourney at Longwood.

By ALLISON DANSIG.

Special to The New York Times.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25.—France's leading Davis Cup doubles team, René Lacoste and Jean Borotra, the pair who will bear the entire burden of the Davis Cup play in the interzone final with Australia, went down in defeat today. A team of youngsters from the University of Texas, Lewis N. White of Austin and Louis Thalheimer of Dallas, furnished a stunning setback to the hopes of the French internationalists, conquering them in five sets in the second round of the national doubles championship at the Longwood Cricket Club. The score was 7—5, 3—6, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4.

It was a splendid triumph for the Texans, who twice won the intercollegiate doubles title together, to defeat the team that captured the championship at Wimbledon this year. They richly earned their victory with their sharp, aggressive stroking, their clear volleying and their superiority in service. White was the outstanding figure on the court. His whiplash service was irresistible—so much so that in six successive games that he served the opposing pair won a otal of one point, five of the games going at love.

Throwing the ball high into the air, the tall, spare young Texan leaned on it with a terrific impact of his racquet, and Borotra and Lacoste simply made futile stabs at it. Whenever they succeeded in getting it back the youths from the Southwest were at the net to mow down the returns with terrific overhead smashes by White or sly, sharply angled volleys by the alert Thalheimer.

Borotra Is Spectacular.

Borotra played in spectacular fashion at times and was always dangerous at the net, but in spite of his brilliancy and great agility in covering court and Lacoste's cleverness in penetrating the narrowest opening, they were not quite able to withstand the speed and power of the Texans.

Six American and two foreign teams were left in the tournament at the end of the second day of play. In the upper half the survivors are Vincent Richards of New York and R. Norris Williams 2d of Philadelphia, Manuel Alonso and Eduardo Flaquer of Spain, Robert and Howard Kinsey of San Francisco, the defending champions, and White and Thalheimer. The bracket in the lower half are occupied by William Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco, William Tilden 2d and Sandy Wiener of Philadelphia, Lucien Williams and George Lott of Chicago and Gerald Patterson and John B. Hawkes of Australia. They will meet tomorrow in the order named.

Not only France's first team, but also Captain Max Decugis and Jacques Brugnon, the second combination were put out of the play. Tilden and Wiener disposed of them in four sets at 6—1, 1—6, 6—4, 6—1. The champion played like a streak in the first set and single handed held the French pair helpless, but after that he needed the help of his capable young partner to prevail.

Brian Norton and Wyn Brown of St. Louis, Missouri Valley champions, bowed to Alonso and Flaquer. Norton reached magnificent heights in the first set, which the Americans won at 9—7, after trailing at 2—5 and 0—40. Taking every chance and hitting with abandon, the British player lifted the spectators out of their seats with his amazing shots, rushing to the far corners to make almost impossible backhand placements and then darting in to the net for a smashing volley or kill. After the first set, however, Norton did not play in the same whirlwind fashion and Alonso stole his thunder. The Spanish team took the next two sets with a rush and won the fourth after a struggle for the match at 7—9, 6—0, 6—1, 7—5.

Victors Are Not Pressed.

None of the other winning teams got into difficulties. Richards and Williams overwhelmed Gerald Stratford and Cranston Holman of California in the first set and then let up, with the result that they were held on even terms by the collegians. Both Stratford, who holds the intercollegiate doubles crown with Gervais Hillis, and Holman, national junior champion, played beautiful tennis at times but could not match the brilliancy of the Davis Cup doubles candidates. The score was 6—0, 7—5, 6—4.

Patterson and Hawkes had too much power for S. Howard Voshell of Kew Gardens, L. I., and A. H. Chapin Jr. of Springfield, Mass., and disposed of them at 6—4, 6—3, 6—1. The Kinseys, without extending themselves, won from G. P. Gardner Jr. and Henry Guild at 6—2, 6—2, 6—4. Lott and Williams advanced by the default of Nat Niles and Ray Casey, who was operated on in a local hospital for appendicitis.

Play in the National Veterans' Championship doubles got under way and among the teams to advance were Walter Pate and Sam Hardy of New York and J. T. Bailey, Oklahoma City, and Claude Butlin, Mexico.

The summaries:

Men's Championship Doubles, Second Round—Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams 2d defeated Gerald Stratford and Cranston Holman, 6—0, 7—5, 6—4; Manuel Alonso and Eduardo Flaquer defeated Brian Norton and Wyn Brown, 7—9, 6—0, 6—1, 7—5; Robert and Howard Kinsey defeated G. P. Gardner Jr. and Henry Guild, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4; Lewis N. White and Louis Thalheimer defeated René Lacoste and Jean Borotra, 7—5, 3—6, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4; William Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin defeated Alex Thayer and Stanley W. Pearson, 6—1, 6—3, 4—6, 6—1; William T. Tilden 2d and Sandy Wiener defeated Max Decugis and Jacques Brugnon, 6—1, 1—6, 7—5, 6—2; Lucien Williams and George Lott won from Ray Casey and N. W. Niles by default; Gerald L. Patterson and John B. Hawkes defeated S. Howard Voshell and A. H. Chapin Jr., 6—4, 6—3, 6—1.

Veterans' Doubles Championship, First Round—J. Foster and M. P. Hewes won from George Stadel and J. D. E. Jones by default; J. T. Bailey and Claude Butlin defeated Major A. J. Gore and J. D. Wilson, 6—3, 6—1; Russell N. Dana and G. A. Lyon defeated R. M. Currier and Ira M. Kent, 6—2, 6—2.

MRS. WORTHINGTON WINNER

Takes Saranac Tennis Singles and Also Scores in Doubles.

SARANAC INN., N. Y., Aug. 25.—Mrs. G. W. Worthington of Cleveland was a double winner in the Adirondack women's tennis championship here today, taking the singles final from Miss Marjorie Adams of New York City in two easy sets and sharing part of the doubles championship while paired with Mrs. F. M. Dillard of Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Worthington won from Miss Adams by 6—3, 6—2.

The summaries:

Casey Resting Comfortably After Appendicitis Operation

Special to The New York Times.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25.—Raymond Casey of San Francisco, member of the United States tennis team that went to England, was resting comfortably tonight in the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he was operated on for appendicitis early this morning. During his first round match in the national doubles championship yesterday Casey was seized with slight pains in the side but was not concerned. Last night the pains recurred and a physician was summoned. An operation was then decided upon. The team of Casey and Niles accordingly defaulted.

MISS JACOBS WINS AT LONGWOOD NET

Defeats Miss Sigourney in Two Sets—Miss Bayard Also Is a Victor.

Special to The New York Times.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25.—Miss Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., national girls' tennis champion, defeated Miss Edith Sigourney of this city today as the Longwood women's singles tournament began on the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club. Driving with vigorous strokes and bringing off a continual succession of sound, angled volleys, Miss Jacobs overcame the stout defense of her opponent and won in two sets at 6—3, 6—2. Miss Sigourney defeated Miss Martha Bayard of Short Hills, N. J., sixth in the ranking in the national championship last week.

One of the most attractive fields that ever competed in this tournament began play this morning. Mrs. Molla Mallory of New York, Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California, Miss Joan Fry and Miss E. H. Harvey of England, Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del.; Miss Bayard and Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Miss Charlotte Hosmer and Miss Jacobs, all of California, are numbered among the twenty-eight contenders. Miss Jacobs, Miss Hosmer and Miss Bayard were the only ones of these to get into action today.

Miss Bayard won with ease from Miss Polly Palfrey, a local player, 6—1, 6—1, and Miss Hosmer disposed of Miss Marjorie Howland, 6—1, 6—0. Miss Isabella Thompson of Boston gained an unexpected victory over Miss Eleanora Sears of Boston in a three-set match, 6—4, 1—6, 6—3. Miss Betty Weymouth of England was eliminated by Miss Isabella Mumford, 6—4, 6—1, and Mrs. Frank H. Godfrey put out Mrs. Nathaniel Niles at 5—7, 6—2, 6—2.

The summaries:

First Round—Miss Martha Bayard defeated Miss Polly Palfrey, 6—1, 6—1; Miss Isabella Thompson defeated Miss Eleanora Sears, 6—4, 1—6, 6—3; Miss Isabella Mumford defeated Miss Betty Weymouth, 6—4, 6—1; Miss Elizabeth Bright defeated Mrs. Seth T. Crawford, 6—2, 6—2; Mrs. Frank H. Godfrey defeated Mrs. Nathaniel W. Niles, 5—7, 6—2, 6—2; Miss Charlotte Hosmer defeated Miss Marjorie Howland, 6—1, 6—0; Miss Helen Jacobs defeated Miss Edith Sigourney, 6—3, 6—2.

EATON'S RIDING WINS IN HALF-MILE RACE

Beats Willie Spencer and Walker at N. Y. Velodrome—Madonna Hurt in Spill.

Raymond Eaton, East Orange rider and the champion of America in 1919, sprang a surprise at the New York Velodrome last night before 14,000 fans when he won the half-mile national championship race, the twenty-first of the series of twenty-four races to decide the title, by defeating Willie Spencer, champion of 1922 and 1923, and Cecil Walker, the present all-around title-holder. Anthony Beckman defeated Harry Horder and Reggie McNamara in the heat to decide fourth place.

Vincent Madonna, the sturdy little Italian rider, crashed to the track in the thirty-mile motor-paced race, taking one of the worst falls of the season. Madonna was going at the rate of 45 miles an hour back of Frank Jeehan, his pace maker; suddenly Madonna's front tire blew out, making a report like a pistol shot, and Madonna fell and rolled down the track.

Keenan, who was riding behind Madonna narrowly averted hitting him. Madonna was carried from the track unconscious. He regained consciousness under the care of Dr. Henry, who reported that Madonna was just badly shaken up and no bones were broken.

Charley Verkyn of Belgium won the race, defeating Charley Jaeger, Sammy Gastman, Clarence Carman and Frank Keenan. The time was 43 minutes 1 4-5 seconds.

The summaries:

Half-Mile Handicap (Amateur)—Won by James Walthour, Century Road Club (60 yards); Herbert Fischer, Acme Wheelmen (55 yards), second; Joe Crowley, Yonkers (50 yards), third; Jack Visco, Unione Sportiva Italiana (70 yards), fourth; William Ward, Acme Wheelmen (55 yards), fifth. Time—0:54 2-5.

SMITH LEADS FIELD IN LONG ISLAND OPEN

Holds Five-Stroke Advantage After First 36 Holes of Title Golf Play.

SARAZEN IN SECOND PLACE

Six Tied for Third With Totals of 147, Seven Strokes Behind Lakeville Pro at Salisbury.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

Special to The New York Times.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Aug. 25.—Having only recently added the Western open championship crown to his cluster of titles, Macdonald Smith, Lakeville professional, today made advances toward another. The completion of the first two rounds of the seventy-two-hole journey which will decide who is to hold the Long Island open championship for the next twelve months found the Carnoustie Scotsman on flirting terms with the title, which is now held by James Maiden, the Nassau Country Club professional. With two superb rounds of 70 the stylist from Great Neck helped himself to a five-stroke lead on the field of 138 professionals and amateurs who played over the two Salisbury courses today.

The chief opposition that Smith got was from Gene Sarazen, the metropolitan open champion from the Fresh Meadow Club. Young Gene was trailing Smith by three strokes at the end of the morning round when he took a total of 73 over the No. 3 course and he was unable to equal Mac's score on the No. 1 layout in the afternoon, finishing with a 72 for a total of 145.

Among the cluster who are tied for third place with totals of 147 are W. L. Klein, the Garden City Country Club youngster, and Maiden. Klein's putter wasn't functioning at all well today and his rounds were 78 and 74. Maiden, after apparently putting himself out of the running with a 76 this morning, came back nobly with a 71 in the second stanza and as a result he is still in the running for the title, although with Mac Smith going as he is the seven-strike deficit looks like an overwhelming handicap to overcome.

Others in the Group.

Others who are in the same group as Klein and Maiden are Stuart Sanderson of Huntington, Al Ciuci of Fresh Meadow, E. W. Lucas of Hempstead and Stuart Boyle of Woodbury.

The place of honor among the amateur contestants is held by young Jack Mackie Jr. of Inwood, holder of the Long Island junior championship as well as the New York State amateur title. Mackie reeled off two rounds of 75 and 74 today to get into a three-cornered tie with Johnny Battini, Mac Smith's assistant at Lakeville, and Nick De Mane of Soundview. In between are Irvin Stringer of Laurelton and George Heron of Meadow Brook.

Leo Diegel, Glen Oaks professional, who was expected to cut quite a swath in the Long Island event this year, was unable to play on account of illness.

Smith was very close to par throughout the day, but his second round was far more worth while than his first, in which he had to accomplish some heroics on the second nine to overcome a few slips going out. He picked up a stroke on par by chipping up to four feet for a birdie in the second hole. He immediately lost the advantage just gained by taking three putts on the short third, but he evened it up by getting a birdie 3 at the fourth, playing his second shot to within seven feet and holing the putt.

After that he wavered for three holes, taking 5's at each one. So far as par was concerned, the 5's were not bad, for two of the holes are so rated on the card. The 5 at the fifth, however, was a stroke over and it was due to a poor approach. At the seventh and ninth he needed three putts to hole out, and as a result, he was a stroke over par figures at the turn. He was a changed man from there in, getting two birdies and an eagle. The eagle came at the 255-yard sixteenth, where he drove the green and holed a seven-foot putt. His score for the incoming nine was 33, giving him a 70 for the round and enabling him to lead the field.

Smith Start With Birdie.

Sallying forth on the number 3 course in the afternoon, Smith started with a birdie 4 on the first hole and then reeled off five other 4's. Playing to the seventh hole, he hooked his drive off into the rough—his first mistake up to that point—but he recovered and got his par 5.

The only time that he failed to get par figures during the afternoon round was at the tenth hole, where, after some debating as to what club to use for the shot, he decided on a number 2 iron and was thirty-yards short and in a trap. He drove into the rough at the short twelfth but recovered for a birdie 3. Two more birdies fell to his lot before the charm was broken. At the thirteenth he chipped to within six inches of the hole for a 3 and at the fourteenth he almost drove to the green. He came near making it four birdies in a row, but his twenty-foot putt for it hung on the lip of the cup.

Sarazen, playing his first round in the number 3 course, reached the turn a stroke better than did Smith, but he wavered coming home, taking a 38 against the Western open champion's 35. His afternoon score did not do him justice for it was a 72 that might have been several strokes less just as well as not. There was one particular ruinous hole at the fourth, which is only 305-yards in length and on which many 3's were recorded. Sarazen's quota was double that amount. After taking 38 out, he came home in 34, getting four birdies in the first five holes.

CHESS STARS OPEN STATE TITLE PLAY

Eight in Championship Event, Seven in Class A at Buffalo—Helms Wins First Match.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25.—When entries for the competitions of the New York State Chess Association closed late this afternoon at the annual midsummer meeting at the Hotel LaFayette in this city, eight experts had made application for places in the championship class, and seven in Class A of the general tournament.

Two representatives from New York City, two from Rome and four from Buffalo are out after the State title, which was won last year at Rochester by Carlos Torre, the Mexican, who has since joined the ranks of the international masters. General disappointment was expressed over Torre's failure to appear here to defend his title, due to the fact that he expects to go to Mexico.

The following is the list of entries:

Class A—Charles Broughton of Stapleton, S. I., Arthur J. Briggs of Niagara Falls, Nicholas Weber of Utica, Dr. C. N. Kendrick, H. B. Reynolds, A. P. C. Rodenbach and Dr. C. C. Steigerwald of Buffalo.

The first game decided in the championship tournament resulted in a win for Helms of New York at the expense of Janowitz of this city, the latter, who had the white side of a Queen's Pawn game, resigning after twenty-five moves.

Met. Players in Orvis Cup Golf.

MANCHESTER, Vt., Aug. 25.—A field of 140 golfers, including several prominent players, are entered for the twenty-sixth annual Orvis Cup tournament at Ekwanok Country Club, the qualifying round of which will be played tomorrow.

6 NAMED TO COACH COLUMBIA ELEVENS

LATTER TO BE NEWCOMER

Will Replace Barr as Assistant Mentor of Second Varsity—Brides Medical Director.

A staff of six coaches, headed by Charles F. Crowley, will be in charge of Columbia's football destinies during the coming season, according to the list made public yesterday by Graduate Manager Reynolds Benson. Five of last year's mentors have been retained, but Bliss Price, star tackle for three seasons, has replaced Robert Barr as assistant coach of the second varsity squad.

Only two Harvard men, Crowley and Billy Murray, have survived of the eight Crimson graduates who ruled in the first year of the Haughton régime. Columbia now has two representatives in Price and Frank Brodil and Yale and Illinois have one each. The first Haughton staff numbered nine, including "P. D." himself, but Crowley, Murray and Brides will do this year the work that two men performed in 1923.

Dr. Brides will succeed Paul Withington, former head coach, as medical director of the varsity and second varsity squads. The head trainer again will be Charley Barrett, who has held down that post for five years, and his assistants will be Judge and Shanahan.

The staff is smaller by one than a year ago. Withington became head coach on the death of Haughton and engaged Brides to take over his work with the linemen. Crowley now will double up as head coach and end coach, and Withington's leaving will bring no new man to the staff.

Price's new duties will take him into contact with the varsity only as an "enemy," since in the scrimmages the second varsity acts the rôle of Columbia's next opponent. The second squad is a separate unit, practices on its own field, has its own signals and coaches and learns the formations of hostile elevens for use against the varsity in the scrimmaging. As additional diversion the "scrubs" will play through their own schedule with strong elevens around New York.

NAME CARTER AT COLUMBIA.

Nominated as Alumnus Member of the Committee on Athletics.

The Nominating Committee of the Columbia University Athletic Association has recommended that Gale H. Carter be elected to the position of alumnus member of the University Committee on Athletics for a term of three years. His nomination has been made to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of David Armstrong's appointment.

Huron Handicap Is Captured by Peanuts on Saratoga Track

PEANUTS IS VICTOR IN HURON HANDICAP

REPARATION IS SET BACK

Judges Disqualify First Horse in the Malone and Hand Jockey Maiben Three-Day Suspension.

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Robert L. Gerry's consistent little colt Peanuts captured the twenty-third running of the $5,000 Huron Handicap this afternoon, the journey of a mile and three-sixteenths for the three-year-olds being the feature of the twenty-second day of the meeting here. Under 112 pounds and with Coltiletti up, the bay son of Ambassador IV ran the distance in 1:58 4-5. G. M. Odom saddled the winner, which was an equal first choice with the Rancocas Stable's Silver Fox at 5 to 2. The victory was worth $3,000.

The afternoon's sport was marred by a disqualification, J. E. Davis's Reparation, which finished first in the Malone Handicap, being set back for crossing Frederick Johnson's Dare Say. Johnny Maiben was suspended for three days for the offense. The afternoon was warm and the track at its best, a large attendance enjoying the sport.

Peanuts beat Silver Fox, Senalado and Swope among others in the Saranac, and all three were in the field that finished in back of him this afternoon in the Huron, in which eight went to the post. Despite the fact that Peanuts was in receipt of twenty pounds from Silver Fox, they closed as equal first choices at 5 to 2.

There was a good start from in front of the grand stand, and Senalado was first to show in front from his rail position, with Lee Rosenberg's Extra Dry, Swope and Silver Fox in close attendance. At the paddock turn Laverne Futor had the gray colt out in front, the Belair Stud's Marconi being the contender.

Marconi Moves Up.

Down the back stretch Marconi was lapped on Silver Fox, with Extra Dry running third and Peanuts fourth, the latter not having got away any too well. On the turn Marconi made a determined challenge and finally headed the Rancocas colt. That was the end of the gray, for he stopped under his weight and finished next to last.

Marconi ran himself out in killing off Silver Fox and was not able to stay in the money. When Marconi chucked in Peanuts came to the fore, but the little bay colt was under a hard drive by Coltiletti to win by a length from Senalado. The latter was allowed to drop too far back by Maiben, but he closed with courage to take the place by a couple of lengths from Swope.

Reparation was the best of the half dozen that ran in the Malone Handicap, and was the 11-to-5 favorite. Consequently the disqualification caused a howl. A. G. Bostwick's Shuffle Along, under top weight of 126 pounds, forced a fast early pace, but he stopped in the stretch to finish third.

Reparation came fast on the stretch turn and got home first with ease, finishing a length in front of Dare Say. Shuffle Along was two lengths back to be third. Through the disqualification James Butler's Bright Steel was moved up to take third money. Dare Say was the second choice at 5 to 2.

The Salubria Stable's five-year-old mare Rock Pocket is enjoying her first outing since the Pimlico meeting, was the winner of the Thurman Handicap for three-year-olds and upward over the mile route.

Priscilla Ruley Scores.

The Belair Stud's game filly Priscilla Ruley took up 114 pounds in the Waterford Purse at a mile, gave weight to her seven opponents and gained a head victory over E. F. Cooney's five-year-old Dunlin. The filly showed the way all through the journey.

Dunlin broke slowly, making up his ground gradually. At the top of the stretch Callahan went to the whip and he closed fast. Maiben, however, was able to get the filly home after a hot stretch duel. D. Raymond's Gold Beater was three lengths back to take the show money from the Glen Riddle Farm's Moon Star. Dunlin was the 6-to-5 favorite, the winner being the second choice at 2 to 1.

Post and Paddock

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Shoshone Stable's two-year-old filly Black Maria ran the six and a half furlongs of the Rogers Purse, the last number on today's card in 1:19 1-5. This is the fastest time the distance has been negotiated in Saratoga. The record on the old track was made in 1894, when Henry of Navarre ran the distance in 1:20 1-5 under 122 pounds. The filly carried 99 pounds. The Rogers was the first time the juveniles have been asked to step more than six furlongs hereabout this season.

Some of the slim bankrolls have been unable to stand the strain and already are headed homeward. Reservations out of Saratoga for Saturday night are as scarce as hens' teeth.

Johnny Maiben was set down for only three days so that he could fill his engagements on the final day. His contract employer, Walter J. Salmon, will have a strong representation in the Hopeful, for which Flight of Time, Ursa Major, Powhatan and others are eligible.

Ambassador IV. was represented by two winners this afternoon—Priscilla Ruley in the third and Peanuts in the stake.

The $5,000 Adirondack Handicap for two-year-olds at six furlongs is tomorrow's stake feature, with Flight of Time top weight at 126 pounds.

The team will comprise the following players: Warren Simmons, C. Simons, A. Hunt, E. Durrant, C. Philpott, D. Camm, E. Swainson, D. Watson, D. Steede, C. Packwood, F. Darrell, W. Brangman and H. Gilbert.

PEARL BENBOE WINS AT NORTH RANDALL

Murphy's $21,000 Mare Beats Marmaduke in Trot for 2:04 Class.

LATTER SETS WORLD MARK

Steps Mile and Eighth in 2:18 2-5—Same Record Equaled by Hollyrood Jessie in 2:14 Event.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25 (AP).—Pearl Benboe, for which Tommy Murphy is reputed to have paid $21,000, won her first race of the year today, taking the 2:04 trot, feature of the Grand Circuit card at North Randall, by winning from Marmaduke. It was the first split heat affair of the season.

Marmaduke won the first heat and in stepping the mile and an eighth in 2:18 2-5 established a new world's trotting record and equaled the pacing time held by Miss Czar Moko. The former trotting record was held by Favonian, which was nosed out by Marmaduke in the initial heat.

The new mark was equaled later in the day when Hollyrood Jessie, winner of the 2:14 trot, took the third heat. The Cox mare also made good time in the other two heats, trotting the three-quarter mile of the first within three-fifths of a second and the seven-eighths in the second within two-fifths of a second of the world's marks.

KILMER MARES SOLD IN SARATOGA RING

Top Price of $6,700 Paid for Affinity—42 Head Bring $82,750 in Final Auction.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The final disposal of the Saratoga sales season took place this evening in the sales paddock of the Fasig-Tipton Company, when miscellaneous consignments came under the hammer. The most important offerings were the brood mares of Willis Sharpe Kilmer and the various lots included in the final disposition of the estate of the late Joseph Marrone.

There were forty-eight head to come to the block, the total realized being $82,750. Top price of the evening was $6,700 for the brood mare Affinity in the Kilmer lot. This thirteen-year-old daughter of imported Star Shoot and Love Note, the dam of Rork, was the object of lively bidding and was finally sold to General James A. Buchanan.

Arthur B. Hancock added to his brood mares by paying $6,000 for the thirteen-year-old Tiara.

E. J. Tranter, agent, bought in the four-year-old mare Margie C. by Fair Play out of Magna Stella, for $6,000.

A weanling bay colt by imported Wrack—Ringling was sold to L. J. Carey for $5,200, this being in the Marrone lot. For the five-year-old mare in the Kilmer consignment, Friary, S. G. Cook paid $5,000. She is by Friar Rock out of imported Adoration II, and is out of a half sister to Tête-à-Tête.

DUXBURY CREW WINS JUNIOR YACHT RACE

Stamford Also Is Victor in Regatta for Massachusetts Title Off Marblehead.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 25.—Crews from the Stamford and Duxbury Yacht Clubs each won a race this afternoon in the finals for the Massachusetts junior yacht championship. The third contender for the Sears Cup, the Pleon Yacht Club of Marblehead, was placed second in the two events. The cup and the championship will go to the crew first winning three races, and tomorrow all three will come out again in the hope of deciding the possession of the bowl for the coming year.

Stamford secured a place in the finals by defeating its Long Island Sound rivals, the Huguenots of New Rochelle, in the third race of their match. The event, sailed this morning in a very light air, was won principally through Stamford's excellent start.

The summaries:

MORNING RACE.

Stamford	1:51:32
Huguenot	1:54:32

FINALS—FIRST RACE.

Stamford	1:51:32
Pleon	1:03:28

BAYSHORE CREW WINS.

Stamford, Bayside and Larchmont Are Eliminated in Midget Series.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 25.—The Stamford, Bayside and Larchmont Yacht clubs were eliminated today in the second day's racing at the Sewanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club for the midget championship of Long Island Sound. After being defeated in the morning race by the Stamford crew the Bayshore Yacht Club representatives, composed of Ralph Lynn, Captain; L. Emory and R. W. Grace, won two straight races in the afternoon.

The Indian Harbor crew, composed of H. Hann, Captain; W. Allen and Kathryn Nichols, however, earned the right to continue in the racing by defeating Bayside.

WIDOW FIRST ACROSS LINE.

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP).—The Widow, owned by Robert H. Moore of New York, today captured the long-distance race for auxiliary yachts over the course on Long Island Sound from Huntington, L. I., to Cornfield Lighthship and return.

The Windward, owned by Captain E. K. Service of Bayside, N. Y., finished second and the Cumberland, owned by T. J. Grimm of Bridgeport, Conn. was third. New England, New Jersey and Pennsylvania yachtsmen were represented among the eighteen entries which started the distance test last Saturday.

Henigan Enters K. of C. Run.

Jimmy Henigan, New England distance star, was the first to file his entry for the 15-mile A. A. U. championship run at the Knights of Columbus meet on the night of Sept. 14 at the Yankee Stadium, it was announced yesterday.

Conners Enters Speed Boat For Gold Cup Race Saturday

Miss Palm Beach, a speed boat owned by W. J. Conners of Buffalo, is the latest entry in the Gold Cup race which is to be decided on Manhasset Bay on Saturday. The Conners boat is said to be very fast and last week won the free-for-all race held at Buffalo. She is entered through the Regatta Circuit Riders Club and will be driven in the big event by W. J. Conners Jr., son of the owner. Miss Tampa, one of the Southern entries in the Gold Cup, reached Manhasset Bay yesterday and was taken out on the course for a trial spin. She is owned by D. P. Davis of Tampa and will fly the flag of the Davis Islands Yacht Club. Her racing pilot will be Dick Locke of Detroit.

CRUISER RACE WON BY KATHERINE R.

Corrected Time Gives Her Victory Over Three Others Which Finish Run From Philadelphia.

TIME PRIZE TO CLARELLA

By SEABURY LAWRENCE.

The advance division of racing motorboats coming here from distant points to see the Gold Cup race on Manhasset Bay on Saturday and also to take part in the cruiser championships arrived yesterday when four boats of the Tri-State Yacht Club of Philadelphia reached the anchorage of the Columbia Yacht Club at Eighty-sixth Street and the Hudson River. The boats had raced up over an ocean course of 240 statute miles for a prize of $1,000 offered by Vice Commodore James H. Kerr of the Tri-State Yacht Club and also for special prizes in the different classes. There were six starters but only four of the boats finished.

Eugenia II, a 36-foot cruiser owned by Dr. Eugene Swayne, one of the slower boats of the quartet, was the first to finish, reaching the Columbia Yacht Club at 8:35 yesterday morning, but as the race was on time allowance the winner was Katherine R., owned by Vice Commodore Kerr which crossed the finish line at 12:09:15 yesterday, the second boat to finish. The third of the racing boats in was Commodore Robert Walber's Josephine, which was timed at 1:42:30.

Two express cruisers started, the Clarella, 48 feet long, owned by J. H. Van Sciver of Philadelphia, and Lucinda, owned by G. G. Roberts. Clarella finished at 3:11:10 after a fine run over the 240-mile course at an average speed of almost 20 miles an hour. Clarella's actual time for the course was 12 hours 21 minutes, after taking out 1 hour and 5 minutes for a stop at Barnegat Inlet to refuel.

Clarella won the time prize, but had to allow the Katherine R. so much time that she missed the $1,000 cash prize. Lucinda, the other express cruiser to start, put in at Atlantic City with engine trouble. The Clarella, which was the scratch boat in the race, is fitted with twin Van Blerck engines, which ran finely on the way up. Those on board with Captain Van Sciver were George Kane, William Jones and Captain Arney Nordahl, the navigator. She left the Tri-State anchorage at 1:52 yesterday morning.

According to the conditions of the race the boats were allowed to pick their own time of starting. As the Eugenia is only a seven-knot boat she made an early start yesterday, getting away from the clubhouse anchorage at 5:17 A. M. Those on board were Dr. Eugene Swayne, the owner; Walter Bell, Walter Biddle and William Kuhn. According to the log kept on the Eugenia the yacht passed Ship John light, in the Delaware, at 10:14 A. M. yesterday; Cape May, 1 P. M.; Atlantic City, 7:04 P. M.; Barnegat, 11:17 P. M.; Navesink, 4:51 and Scotland light vessel at 5:17. The sea was calm during the run northward and the weather clear until early this morning when the racing yachts ran into a fog bank but which was soon blown away by the land breeze.

The corrected times for the race were Katherine R., 11:18:15; Josephine, 12:57:30; Clarella, 13:28:10; Eugenia II, 14:45:00. The Katherine R. was the winner in the class rating over 38, and the Eugenia won in the class rating under 38.

These boats will take part in the express cruiser championships on Long Island Sound.

SEVEN BOATS START FOR CRAIG TROPHY

Motor Cruisers in 250-Mile Ocean Race From Philadelphia to Manhasset Bay.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—Seven boats started today from Essington in the 250-mile chase for the James Craig Cruiser Trophy. They will finish at Manhasset Bay in Long Island Sound tomorrow afternoon. They form the cruising fleet in the annual sanctioned race of the American Power Boat Association, the leading ocean event for power boats in the East.

The Russell brothers' Elizabeth 2d of the Riverside Yacht Club was the first boat to leave, starting from the wharf at Essington at 6:46 this morning. She was followed by the Craig brothers' Salome, at 7:30 o'clock; MacFeeter's Elenor at 8:02; Ballantrae, the property of Robert Roebling of Washington, at 8:17:12; Calumet, at 9:25; Pollard's Quaker Lady, at 10:06, and Wayne M. Barker's Jeanne 2d at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Elisha Webb's Intrepid of the Philadelphia Yacht Club did not start, and was the only entry which failed to get under way in the long chase for the classic trophy.

ABRUPT ENDING OF THE GENTLEMANLY CAMPAIGN.

The announced plan of Tammany and the Democratic leaders was to treat Mayor HYLAN with great respect in this municipal election. Senator WALKER and those who spoke for him were not even to mention the Mayor's name, if they could help it. The idea was to make the campaign one of principles, not personalities, with the perfect flower of courtesy blooming on all sides. But since yesterday's blast from the City Hall it is evident that Mayor HYLAN will not permit himself to be dealt with as a gentleman. Having a long career of political success behind him during which he has freely resorted to abuse and vituperation of all opposed to him, he naturally thinks, or those who inspire his utterances think, that he can win again if he boldly brandishes his old weapons. So he serves notice, in the finest fashion of yellow journalism, that he is going to lay aside kid gloves, that he means to "expose" his enemies, and devote himself to saving the city from the unspeakable monsters of greed and vice who want to get him out of the way so that they may be free to attack and despoil the men, women and children of New York.

Some will see a sort of poetic justice in this reviling of the Tammany leaders and of Governor SMITH by Mayor HYLAN. They have long known the sort of man he is and the disgrace to the city which his Mayoralty has been, yet they have kept silent about him. Now he turns his mud-batteries in their direction. If he has his way, he will make the fight in the Democratic primary a scene of reckless charges and crimination. That he has been badly advised, that his attack on Governor SMITH is inconceivably stupid, all political observers will agree. Even Senator COPELAND, we should imagine, will feel that there is a certain want of tact on the part of the Mayor in inviting him to join the Hylan forces for the purpose of taking the scalp of Governor SMITH!

AN ANTIQUATED PROGRESSIVE.

The younger ROBERT MARION LA FOLLETTE'S first speech in his campaign for his father's place shows that he is a good son. He reiterates substantially the paternal "principles." These came to be somewhat numerous. In the elder man's speeches last year there was often noticeable a curious antiquated flavor. He repeated old cries of outworn agitations. The shrinkage in his Wisconsin vote for President, as compared to that which he received at his last re-election as Senator, seemed to indicate that to many of his followers he already "dated." Since the strong and general repudiation of his "principles" they seem still more far off. Repeated loyalty by his son, they merely raise the question how far Wisconsin will continue to be separate from most of the rest of the country by policies essentially little more than the old declamations of sentimental radicalism. In this contest for his father's unexpired term the son will have the benefit of the strong affection of so many citizens of the State for his father, who so long occupied in it a peculiar place, not to be transmitted or permanently maintained by any other man.

There were signs, even before Senator LA FOLLETTE'S death, of a growing impatience and division among his lieutenants. Presumably there is an arrangement by which Governor BLAINE is to be the candidate against Senator LENROOT next year and Attorney General EKERN is to be his successor. The reading of the will, so to speak, has been preceded by arrangements for the collateral as well as the direct succession. If no man among the so-called progressives can exercise anything like the authority of the dead Senator, on the other hand the regular or conservative Republicans are not conspicuous for wisdom or harmony; and old political habit will still count for much. Wisconsin has gone her own way so long that a sudden change is hardly to be expected. It is admitted that the "real fight" will come in 1926. Of the younger LA FOLLETTE'S catalogue of policies there is nothing to be said. He stands on his father's platform. When the sentiment of the country has been so strongly expressed in favor of scientific tax revision and so many Democrats have seen their mistake in preventing or mutilating it in the last Congress, how ancient and hollow sounds the young man's description of the Administration tax plan as a proposal "to relieve the "multi-millionaires and throw the "burden of taxation upon the workers "and farmers."

So that Federal encroachment upon a natural source of State revenue, the inheritance tax, "must be preserved "not only in order that great wealth "shall bear its share of the cost of "government, but even more in order "that some check may be imposed "upon the growth of colossal fortunes, "many of which are already so great "that they imperil the fundamental "welfare of the nation." And the "war debt shall be paid by taxing "those great fortunes which were "either founded by or increased by the "war. Thus we can, in some measure "at least, make the war profiteers "pay the cost of the war." Is "progressive" Wisconsin still living in 1917? The repeal of the Esch-Cummins act, the enactment of the Howell-Barkley bill, the World Court "as a back door to the League of Nations"—we seem to hear a dead man's voice talking on dead or dying issues. If this sort of thing is natural and filial as well as adapted to the political situation in Wisconsin, it is also a great posthumous compliment to Senator LA FOLLETTE. It implies that Wisconsin will not weary of being ruled by the dead hand. It can hardly be expected that political actualities will long conform to this pious commemorative ardor.

FEDERAL AID TO AVIATION.

It is of good omen for commercial aviation that President COOLIDGE is displaying an interest in it. Senator BINGHAM of Connecticut is not the first member of Congress to discuss with the President aeronautical regulation and expansion in order to put the United States on a level with nations like Great Britain, France and Germany. But Mr. BINGHAM has a mastery of the subject reinforced by enthusiasm. Hitherto Congress has failed to pass any of the bills designed to promote commercial aviation. Twice the Senate has approved measures providing for an air bureau under the control of the Department of Commerce, but the House has failed to take them seriously.

When Congress meets again it will be shown that something like a boom in commercial aviation is on. Lately the National Air Transportation Company has been formed, also the Airways Corporation. HENRY FORD has his own service between Detroit and Chicago. Another linking Chicago with New York is projected. With very little encouragement, private companies would undertake to carry the mails between large cities. There are signs that capital would flow into aviation enterprises if Congress were to lend a hand. How it could be done Senator BINGHAM has explained to the President, as others have done before him. Major Gen. MASON M. PATRICK, Chief of the Army Air Service, told the Chicago Association of Commerce early in June:

> The Federal Government must map air routes, and must speedily enact legislation for the air. Flying must be Federally controlled, as navigation is. Planes must be inspected and pilots licensed.

That was the case in a nutshell. Senator BINGHAM developed it in his talk with Mr. COOLIDGE at Swampscott. The Senator did not urge a direct subsidy. Instead, he showed how the Government could stimulate aviation by doing for air navigation what it does by providing channels, port facilities and supervisory regulation for ocean navigation. The country is familiar with Federal aid in road-making. Legitimately the principle could be applied to laying down routes for aircraft, constructing air fields and setting up signals, signs and beacons. No private company can well afford to do these things, but once they were provided, transportation companies would spring up and capital would be found for freight and passenger services. States and cities would doubtless cooperate.

All that commercial aviation asks of Congress is that it sanction Government supervision to make flying safe by licensing and inspection, that it take the lead in mapping air routes and providing pioneer aerodromes at central points, and that it generally regulate the operation of airplanes. The Winslow bill, laid on the shelf like its predecessors, pointed the way. It should always be considered that the United States with a commercial air fleet suited to its needs and keeping pace with its growth would be safe from invasion. This subject of incalculable importance to the country will be brought to the attention of Congress when it meets in December.

THE BAGGAGE-TRANSFER STRIKE.

No one would think of comparing in seriousness the strike of the employes of the baggage-transfer companies in this city with the anthracite strike, if it comes, yet the two have a common spring of action. It is to inconvenience the public so extremely as to bring about, if possible, yielding to the demands of the strikers. The real victim is always the innocent and unrepresented third party. What is evidently the purpose of the strikers is to capitalize, as it were, their "nuisance value." The baggage-handlers' strike was timed so as to inflict the largest amount of discomfort and even suffering upon travelers. Summer vacations are everywhere ending; Labor Day is approaching with its usual high tide of travel; precisely the strategic moment, so the men evidently thought, for them to strike.

That their action is highly inconsiderate, even from their own point of view, it is pretty certain that the next few days will demonstrate. They can annoy the public, but they cannot, in this matter of baggage, leave it helpless. Already various forms of substitution service are being used, and they can be multiplied as the need requires. The strikers can hardly have realized how swiftly taxis could be mobilized to do their work. The railroads will do everything in their power to facilitate the sending of baggage by unusual routes. Moreover, the habit of getting along with fewer trunks and depending more upon suitcases, which porters can carry and which can easily be stowed away in a cab, has been growing and will rapidly extend if the strike continues. The whole transfer business, as the companies stand ready to demonstrate from their books to the Public Service Commission, is in a precarious condition. The employes who have now undertaken further to impair it are really working against their own interest as well as against the public.

Such vexatious strikes call attention once more to the lack of authority by law to deal with them. Whenever they gravely affect the public interest, as in the case of the last soft-coal strike, commissions investigate and recommend legislation, but, once the strike is over, the State Legislatures and Congress are not disposed to do anything. Last year the Coal Commission strongly urged that the President be given new powers in case of another emergency in the mining industry. Congress ignored the report. But leaders of organized labor must perceive that if they do not prevent, by reasonable agreements or by resort to arbitration, the infliction of such extreme penalties upon the public, the public will irresistibly demand that statutes be enacted to prevent it. No law can take away from an individual the right to strike, but there are ways already existent in other countries, and will yet be employed here if the mischief is not abated, of protecting the people from strikes suddenly called with an entire refusal to arbitrate the matters in dispute.

COMMUNIST COMPROMISES.

Removal of some of the disqualifications imposed on Russian technicians and experts has been recommended by the Central Executive Committee of the Communist Party, the real Government of Russia. This is a step in the spirit of LENIN, who admitted, in the early years of the Bolshevist régime and with characteristic bluntness, that the Government must be prepared to pay "blackmail" to the experts until such time as communism had developed its own. But whereas he conceived blackmail in the form of large salaries, the latest innovation has gone further. It recognizes that large monetary rewards will not always compensate the "bourgeois" specialist for the deprivation of all civil rights. Especially irksome have been the restrictions on educational facilities for children of the middle classes. In 1923 the high schools and universities were subjected to a severe "purgation." Students of bourgeois origin were expelled in large numbers on the ground that existing educational facilities were overtaxed and the first claim belonged to children of the proletariat. It is now announced that children of bourgeois specialists are to be admitted to all branches of the educational system. Relief from the special taxes imposed on "non-producers" is also promised.

How to lift industrial efficiency from its present level of about 40 per cent. of pre-war conditions has long been a pressing problem at Moscow. It was one of the issues on which war broke out between the ruling triumvirate and TROTSKY, who was not unwilling to transfer his high organizing abilities from the Red Army to Government industries. The clumsy grinding of the wheels of factory production has been felt alike in bad harvest years and in years of comparative agricultural prosperity like the present season. When the peasant was poor, as he was in 1923, the high cost of industrial products sent commodity prices far above his reach. When the peasant is better off the low productivity of the Government factories is unable to cope with the demand for goods. That is why the Soviet régime is making advances to the "bourgeois" specialist. His expert services have been found indispensable until that theoretical time when the proletarian masses have learned to produce, just as LENIN told his followers seven years ago that they must learn "to trade."

Whatever be the motive, we have here another compromise between Communist theory and practical necessity. The supposedly basic tenet of communism—the rejection of the wage system—was abandoned for the peasant, who was permitted to hire all the labor he required. The same right was also conceded to private manufacturers, who are not permitted, however, to employ more than a hundred workers. Big industry—mines, metals, textiles, railways—are still in Government hands. That is supposed to be the citadel in which communism stands on guard. In other words, a permanent guarantee for economic or social policy is still wanting. What the Central Executive Committee of the Communist Party concedes by resolution and decree it can cancel in the same manner.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

That the Board of Education should have delayed so long in taking action relative to the increase of the salaries of teachers and then should have suddenly recommended a lump sum, without specification of schedules, prompts suspicion that its report was presented at this particular moment and in this form for political reasons. Since the lump sum is based, as stated, on the schedule of increases "worked out during the last year" by the Board of Superintendents, that information should have been available at least to all the members of the board; but Mr. SOMERS states that he had not a single line to indicate how the amount named was to be spent. It would have been a more business-like way to have determined first the amount of increase for each group of teachers and thus have reached the total necessary for the several groups. It looks as if the board was but hastening to make some show of doing at the last minute what should have been done long since, and of doing it in a way to postpone discussion of the details until after a certain political crisis has been passed.

However that may be, a proposal of increase is a step in the right direction. That the board has taken the advice of the Board of Superintendents is as it should be, though the Chicago procedure was even better. There the Superintendent, before making to the board his recommendation of increases, gathered about him a committee of a hundred citizens, including some teachers with experience in financial matters. What was done there was not upon the teachers' initiative but upon the recommendation primarily of those responsible for the administration of the schools. And it is to be noted that the maximum salaries adopted in 1925 are, except for one group, higher than the maximum salaries in New York. It is not likely that the total amount recommended by the New York Board of Education for increased salaries would provide for such increases as the Chicago board has already made. Our salaries would still probably be below their maxima, though higher than in the other larger cities of America.

The Board of Estimate will scrutinize this request, and ultimately the schedules down to the salary of the last kindergartner will be analyzed. The State has fixed the present schedules. Below these the city cannot go. But, as Governor SMITH pointed out in vetoing the Ricca bill, it is for the people of this school district to make such increases as they deem best for the good of the schools. If the people do not do this, the teachers will be under the unhappy necessity of going to Albany to ask increases. Whatever can be done for the teachers, and so for the children in the schools, should be done by the city. President RYAN, in his comment upon the action of the board, seems to put the needs of the teachers after the buildings. The teachers must, however, be always the prime factor in any school provision. It is to be hoped that the action taken at Fifty-ninth Street is something more than a City Hall gesture.

GAME-BIRDS PLENTIFUL.

Instructive light on the discussion of the relation between the supply of migratory game-birds and the bag limits is to be found in the summary of Federal, State and Canadian game laws just published by the Department of Agriculture. An investigation of the migratory wild-fowl situation by personal conference and by correspondence covering the entire United States was made by the Biological Survey during the second half of 1924 and the first half of 1925.

Information on the subject was received from thousands of people. The reports indicate that wild fowl are present in enormous numbers in the greater part of the country, many reports stating that there have been unprecedented flights of birds. In some other areas from which a scarcity of birds is reported the cause appeared to be shortage of food or water.

This does not represent the views of one man, but of thousands throughout the country. It indicates clearly that, for the present at least, the destruction of game-birds is not excessive. To be sure, conditions are no longer as they were when the wilderness was king. A Minnesotan writing to The Herald Tribune describes the plentiful game-birds in that State forty years ago and blames hunters for the decrease in the supply. In so doing he has overlooked the changed conditions of the territory. Where once were woods are now farms. Many lakes have been drained, and others which in the '80s were deserted are peopled by campers. His letter unwittingly emphasizes one of the conclusions to be drawn from the Department of Agriculture's survey—that there is great need of assuring adequate feeding and resting grounds for migratory water-fowl throughout the land. In the opinion of the Biological Survey the continued drainage of water areas seriously threatens our future supply of birds. That cannot be said of hunting under the existing game laws.

The Federal statutes set maximum bag limits. The summary of State laws shows that a number of States have considered these to be too high for the best local interests. Kansas, Nevada, South Dakota and Minnesota, for example, materially reduced the daily bag limit on ducks last year. Nevada also cut down the days of the week on which shooting was legal. West Virginia shortened the open season. Despite these restrictions, however, the Biological Survey has not felt called upon to order a general reduction of shooting throughout the country.

On the problem of the restrictive powers of the States and the Federal Government in the matter of seasons and bag limits there is still much difference of opinion. In theory, the migratory character of water-fowl would seem to call for a uniform season. In fact, much depends on the local water and feeding conditions. The birds are well protected in their Southern breeding grounds. They make the northward flight free from molestation save by poachers. Their Summer in the upper Canadian waters is comparatively safe. Only on the autumnal journey South must they face the hunters. At all times, however, they are in need of food and water. It stands to reason, therefore, that the drainage of water on important migration routes may do serious harm.

Also, lack of water in some of the Western States over which big flights occur makes it incumbent on the local authorities to see that the birds are afforded more than usual protection from hunters. The country may rest assured that the Biological Survey, whose record of service in protecting the nation's game is unexceptionable, will reduce the nation-wide bag limits or cut the open seasons as soon as their reports show the necessity in order to prevent the diminution of the present supply of game-birds.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

His Logic Has a Slight Limp.

Mr. MORRIS HILLQUIT, one of the American delegates to the International Socialist Congress at Marseilles, has made an impassioned attack on American isolation from European affairs, which it would be easier to endorse if the speaker had been content to state his position without giving reasons. He argues that in turning their attention from Europe to Latin America and the Far East Americans have succumbed to fatty degeneration of the higher impulses and have gone imperialist. Thus Mexico is now "the prisoner of American capitalists," and in the Far East the same capitalists are moving toward war with Japan.

It may seem ungrateful to reject Mr. HILLQUIT'S explanation of our wickedness as due entirely to environment. In Mexico and Asia our lower impulses come to the surface. In Europe we should be revealing our better self. But science nowadays is inclined to stress innate procivities at least as strongly as environment. If we are imperialistic in Latin America and the Far East the chances are that we should be imperialistic in Europe as well. That would seem to be admitted in Mr. Hillquit's general theorem that Capitalism is war and Socialism is peace.

The facts to support that dictum do not quite leap to the eye. If we look back to the origins of the World War, Socialism does not impress one as having operated in the nature of a brake on the war instincts. Whether the chief responsibility for the war is to be attributed to Germany, as the majority of men believe, or to France, as the new fashion would have it in certain quarters, Socialism makes a bad showing. For Germany and France had the two most powerful Socialist parties in Europe when the war broke out. Nor is the ultra-Socialism which goes by the name of Communism exactly to be regarded as a factor for peace in the world today. The purpose of the Third International to bring about world revolution is openly and unceasingly avowed.

A Vexation of All Cities.

Following the "Brighter London" movement comes one to make London quicker. The arrival here of Sir HENRY MAYBURY, Director General of Highways in England and Chairman of the London Traffic Committee, indicates the keen interest which now exists in the British metropolis in transportation problems much akin to those that afflict New York. Sundry "complimentary reports" on the handling of traffic here reached Sir HENRY, who came over to secure what hints he could from Manhattan.

In England the matter has become a national as well as a local responsibility. Parliament passed the London Traffic act, under which the Minister of Transport, assisted by an expert Advisory Committee, is now responsible for the control and regulation of city traffic within an area covering a radius of twenty-five miles from Charing Cross.

The chief improvement thus far shown follows a reorganization of motor bus routes and numbers. Formerly buses clogged the thoroughfares at the most remunerative traffic hours and impeded rather than helped the home-going crowds. By restricting the number of buses and increasing the number of routes the average bus speed today has increased a mile an hour over last year. Another gain lies in the effort to coordinate street repair work. The act requires that all water, gas and other similar work which involves the closing of a street to traffic must be carried on at the same time that that particular street is up for road repairs, except in cases of extreme emergency.

Sir HENRY estimates that a population of 9,000,000 lives within a twenty-mile radius of the heart of London. A large part of this population lives in the suburbs, and the problem there, as here, lies in bringing the working millions into the city in the morning and back to their homes at night. Sir HENRY himself pins his faith to the bus, which carries annually 103,000,000 Londoners who don't use the underground or surface cars. In fact, he considers the trolley "obsolete."

A Defense Is Needed.

The old contest between guns and armor seems to be on the point of being transferred to the industrial and business world. In this case the defense required is against the armor-piercing shells of the assailant trained in the modern methods of salesmanship. As Mr. CLARENCE DARROW recently pointed out, the art of selling to a person unwilling to buy has become so highly developed that resistance is more and more difficult.

Commenting on this peril of the unprotected citizen in an office which is not his castle, a whimsical writer in The Commonweal suggests the foundation of a new society. It is to be called for short the P. P. A., which, being interpreted, means the "Prospects Protective Association." Its great object is to instruct and fortify people against the wiles of salesmen. It will have a distinctive badge which, worn on the coat, will of itself be a warning to the invading experts. In order to attain its objects it will set up disciplinary courses. One of them will occupy twelve months in strengthening the will power so as to be able to say "No," mean it and stick to it.

In fact, the plan is to devise some form of defense, or counter-attack, against every attack of the insidious salesman. As he is taught to "concentrate," so his prospective victim will be instructed in "dispersing the selling attack." There will also be ingenious recipes showing how to "de-pep" the peppiest seller who succeeds in intruding. The scheme in general is to cultivate a "stiffening resistance" all over the country, through which the hardiest salesman will find it difficult to break.

Just as the writer in The Commonweal had reached this point in unfolding his project he was called out of the room. When he came back he was asked what had happened. He said it was an agent who had been after him for a week with a new edition of the "Anatomy of Melancholy." Did he buy? For reply he simply groaned and took off his P. P. A. badge.

More Initials to Be Learned.

Speaking of mysterious initial letters to indicate an organization, the French are all the while adding to the list. We have long been accustomed to their C. G. T. and their R. P., but now the thing is entering the fields of art and literature. For example, there was recently an account in The Figaro of a dinner of the C. A. S. A. Looking down the columns to find the key, one discovers that the society in question was the "Club des Amis du Septième Art." That term was found inconveniently long and so it was abbreviated into "Casa."

This puzzle solved, another one immediately presents itself in the form of an allusion to the C. C. F. Investigation reveals that this is the designation of the "Ciné-Club de France." One notes with interest that at its last meeting the principal address was in warm denunciation of the censorship of motion pictures. They do not always order these things better in France.

Interest in City Museum.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will you please accept the thanks of the museum for the nice article which appeared in your supplement in yesterday's issue? It apparently was widely read, as the visitors today were very numerous.

The objections to our present building on account of its non-fireproof qualities would disappear if we were to acquire the Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth Avenue as a new site. Perhaps the people of this great city might feel like making Father Knickerbocker a present of this building for the 300th birthday, which occurs next year. It would be a fitting home in which to preserve the annals and records of this most marvelous city.

INDIAN BASKETS.

One somehow thinks of osiers by a creek,
Of willow branches drooping to a stream,
And lilies on the lazy current dream.

Where some old chief will whet a deadly knife,
Filling rude creels with limber cuttings green.
Visions will rise of tent and prairie life,
Of tribal feuds and rival forays keen.

The scroll unfolds, of squaws who pound the maize,
Papooses lightly clad who run in play,
Canoes on limpid lakes through Summer days,
Fierce loves and hates, in old traditions' way.

She drove her used car down the mountain trail,
Her smart print frock excites admiring stares.

Bobbed hair, bone glasses, choker beads and all,
We note, as sweet-grass novelties she shows.
Her college years we hear the dame recall
To one who of her girlhood hist'ry knows.

Kate Greenaway ed and Peter Panned to date
Her dark-eyed children, slow to speak or smile;
Their father is a guide well known up-State.
We buy a basket—thinking much the while!

OTHER SIDE OF PORTO RICO.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to an article by Helen Tooker, entitled "Porto Rico Spills Over With People," published in THE NEW YORK TIMES Magazine of Aug. 2, allow me to say that it was entertainingly written, but she does not cover all the facts. It seems to me that she looked at only one class of Porto Ricans, and failed to relate some things that are worth knowing about the other class of people there.

Miss Tooker states that the women slop around in dresses that were once bright colored but are now gray and dirty. Would she expect to see the New York women who work in factories going about in bright, dainty dresses while working? And would these factory women and men be considered an example of the other class of men and women working in banks and other lines of business, where they have to be neatly dressed?

In regard to the meals, take into consideration that Porto Rico has a tropical climate and that the Porto Rican peon does not need as many meals as the American laborer. As to diseases, Porto Rico has a wonderful climate, having been called by our late President Theodore Roosevelt the "Switzerland of the West Indies," and it is not possible to find more diseases there than would be noted in the United States or any other country in the world.

Referring to the New York factory personnel manager who classes Porto Ricans as "colored," he should have borne in mind that Porto Rico has a tropical climate, where the sun is hotter than in the southern part of the United States, and it is logical that anybody living for a time under this burning sun would quickly develop a dark complexion even though in his veins the real Caucasian blood is flowing.

Miss Tooker probably overlooked the great number of public schools throughout the island in proportion to the population. I doubt if there is any other country of its size in the world where you can find more ambitious professional men and women than in Porto Rico.

In 1917 the writer arrived in this big port of ours, New York, where the great Statue of Liberty is located, without even $5 in his pocket, and not equipped with a good command of the English language, but today—without boasting—he can say that he is a college graduate, a licensed pharmacist in the State of New York and in Porto Rico, and also a law student, being barely 24 years of age. I am only an average example of the hundreds of Porto Rican young men and women who are working their way through the professions. Are we not entitled to mention in an article such as that under the caption "Porto Rico Spills Over With People"?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Reading, as I did, your article in yesterday's NEW YORK TIMES headed "Preventorium Seeks Funds for Children," I hasten to enclose herewith my personal check for $100, which I will ask you to kindly transmit to the proper authorities in charge of the Tuberculosis Preventorium for Children.

It is my sincere belief that all parents who have hale, healthy and hearty children ought to manifest their appreciation of same by giving others who are less fortunate an opportunity to share in the goodliness of this hectic universe.

Furthermore, you illustrate your usefulness as "a newspaper with a soul" in the publishing of an article of this kind, in connection with the Neediest Cases and other activities you assist.

A Reminiscence of Mr. Lawson.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

To one who has been a journalist, or near-journalist, for forty-five years, it is gratifying to read such praises of an operator in the newspaper calling as have followed the death of Victor Lawson. Evidently when there is a really good newspaper man his labors do not necessarily fall of appreciation.

Mr. Lawson was my classmate at Phillips Academy, Andover, graduating from that seminary in 1872. He was then 21 years old, four or five years older than most of the boys in the class. His roommate and chief companion there was a man named Nicoll, of about his age, both, as said, more mature and much more sophisticated than most of us. I remember that they were conscious of the presence in the world of Thomas Carlyle and knew what it meant.

But what I remember best about Lawson, besides that he was intelligent and good-looking and wore the clothes and enjoyed the shelter and food of a person in comfortable circumstances, was the episode of the cushions in the seminary chapel. For we went to church on Sunday morning at the chapel of the Theological Seminary and sat good and long under the discourses of reverend men chosen especially to edify the theologs, and there were no cushions on the seats.

Behold Lawson's concern for the public welfare already active so early in life! He organized a conspiracy among our classmates to modify the discipline of church attendance by making the seats softer. The hat was passed. Cushions to fit the seats assigned our class were ordered made and shipped to Lawson's room in the old Stowe House. Then, at night, three or four of us, including him, carried them darkly to the chapel, opened a window, put them in, and on the seats that they were meant for, and then modestly withdrew.

As I remember, it was an entirely successful enterprise. The cushions stayed put. Nobody was brought to justice, and I think in the end the rest of the chapel seats were similarly furnished.

I have only seen Lawson once or twice since those days, but have had abundant notice this long time of what he was doing in this world. EDWARD S. MARTIN.

Riches in a Little Room.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

You set forth one of the reasons why profits are waning so far as the baggage-transfer companies are concerned. The wonder is that they set any trunks to handle at all. The modern woman does not require any trunk when she goes on vacation. She can pack all the clothes she needs in a small handbag. Her bathing suit is no larger than a two-dollar bill and so compact that it fits into her purse along with her expense money.

In those rare cases where there is any excess the parcel post serves every purpose, going and coming.

Indeed, the day of the trunk is a thing of the past and a "strike" under present conditions does not worry the modern woman; the less she wears the better she likes it; give her a lace curtain and she will manage the rest.

SEEK TO SIMPLIFY YALE STUDENT LIFE

Special Committee Will Offer a Solution for Athletics and Extra-Curriculum Activities.

ANGELL POINTS OUT NEEDS

Law School Enrolment Will Be Limited—New Income or a Reduced Budget to Be the Alternative.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 25.—Specific suggestions for changes in Yale's athletic policy which will abolish some of the evils of extravagance and absorption of the time and energies of the undergraduates are promised by President James Rowland Angell in his annual report, which has been sent out to the alumni. He says that the special committee which was appointed several months ago is studying conditions and that its report will relieve the situation.

Dr. Angell thinks that it should be wholly possible to simplify the present situation without any loss to the students of the value of the social and athletic activities themselves. In outlining the possibility of relieving the situation he says:

"This applies to the needless requirements of the competitions, to the amazing system of 'rushing' for fraternities, to the elaborate and costly social entertainments, and to the schedules of intercollegiate contests of various kinds. The student participating in some one of the various organized activities should have control of enough time to do scholarly work if he wishes. He should at least have the same opportunity to give devoted service to his intellectual training as he does to undertakings outside the classroom."

Already athletic expenditures at Yale have been radically cut down through agreements with Princeton and Harvard covering the limitations of coaches' salaries, curtailing the football season, and other expenditures for athletic plants.

Dr. Angell says, in summing up the present athletic system:

"Whatever may have been the origin of the system, the present purpose of employing coaches is not merely to win intercollegiate contests, as is often believed in outside circles. It is quite as truly to teach students, and as many as possible, how to play the various games, just as coaches are necessary to aid the students in dramatics, in debating and in musical activities. The real significance of these efforts is not in this or that victory but in the fact that each year there are no less than 2,576 registrations in the undergraduate departments of men taking part in these physical activities with the advantage of the supervision and aid of the coaching staff."

President Angell says that the Faculty committee that have studied the question of a possible segregation of classes in separate dormitories are inclined to think that such a policy is not wise. The question of distribution, however, has been left open, but, "as new dormitories are erected near the new university centre, the problem of assignment by classes and schools may be readily adjusted with the view to leaving a measure of intermingling either by entries or individual rooms." He quotes statistics which show that only 31 per cent. of the members of the Sheffield Scientific School are housed in dormitories and that the dormitory system must be extended for that department. Two new dormitories for the academic department students and freshmen will be erected at once, he announced, from funds at hand.

Law School Numbers to Be Limited.

A limitation of the numbers of the students in the law school is planned. Dr. Angell says that a committee is now at work on the best means for accomplishing the change, that the school has pressing needs, which include an entirely new group of buildings, which will embrace residence halls and a commons, grouped around a quadrangle in close conjunction with a building containing the library and lecture halls. He adds:

"If this quadrangle could be erected and brought into close proximity to the new Sterling Memorial Library, as is quite practicable, it would permit the creation of an atmosphere from which the entire work of the school would benefit."

He calls for the creation of several fellowcrafts for the encouragement of the highest type of legal scholarship, which, with a reasonable provision for scholarship funds, will assure that no man of outstanding promise will be barred by economic pressure from enjoying the privileges and opportunities of the school.

It was announced that the new telescope, which was prepared by Dr. Frank Schlesinger of the astronomical laboratory and taken to the Southern Hemisphere, will probably be located in South Africa, instead of New Zealand, as was originally planned. This is the first to be available for a study of the southern skies. On Dr. Schlesinger's return he will resume a course in astronomy to the upper classmen of the academic and scientific students. The influence of the solar eclipse of last Winter has been noted in a large increase in the number of students electing the course.

The work in Italian in the department of romance languages will be developed. Dr. Angelo Lipari has been brought from the University of Wisconsin to undertake it. The appointments of Dr. Edgar S. Furniss to the Peletiah Perit Professorship of Political Science and of Edward Raymond Turner to the Professorship of English History were announced.

Income and Budget Outlook.

In summing up the general university situation Dr. Angell says:

"Despite the fact that the university has undertaken no new enterprises unless special gifts have been made to carry them, and no new buildings have been accepted unless accompanied by adequate funds for maintenance, income from endowments is not keeping pace with the increase in the annual budget. During the last six years the budget has somewhat more than doubled, whereas income from endowment has risen only about 70 per cent. The balance has had to come from larger tuition income, provided by increased student numbers, and from gifts from the alumni fund, upon which we have felt we ought to make less demand than we did a year ago.

"The time has now come when we must face the facts and decide which of various courses we shall pursue. An educational institution has no more moral right than a private individual to live outside its means, and while we have more than kept pace with our expenditures, we have in many points been seriously handicapped for lack of funds and have been obliged to rely upon the income from the alumni fund to a degree which the officers of the university regard as inadvisable. To deal with this situation we may, first, seek additional endowments; second, increase our tuition charges; third, appeal to our alumni for larger annual gifts to the alumni fund; or, fourth, materially reduce our scale of expenditure, which could be brought about by reducing our salary scales and dismissing certain of our teachers. It is hardly necessary to say that no one adequately informed of the services which Yale renders and of the extraordinary opportunities before her could look with any satisfaction upon a drastic curtailment of her program, nor indeed could there be greater satisfaction felt if she were simply to mark time and make no effort to improve her present procedure.

"Unless one of these alternatives be adopted, however, we must look to methods of increasing our income by some one of the devices mentioned, or possibly a combination of them. Alumni and friends of the institution should clearly understand that Yale's position is not unique in this respect."

MISS HENNESSY WEDS D. E. CRAIK

BROTHER GIVES AWAY BRIDE

Miss Aileen Parker Is Married to Albert R. Van Cortland Warrington.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Hennessy, daughter of Mrs. Daniel J. Hennessy of 903 Park Avenue, formerly of Butte, Mont., to Douglas Elliot Craik, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Craik of London, took place yesterday afternoon at Sherry's. The ceremony was private, being attended only by relatives and a few intimate friends, but it was followed by a large reception. The wedding was set originally for Easter Monday, but was postponed owing to the illness of the bride's brother.

The bride's brother, Daniel John Hennessy, gave his sister in marriage. She wore a gown of white satin trimmed with pearls and a long tulle veil. She also wore the string of pearls which her father started to collect for her when she was born, and she carried white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Edythe McCoon, whose engagement to Ernest Alan Coles was recently announced, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue chiffon and silver lace with a hat to match. Mrs. William John Warburton and Miss Helen Marye were the other attendants. They wore gowns of mauve chiffon trimmed with silver lace and mauve chiffon hats.

Cecil D. Reversbach was best man. The ushers were Paul Kirby Hennessy, another brother of the bride; Richard Knight, B. M. Jackson and Captain F. R. Hardie of the British Royal Flying Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Craik are sailing this morning on the Berengaria for Europe to visit his parents. They expect to be abroad for a year before returning to make their home in New York. The bride, who is a member of the Junior League, has taken an active part in the amateur theatricals of that organization. She made her début in 1919. Mr. Craik served during the war with the Royal Artillery.

Warrington—Parker.

The wedding of Miss Aileen Ellewood Parker to Albert Russell Van Cortland Warrington of Albany Road, Schenectady, N. Y., took place at 12:30 o'clock yesterday in Trinity Chapel, New York City. The Rev. Alfred William Treen performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and friends. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Captain Walker H. Parker, commander of the Ohio of the Royal Mail Steamship Company, which reached New York on Monday, bringing the bride to this country. The Parker home is at Dene Croft, Woking, England. The bride wore a gown of blue crepe with a hat to match. Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at India House.

Gill—Platt.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Platt, daughter of E. R. Platt of Northampton, England, to Arthur Gill, captain of the cricket team of the Crescent Athletic Club, took place yesterday at noon in St. Phillip's Church, Bay Ridge. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Fattie, and was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Crescent Athletic Club. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gill of Northampton, England.

BANKER IS 103 YEARS OLD.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Aug. 25.—John A. Stewart, said to be the oldest banker in this country, if not in the world, will celebrate the 103d anniversary of his birth at his home here at Glen Road and Madison Avenue tomorrow. The celebration will be quiet, with only a few friends visiting and perhaps a birthday cake.

Mr. Stewart continues to display the health and strength that distinguished him during his active business career, from which he retired only four years ago. His wife, who is somewhat younger, said his favorite diversion was a daily tour in an automobile.

Mr. Stewart was employed by the Erie Railroad in the early '40s and later became connected with the New York Life Insurance Company. In 1853 he organized the United States Trust Company and served as President from that time until 1902, except during the period of the Civil War when he was an Assistant Treasurer of the United States.

He is said to be the oldest living graduate of Columbia University and the oldest trustee of Princeton. He was President pro tem of the latter institution between the time Woodrow Wilson left and Dr. Hibben was appointed.

PLAY FOR KING AND QUEEN.

Yale and Princeton Banjoists Provide Royal Dance Music.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, Aug. 25.—An intercollegiate jazz band, composed of students of Yale and Princeton Universities, yesterday played for the ball at the royal palace at Santander, given to 200 guests by the King and Queen. Both monarchs signed their autographs on the students' banjos.

Among the American guests were Ambassador Moore, Mrs. Mildred Martin and Mrs. Mildred Wendt of New York.

The collegiate musicians also gave a concert at the Hotel Real, Santander, in the afternoon for the benefit of the Spanish Red Cross anti-tuberculosis drive, which was presided over by Queen Victoria Eugenia.

MRS. BRYAN FOR MEMORIAL.

Favors Josephus Daniels to Head Move to Honor Husband.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 25.—The selection of Josephus Daniels as the leader of any movement for a national memorial to William Jennings Bryan is heartily approved by the widow of the Commoner, who is "deeply touched by the evident desire of the American people to honor her husband," Mrs. Bryan declared today in a statement to The Associated Press. Such a memorial would naturally find place in Washington, Mrs. Bryan said.

Mrs. Bryan believed that Dayton, Tenn., was the place for the location of any school designed to give instruction along the lines Mr. Bryan wished.

The Nebraska memorial is taking the form of developing to completion the old hospital which is to stand upon the grounds of the Bryans' former home, "Fairview," near Lincoln, donated for that purpose, Mrs. Bryan said.

Hembaw Jr. of Watertown, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Jackson A. Dyk man of White Acre, Glen Cove, L. I., and Miss Mary Brown Warburton of Philadelphia.

Southampton.

Society women will become Arabian Nights' characters and Haroun Al-Raschid will once more walk the streets of Bagdad when "Cheer-e-e-o," the amateur musical revue for the benefit of the Southampton Hospital, is put on here on Saturday. The Arabian Nights' pageant will be the opening number of the production.

Southampton society is busy preparing for "Cheer-e-e-o." This is the first time in several years that the cast of the hospital benefit show has been recruited entirely from Southampton and neighboring towns. Rehearsals and committee meetings are this week taking the place of the usual round of Summer gayeties.

Miss Ailsa Mellon, daughter of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, will have a leading part in the colorful Arabian Nights' pageant, taking the rôle of Dinazade, the lady of beauty. Mrs. Lucius Robinson will appear as Scheherezade, Mrs. Edward F. Hutton as the beautiful Queen Gulinare and Mrs. Thomas M. Carnegie Jr. as the Princess Kashmiri.

Other members of the Summer colony who will appear in the pageant are Mrs. Goodhue Livingston Jr., Mrs. C. P. Downey Jr., Mrs. Charles A. Blackwell, Mrs. Shepard Krech and Mrs. Charles H. Higgins.

Among the men, Lawrence M. Miller will be cast as Abdullah, the Grand Vizer; Harry Curtis as Haroun Al-Raschid, the beloved ruler, and Frederick Weicker as Rama the giant, the Prince of Persia.

Specialty dances and chorus numbers will have a twentieth century touch, including a dance of the flappers, a tango, a Charleston, a children's dance, a totem pole dance, a golf dance, a slave dance by young married women of the Summer colony and a Raggedy Ann dance. Most of these dance numbers will be performed by children and members of the younger set.

The list of box holders for the show has been announced by the Executive Committee, headed by Mrs. Lawrence M. Miller, and includes for the afternoon performance: Mrs. Edward P. Mellon, Mrs. Charles H. Mellon, Mrs. C. Nicoll, Mrs. J. E. Cowdin, Mrs. Frederick C. Perkins and Mrs. L. M. Miller. At the evening performance, which will begin at 9:15, because of the many dinner parties scheduled for Saturday night, the box holders will be Mrs. Nicholas M. Butler, Mrs. Eugene G. Grace, Mrs. Delancey Nicoll, Mrs. Arthur Claflin, Mrs. P. A. Valentine, Mrs. C. T. Richardson, Mrs. Hermann Dierks, Mrs. A. W. Krech, Mrs. Thomas L. Chadbourne, Mrs. George B. French, Mrs. Leland Gardner, Mrs. William A. Barstow, Mrs. P. H. Stewart, Mrs. Adrian H. Larkin, Mrs. Anson M. Beard, Mrs. L. D. Irving, Dr. Harold S. Vaughan, Dr. Joseph Wheelwright, Kenneth O'Brien and Arthur Young. Nearly all the $10 seats, as well as the boxes, have already been sold.

Mrs. W. R. K. Taylor, who has been spending the Summer at the Irving, gave a dinner at the Meadow Club last evening.

A song recital for the benefit of the Rogers Memorial Library will be given tomorrow evening in the Memorial Hall on Herrick Road. Edward Swain will be the soloist and will be accompanied at the piano by Ralph Douglass.

Mrs. Charles T. Barney and Mrs. William A. Barstow will entertain dinner parties at the Meadow Club this evening.

Mrs. Francis Newton will give a tea and dance for fifty this afternoon at her home in Easthampton.

Entries were completed yesterday for the horse show to be given on Sept. 4 for the benefit of the Easthampton Retirement House and the Easthampton Gun Club. The show will take place at the riding club on Amagansett Road. There will be fourteen classes and four awards will be made in each class.

Mrs. Reginald Fincke will give a dinner at her home on Saturday evening, later taking her guests to the performance of "Cheer-e-e-o."

C. F. CHANDLER DIES IN HARTFORD AT 88

WAS A LEADING CHEMIST

Brought About Many Reforms During His Regime—An Educator of Note.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 25.—Charles Frederick Chandler, former President of the Health Department of New York City, educator and a leading industrial chemist, died this evening in the Hartford Hospital from nephritis. He had been critically ill only five days and came to the hospital on Aug. 20 from his Summer home in New Hartford. He was 88 years old.

As President of the Health Department of New York City under Mayors Havemeyer and Ely, Dr. Chandler regulated the gas nuisance, the dangerous kerosene, city water and milk supplies, and the slaughter houses of the city. He also supervised a "cleaning-up" campaign in the Washington, Fulton and Centre Markets during this period and through his investigations the sales of adulterated liquors and poisonous cosmetics were successfully curtailed. As a health officer Dr. Chandler, in addition, established a proper system of plumbing and house drainage, introduced the system of visiting physicians, free vaccination and the care of contagious diseases in special hospitals.

Dr. Chandler was a nationally known educator. He was one of the founders of the School of Mines of Columbia University in which he held the professorial chair of chemistry from 1864 until his retirement as emeritus professor in 1911. He was dean of this school for thirty-three years and was also the President of the New York College of Pharmacy until its consolidation with Columbia University under Seth Low. He also was professor of chemistry in the College of Physicians and Surgeons for more than twenty years.

Dr. Chandler was born in Lancaster, Mass., and studied at Lawrence Scientific School of Harvard University. After continuing his studies abroad at the Universities of Berlin and Göttingen, he received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the latter institution in 1856. He received the honorary M. D. degree from New York University and also received the honorary degrees of LL. D. and D. Sc. from Union College and Oxford University, England, respectively. The English degree had previously been conferred only on the Prince of Wales, later Edward VII.

As an industrial chemist, Dr. Chandler was a pioneer in the field of sugar refining, gas manufacture, petroleum refining, photography and dyeing. The Perkin Medal, gift of organized American chemistry, was conferred on Dr. Chandler in 1920 "for such valuable contributions to applied chemistry that he (Dr. Chandler) has placed the entire world in his debt, and brought added prestige and dignity to the profession of which he is such a conspicuous ornament."

Dr. Chandler was a prominent figure in the American Chemical Society which he helped to organize and of which he was twice President and an honorary member. He was founder of the Chemists' Club and was a charter member of the University Club. For many years he edited the American Chemist, a journal devoted to applied chemistry and contributed for many years to American scientific literature. In addition he was the editor of chemical subjects for Johnson's Encyclopedia.

He was also a member of the National Academy of Sciences, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the American Philosophical Society, the Society of Chemical Industry and the London Chemical Society.

Dr. Chandler is survived by his widow, and his granddaughter, Anna Chandler Pellew, who lives with the Chandlers at 51 East Fifty-fourth Street.

EDWARD E. HALL DEAD.

Insurance Broker Succumbs to Heart Disease.

Edward Everett Hall, senior partner of Edward E. Hall & Co., insurance brokers of 110 William Street, died yesterday morning at his home, 636 Fifth Avenue. He became suddenly ill ten days ago when about to sail for Europe and was thought to be improving until yesterday morning, when his heart suddenly failed.

Mr. Hall was born in New York State sixty-three years ago. He came to this city as a boy, was educated here, and began his business career by working for various insurance companies. Thirty years ago he established his own firm, which he had headed since. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Geraldine Hall. Ha was a member of the Metropolitan and New York Yacht Clubs.

Greenberg's Indictment Dismissed.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP).—Indictments against Max Greenberg, wealthy St. Louis business man, and John Barry, in connection with the $3,000,000 Rondout mail robbery were dismissed today by Judge J. H. Wilkerson. Greenberg was involved in the robbery aftermath by the alleged bogus confession of Willis Newton, one of the men now serving a sentence. Barry is serving a four-year sentence in the Leavenworth (Kan.) Federal penitentiary.

AMERICAN APPEALS FOR ZIONIST UNITY

Proposal for Jewish Army in Palestine Is Called "Private Obsession" by Louis Lipsky.

CREDITS TO BE INCREASED

Congress Will Raise $1,250,000 for Agriculture and $250,000 for Industry.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Aug. 25.—The real parliamentary work of the Zionist Congress began this morning with a series of committee meetings. As the congress schedule is very much behind-hand, night sessions will be held to conclude the business. In all important commissions the Americans supporting Dr. Weismann predominate.

Louis Lipsky, head of the American delegation, in an interview today emphasized that the unity of the Zionists is essential to the success of their cause.

Referring to plans proposed by Delegate Jabotinsky to organize a Jewish army of protection in Palestine, Mr. Lipsky said it is Jabotinsky's private obsession and not to be taken seriously by the vast majority of Zionists. The Zionist relations with the Arabs, he said, must be based on a thoroughgoing economic and cultural collaboration. "I believe that treating the Arabs fairly and helping them to raise their standards of life will give them a chance for university study," Mr. Lipsky declared. Discussing the general background of the Zionist Congress, Mr. Lipsky explained that the original Zionist settlers in Palestine feel they have a priority right on anything that is done in Palestine, and that, as the funds at the disposal of the congress are limited, their needs ought to be considered first. He said they want schools, hospitals, credits, &c., and that they say until these are taken care of further immigration should not be supported.

Says All Classes Are to Be Considered.

Until recently it was thought that workingmen and farmers were the only essential elements in setting the country and that all efforts must be concentrated in aiding them. Meanwhile, a strong wave of middle-class immigration, chiefly from Poland, had entered Palestine, and now the needs of these people of moderate means also must be considered. These people will develop industry and business in Palestine, Mr. Lipsky said.

"The opinion of the Congress is divided as to who comes first," Lipsky said. "The workmen and farmers think they are the backbone of the Zionist movement. To a certain extent they are, but the middle class are also doing a constructive work and must be encouraged."

Differences of opinion exist only as to details of how the funds should be spent, Mr. Lipsky continued, but this does not decrease the cordial cooperation of all factions. The most important business of the Congress, he said, is still ahead. This includes the budget for the coming year, now being framed by the committee on permanent session.

The American delegation, Mr. Lipsky continued, strongly favors the Jewish agency scheme, which will surely be carried by a large majority. "We hold that the Jews of the whole world must be united to upbuild a national home in Palestine," he said. "Non-Zionist Jews must also help in the task. Fears that non-Zionists might acquire a decisive influence in Palestine are unfounded, as, in any case, Zionists would retain 50 per cent. of the power of the agency." He added that Palestine must be governed from Palestine, not from London or New York. It was essential that the Zionist executive be moved to Palestine.

Human Material Called Problem.

"The dominating problem of the congress is how to build up Palestine and where to get the human material for this; where to get the perseverance and the support making perseverance possible. It is the demand of the highest political art on the part of the Zionist leadership to extend its sphere and influence, through its funds and credit institutions, to the inclusion of a fourth immigration. We will support the intention of the executive to create such forms of cooperation which will firmly establish commerce and industry. We hold this must be provided for in the budget. An industrial bank is a foremost necessity to enable manufacturers with assets to obtain credit in order to operate," Mr. Lipsky concluded.

Most to today was taken up by committee meetings, including those of the permanent committees on political conditions, Palestine, Zionist reorganization and the Board of Directors of the Jewish Colonial Bank.

In the afternoon, the general debate was continued. The Chairman of the congress, Nachum Sokolov, declared that Palestine had taken the place of the United States as the chief outlet for Jewish emigration. He expressed confidence in the Administration's policy of cooperative colonization and elaborated the idea that agriculture, as against industrialism, was still the basis of building up Palestine and any attempt to make this an issue was ridiculous.

It is proposed to raise the $125,000 for agricultural credit tenfold and the $50,000 industrial credit fivefold.

After Chairman Sokolov's address, Chief Rabbi Stricker of Jaffa, made an anti-Administration speech.

We own a tract known as North Fulford, adjoining the well-known subdivision of Fulford-by-the-Sea, consisting of 485 acres, suitable for a subdivision of 3,000 lots. We purchased this tract because of its physical character for quick development as a residential and business center of the better type.

The demand for property of this character, in this vicinity, is far in excess of the properties offered (many lot resales have established prices which should net a handsome profit on this development) and because of its close proximity to Miami in the midst of the larger advanced development projects and because of its psychological position, the Seaboard Air Line Railroad will undoubtedly pass through this property and perhaps place its passenger and freight station thereon. Little acreage is available in this section.

We offer this desirable property because we are this Fall placing on the market a larger subdivision known as North Miami, consisting of 16,000 lots and located near North Fulford.

Our organization is well known through its many large realty operations and fully qualified to prepare and have North Fulford ready to sell in lots during the coming season.

500,000 visitors in Miami last Winter and 1,000,000 are expected this coming season.

The price, $5,000 per acre, is quoted to move quickly and convenient terms may be arranged. Conference in New York by appointment for the next few days, at which time full details will be available.

"Hoe your own road from the jump"

A Philadelphia business man over fifty years ago, John T. Freedly by name, wrote a most helpful book that the young fellows of that time used to read and reread with profit.

This was his motto—

Self-Dependence and Self-Reliance

This is one of the things he said: "My observations through life satisfy me that at least nine-tenths of those most successful in business start in life without any reliance, except upon their own heads and hands—they hoe their own road from the jump."

This is worth keeping to look at once in a while.

To start right is important, but all of us need to be keyed up now and then.

Hardly any business man is more than half what he might be.

Yesterday's achievements are only steps up to fresh endeavors to make each new day outdo our best of the past.

MOVIE HOUSES ACT TO FIGHT FILM TAX

CANCEL FUTURE CONTRACTS

Regard Action Necessary to Defeat Law and Make an Object-Lesson of the State.

MOVE AFTER PARLEY HERE

Hays and Producers Confer on Best Means to Relieve Distributers of Levy's Burden.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 25.—In a tussle between the Legislature of this State and the motion-picture producers of the nation today at the New York offices of Will H. Hays, czar of the industry, the producers won and Connecticut is now on a movie "hunger strike." A complete film tabu was placed on all theatres in this State when it was announced this morning that the Franklin Film Company of Boston had discharged their entire office staff here and recalled to Boston every reel of film now in this State.

Existing contracts will be fulfilled regardless of consequences, but future contracts will not be made under the existing taxation. The longest contract now is for four months, the others being for but two or three weeks. This means that as far as "big feature pictures" are concerned this State will be movieless until some unforeseen adjustment is made.

To Fight to Last Ditch.

Connecticut moving picture theatre owners said tonight that they will fight to the last ditch to keep their houses open, but they admit that they regard today's action, taken in the offices of Will H. Hays in New York City, as the decisive step toward closing the moving picture houses in this State as a drastic plan to defeat the new Connecticut tax law on films. The action is the first taken by any State and the Motion Picture Producers and Distributers Association of America are determined to make an object lesson of Connecticut.

Following a meeting of the Moving Picture Operators of Connecticut, Eugene Trieber, its President, went to New York City, appeared before the meeting in Mr. Hay's office and pledged the unqualified support of the organization to the settlement of the question.

Manager Henry Needles of the Strand and Princess Theatres and President of the Hartford Theatre Managers' Association, said today that the committee which is in New York today representing the theatre interests of the State was instructed to "fight to the last ditch" to keep Connecticut theatres open. The theatre men of the State see a real desire on the part of the New York motion picture producers to withhold films from Connecticut in their fight against the State film tax, thus making Connecticut "an object lesson" to any other State contemplating such film taxation.

Mr. Needles said that as a precautionary measure, Hartford theatres, with the exception of the Poli houses, had given two weeks' notice to their operators, stagehands and musicians, as required by union rules.

Mr. Needles estimated that a country-wide taxing of films by States would cost the producers between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 and this is the reason for the threat of drastic action.

Movie Men Meet in New York.

Five representative motion picture theatre owners from Connecticut conferred yesterday with representatives of large producing companies at the offices of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., of which Will H. Hays is President, in an effort to solve the problem imposed on them by the State of Connecticut, which recently passed a bill taxing film exhibited in the State $10 a 1,000 feet.

Mr. Hays presided at the conference, which brought together Joseph W. Walsh, President of the Connecticut Theatre Owners' Association; L. M. Segal of the Poli Circuit; Max Field, I. J. Hoffman and M. J. Fournier in conference with Major Thompson of the Film Booking Office; E. H. Hammons, President of the Educational Film Exchange; E. M. Goldstein, Treasurer of the Universal Pictures Corporation; Adolph Zukor and Sidney B. Kent of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, William Fox, President of the Fox Films Corporation; Paul Bennett of the Pathé organization; Richard Roland, production manager of the First National Pictures; Nicholas Schenck, Vice President of the Metro-Goldwyn Corporation, and D. W. Griffith of the United Artists.

Mr. Walsh's Statement.

A statement issued late in the afternoon by Joseph W. Wash, read:

"A committee appointed by the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Connecticut at a mass meeting held in New Haven last Sunday night met with the committee of the New Haven Film Board of Trade and the Boston Film Board of Trade whose members distribute all the motion pictures shown in Connecticut. The uncertainty and the ambiguity of the Connecticut Tax law have aggravated the situation, which is very unpopular and unnecessary law created.

"Benedict M. Holden, general counsel for the producers and distributers, has advised his clients to remove their film exchanges from New Haven, and to ship all films into Connecticut by United States Parcels Post of the American Railway Express. Anticipating the confusion which will inevitably result when the New Haven exchanges are moved and deliveries are made through interstate commerce carriers, and to enable the exhibitors to keep open and show the pictures they have already contracted for, the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Connecticut, the New Haven Film Board of Trade and the Boston Film Board of Trade have arranged to borrow sufficient funds for the payment of the tax by theatre owners on the films now in Connecticut under contract for exhibition there. After existing contracts have been completed, the exhibitors will leave to the distributers the problem of paying the tax.

"This action was taken to relieve distributers who might be the first to receive films from interstate common carriers and be obliged to pay the entire tax before exhibiting them, as the tax on the film is several times the rental of it. Many theatres in Connecticut, not having pictures under contract for exhibition, will not come under the operation of this fund, and there are a great number of exhibitors who will be compelled to close their theatres and suffer a total loss on their entire investment."

After the departure of the theatre owners, who returned to Connecticut last night, the heads of the producing organizations remained in conference to decide on further action. At its conclusion the producers referred all questions to Mr. Hays, who said that he had no statement to make on the Connecticut situation as yet, but would probably issue a statement today.

While officials of the producing companies refused to give definite information on the situation, none of them denied that a boycott, closing the 165 theatres in the State, was quite possible. Mr. Hays, after the conference, said that the tax imposed was at times the rental of the taxed picture in many instances, and declared that "it was physically impossible for the theatres to continue business under such conditions."

Hotel Destroyed a Year Ago, Owner Must Pay 1925 Taxes

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 25.—N. J. Collins, owner of the Hotel Bothwell, which was destroyed by fire on Nov. 17, 1924, must pay taxes on the hostelry for 1925, although the building is not in existence. This developed today when the Atlantic County Board of Taxation refused to grant Collins's appeal to be relieved from the assessment of $143,000 on the building.

Collins pointed out that since the hotel was not standing in 1925 he should not be compelled to pay taxes. The board, however, held that the hotel was standing on Oct. 1, 1924, when the assessments are made for the year following, and that the tax must be paid. Collins said he would take another appeal to the State board.

MURDER AND THEFT SUSPECTED IN DEATH

EMPTY WALLET NEAR HIM

Neighbor Saw Lights Burning in House All Night—Autopsy Is Set for Today.

Special to The New York Times.

FRANKLIN, N. J., Aug. 25.—William Lacey, a well-known resident here, was found dead today in his home in circumstances that led the local police and the Sussex County authorities to believe that he might have been murdered. The body was taken to Hamburg, where Coroner Clarence De Hart will perform an autopsy tomorrow.

The body was found lying on a couch in the bedroom with the pockets turned inside out. The man's wallet was on a near-by table, empty. Lacey was accustomed to carrying large sums of money, but a search of the house failed to disclose any. There were no marks of violence on the body, but Frank Lanterman of the local police found that Lacey had been bleeding from the mouth. It was thought that he might have been poisoned or might have died of severe hemorrhages.

Lacey was 53 years old and was not married. He lived alone and was reputed to have been in good circumstances and to have owned considerable real estate. He was last seen alive by William Leiderback, a neighbor, yesterday afternoon. The neighbor said that at that time Lacey seemed to be in good health.

Leiderback said that all the lights in the house were lighted early last night, and that they remained lighted throughout the night and the morning. When he noticed that they were still burning at noon he became suspicious and investigated. As soon as he found the body he notified the police. They found that all the doors in the house were open, as though some marauder had been at work and left hurriedly. It was thought possible that a thief might have broken in and poisoned Lacey.

The police said that two sisters of the dead man lived in Newark, and that he had a brother in New England.

FINDS FILM CONTROL WAS OBJECT OF GROUP

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—An adverse report has been filed by the examiner in the case of the Federal Trade Commission against the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and others, involving a large part of the motion picture industry, and now stretching into the third year of its investigation. Hearings were held last year and the evidence has since been under study by an examiner whose finding of facts in the case is against the defendants.

Copies of the examiner's findings will be sent to the defendants, and oral arguments will probably be held before the commission hands down its decision in the case. The case was brought several years ago against the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, the Realart Pictures Corporation, the Stanley Company of America, the Stanley Booking Company, the Black New England Theatres, Inc., the Southern Enterprises, Inc., the Saenger Amusement Company; Adolph Zukor, Jesse L. Lasky, Jules Mastbaum, Alfred S. Black, Stephen A. Lynch and Ernest V. Richards Jr.

The complaint charges that the respondents conspired to secure control of and monopolize the motion picture industry. The means employed, the commission charged, have been the acquisition of all the corporate stock of Bosworth, Incorporated, the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, the Famous Players Film Corporation and a Paramount Pictures Corporation; affiliation with certain independent producers; the creation and exploitation of the Real-art Pictures Corporation, which, it is alleged, the respondents held out to the public as wholly independent and not affiliated with or controlled by them; acquiring the control of numerous corporations operating motion picture theatres throughout the United States; building or acquiring or attempting to acquire by means of coercion and intimidation numerous theatres for the exclusive exhibition of the respondents' pictures and coercing independent exhibitors to book the films of the respondents.

GONE 2 DAYS, MAN IS SOUGHT

The North Bergen Police Department has been asked to institute a search for Charles Heinrich, 56 years old, a well-to-do retired business man who lives at 340 Thirty-first Street, Woodcliff, N. J. Heinrich has been missing since Monday morning, when he left his home to look for light occupation. He found the idleness following his retirement irksome and expressed his desire of finding something to do.

According to his son, Edward, who notified the police, Heinrich suffered from a minor heart ailment. The family gave the following description of the missing business man: Height, 5 feet 2 inches; weight, 140 pounds; blue eyes, almost entirely bald, small light moustache, dark trousers with green stripes, black shoes and socks, white straw hat, black-and-red necktie.

ATTACKS OPEN-SHOP VOTING MACHINES

SEES LOSS OF $2,000,000

Declares Union Machines Can Be Had at $600 — Price Under Knapp Contract $1,000.

Charging that Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, Secretary of State, had placed the order for New York City's voting machines with a non-union shop, Hugh Frayne, General Organizer for the American Federation of Labor, said yesterday that the matter would be put before the convention of the New York State Federation of Labor, now in session at Syracuse.

Mr. Frayne said that the plant of the United States Automatic Registering Company at Jamestown, N. Y., was an open shop, and he thought that the order should have gone to the Cummings Vote Register Company of Crown Point, Ind., a union establishment. In addition to the issue of unionism, Mr. Frayne said that if the Indiana firm had received the order the State would have saved about $2,000,000.

"The voting machine question," said Mr. Frayne, "is to be settled at the convention of the State labor body. It is true that the Jamestown company runs a non-union shop, whereas the Indiana concern is a union plant. The union men of the State will settle the matter satisfactorily.

"Labor recommends the Cummings machine not only because it is union made but because it is a superior product. We are not in favor of this machine because it carries the union label or because of its quality or because of its cheap price, but because of a combination of all these points. The Jamestown machine costs $1,600, while the Cummings machine costs $600. This means a saving of millions of dollars to the State and city if the union-made machine is purchased. The Cummings machine has been carefully examined and tested by labor organizations and has been found to be a perfect product."

Mrs. Knapp informed the New York City Board of Elections last week that she had placed the order for the machines. In a letter to John R. Voorhis, President of the board, the Secretary of State said that owing to mechanical difficulties only about seventy-five of the machines could be delivered in time for use in the forthcoming election. Of this number ten would be delivered forthwith. At her office in Albany last night it was said that Mrs. Knapp was out of town addressing several up-State county fairs. Her whereabouts were not known to the office staff. Members of the Board of Elections were not reached for their comment on Mr. Frayne's charge.

ORDERS WEEDS CUT IN BROOKLYN LOTS

Aldermen Set Date for Removal of Lurking Places for Criminals.

Drastic action against the luxuriant growths of weeds, towering head high, in many of the vacant lots in outlying sections of Brooklyn was decided upon by the Brooklyn members of the Board of Aldermen at a special meeting in the Borough Hall yesterday.

Describing the weeds as a menace in affording criminals a place to lurk in wait for passers-by, the local Aldermen adopted resolutions demanding that owners of lots clear their property of shrubbery by Sept. 10. In case the notified owners do not comply with the request, the Aldermen will on Sept. 23 provide for the fencing of the uncleared lots at the cost of the owners.

Borough President Joseph A. Guider, who called the special meeting, declared that the Police Commissioner and the Mayor had assured him of their cooperation in a campaign against overgrown weeds. Such shrubbery, he asserted, was the natural retreat for criminals. Aldermen from the East New York, Flatbush, Bay Ridge and Greenpoint sections agreed that conditions were particularly bad in their localities.

Alderman John Wirth, Republican, of the Fifth Assembly District, disrupted the general harmony in regard to methods of action by demanding why the Department of Health or other city departments have not already rid the streets of the danger by enforcing existing regulations. He was assured the departments were doing as much as they could with their present facilities. Alderman Thomas Cox urged that no time be wasted on recrimination, suggesting that while they talked "some one might be hit over the head by a criminal from the weeds."

Inspector Thomas F. McDonald, representing the Police Department, agreed to cooperate with the Aldermen in getting the names of vacant lot property owners in their districts. These will be notified to clear their property.

BALLOON FORCED TO LAND.

Fog Stops Navy Officers' Flight Over New Jersey.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 25.—Four officers of the Naval Air Station here who set out yesterday afternoon in a free balloon to make an all-night observation flight over Northern New Jersey and were forced to land at midnight near Boonton, N. J., returned today. The balloon was in charge of Commander M. C. McCord. The other officers were Lieutenants J. M. Thornton, W. R. Leahy and J. B. Anderson.

About midnight the fog became so heavy that the balloon was forced to land at the Mitchell farm on the Troy Hills-Whippany Road, several miles from Boonton. The officers spent the night at the Mitchell farmhouse and resumed their flight this morning. Much gas had been let out and the balloon was forced to land again at Morristown, and the officers returned to the air station by automobile.

UNION WOMEN TO MEET.

Will Discuss Industry at Katonah Two Days in October.

The Women's Trade Union League of New York, 247 Lexington Avenue, sent out a call yesterday to all women's trade unions in this city and near-by towns and to the Women's Trade Union Leagues of Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and Worcester, Mass., urging attendance at the third annual Autumn conference of the league, to be held at Brookwood Labor College, Katonah, N. Y., on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 3 and 4. Each union may send three delegates to the conference.

The opening debate of the conference will be on "Whether or not the New York Legislature shall enact a forty-eight-hour-week law for women." Other activities scheduled for the first day include a discussion of the Rockefeller Plan and other industrial subjects.

Two Doctors Hesitate to Say Man Is Dead Who Once Awoke in Morgue From Catalepsy

A retired police surgeon worked over the inert body of Patrick Donahue for twenty minutes in the West Thirtieth Street Police Station yesterday afternoon to determine whether the subject of his labors was actually dead, or whether he had simply fallen into a cataleptic trance. All tests showed that Donahue was dead. The physician, Dr. Edward J. Donlin, however, knew the story of how Donahue had awakened from a cataleptic trance after being committed to Fordham morgue as dead five years ago. Therefore he was loth to render a decision.

Donahue was an inmate at St. Joseph's Home for the Aged, 209 West Fifteenth Street. He suddenly fell, apparently lifeless, to the sidewalk in front of 218 West Fifteenth Street while taking a stroll shortly after luncheon yesterday. Dr. Donlin, the attending physician at the Home, gave the body a cursory inspection and then permitted it to be taken to the police station.

Here he first applied a stethoscope to Donahue's chest. There were no signs of breathing. Then the physician tried to revive him by artificial respiration but there was no response. Then he tested the man's eyes by pressure, an especially reliable test—but Donahue did not respond. Finally Dr. Donlin used a needle test. There was no vital reaction of any kind. The physician officially pronounced Donahue as dead, but immediately communicated with the medical examiner and told him that the case should not be settled without very careful deliberation.

Some time later, Dr. Gonzalez, the assistant medical examiner, inspected the body, and while conquring with Dr. Donlin, advised the undertaker engaged by Donahue's brother to delay embalming for at least twelve hours.

Despite the positiveness of the tests, Donahue's body, several hours after he was stricken, showed few external signs of death. The arms were limp and his face and hands contained much warmth.

Although the authorities at St. Joseph's Home for the Aged disclaimed any knowledge of Donahue's medical record, the police said that eight doctors had pronounced him dead before he had been sent to the Fordham Morgue five years ago. At that time Donahue showed no traces of life, but after reposing on a slab in the morgue for eleven hours he suddenly awakened from his pathological sleep, sound and healthy.

WANTS NEW BRIDGE ACROSS EAST RIVER

Commissioner Mills Tells the Estimate Board New Span to Queens Is Needed.

CITES TRAFFIC CONGESTION

Says Queensboro Structure Carries 40,000 Vehicles a Day and Is Seriously Crowded.

William Wirt Mills, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, addressed a communication yesterday to the Board of Estimate urging the need for a new bridge between Manhattan and Queens. He said traffic congestion at the Queensboro Bridge showed the necessity for another span. He also asked the board to grant the $50,000 which Maurice E. Connolly, Queens Borough President, sought, to make a survey to determine the site for the new bridge.

Commissioner Mills estimated that $40,800 would be required for salaries of men engaged in the survey. He said the remainder of the $50,000 asked would be used for supplies and contingencies. On the need for another East River bridge he said:

"With reference to the request of the President of the Borough of Queens for an appropriation for a survey as to the necessity for and location of a new bridge across the East River between the Borough of Manhattan and the Borough of Queens, on which subject I have submitted a separate report, it is necessary for me to report further in reference to the widespread agitation over the congestion of the Queensboro Bridge.

"This bridge, at our last official count in December, 1924, showed an average daily traffic of 35,085 vehicles, this number being exceeded only by the traffic on the Manhattan Bridge. Since then there has been a marked increase in vehicle traffic on the Queensboro Bridge and I estimate the present daily traffic is in excess of 40,000 vehicles, which figure will be verified by counts that I am now having made.

"In this connection I have to submit to your honorable board the fact that congestion on this bridge is serious, aggravating, an impediment to business and a hindrance to pleasure, and that this congestion is due chiefly to the lack of proper entrances and exits to this structure on the Manhattan side. Under date of Oct. 6, 1924, I submitted to your honorable board a plan for the relief of these conditions, this plan involving the opening of an approach to the Queensboro Bridge from East Fifty-seventh Street to the present lateral approach to the bridge and the improvement of that approach and the extension of that exit through to East Sixty-first Street. I subsequently recommended that this exit be extended through to East Sixty-second Street."

Commissioner Mills retold the plan he offered last year, and, concluding his letter, said:

"In view of the urgency of the public demand for the relief of conditions on the Queensboro Bridge and of the obvious justification for such demands, I respectfully recommend action on this plan."

TO FORECLOSE ON BORGLUM

Two Creditors Press Judgments Against Sculptor's Stamford Estate.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., Aug. 25.—Two actions were instituted here today to foreclose judgment liens against the 200-acre estate of Gutson Borglum, the sculptor, in this town. One claim, held by Simondetti & Co. of New York, amounts to $1,682 and the other, held by Robert J. Caldwell of New York, is for $3,612.

Judgments were obtained against Mr. Borglum in the Superior Court and they were returned unsatisfied. Then liens were placed on his property.

MISS NICOL WINS RIGHT TO OFFICE

STATE REQUIREMENTS MET

Woman Makes Up Necessary Points While Injunction Restrains Board of Education From Ousting Her.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The fight to make Miss Lucille Nicol, New York City school teacher, a District Superintendent of Schools ended today, so far as the State Department of Education is concerned, when Dr. Frank P. Graves, State Commissioner of Education, granted to her a certificate entitling her to act in that capacity.

No written opinion was given by Dr. Graves in granting the certificate. Months ago Miss Nicol's request for a certificate was denied by Dr. Graves on the ground that she did not have the requirements necessary to entitle her to it. Meanwhile, by a series of legal obstacles the matter was held open and Miss Nicol attended the New York City College and Adelphi College and made up the counts she needed to meet the requirements. She is a graduate of Hunter College.

"All we had to do," Dr. Graves said tonight, "was to determine whether Miss Nicol had the necessary requirements. Having made them up, she was granted the certificate."

When the New York City Board of Education was about ready to dismiss Miss Nicol in May last because she did not possess the requirements of the position, an injunction was sued out, and then the teacher made up what she had lacked.

Politics Charged in Nicol Case.

Miss Nicol was elected a District Superintendent by the Board of Education in November, 1923. Her election was protested by the Teachers' Union, the New York Principals' Association and the Public Education Association because, they said, they regarded it as the result of politics. It was pointed out by these organizations that a District Superintendent naturally should be chosen from the ranks of the Principals, while Miss Nicol was only a teacher in charge of a small probationary school in Brooklyn.

At the time of the election opponents of Miss Nicol held that she was ineligible to become a District Superintendent because she was neither a graduate of a college recognized by the Board of Regents nor the holder of a "superintendent's certificate." Subsequently she was declared ineligible by Dr. Graves, State Commissioner of Education, who directed the Board of Education to remove her. Miss Nicol then obtained an injunction restraining the board from ousting her.

POLICE PUPIL BRAVES MOB.

Arrests Man in Stabbing and Saves Him From Angry Pursuers.

Opportunity to give a practical demonstration of just how good a patrolman he will be when he gets on the force next month was seized by Daniel O'Shea, 29 years old, of 202 West Sixtieth Street, last night when, walking with his wife in Twenty-seventh Street, near Lexington Avenue, he placed under arrest on a charge of felonious assault, Guiseppi Beso, 63 years old, of 389 Third Avenue. Beso is alleged to have mortally wounded, with a razor, Anthony Lascaiza, 51 years old, living at the Third Avenue address in front of 152 East Twenty-eighth Street.

O'Shea was complimented when he marched his prisoner into the East Thirty-fifth Street Police Station, having probably prevented Beso from being attacked by an angry crowd of about 500 persons. Lascaiza is in Bellevue Hospital in a critical condition, with several razor cuts on his face and throat.

Questioned by Detective Carey of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station, Beso refused to explain the cause of the trouble between himself and Lascaiza, and a blood-stained razor which, O'Shea said, he took from Beso's pocket after a struggle.

CABLEGRAM IN DISPUTE

President McGivern Promises to Produce Original Message Sent to England.

The war between the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' International Union and the Operative Plasterers and Cement Finishers' International Association, which is holding up important building operations here, in Chicago and elsewhere, became more bitter yesterday.

Replying to a charge by Edward J. McGivern, President of the Operative Plasterers, that the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' organization had tried to induce British plasterers to come here illegally, George T. Thornton, President of the bricklayers, said yesterday, after critiicizing President McGivern:

"We find one red herring after another dragged across the trail. Now it is an alleged cablegram, of which Mr. McGivern says he has a copy, though the man to whom it was supposed to have been sent never saw it, and our files show no record of it. [This refers to the alleged message to a representative of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers at Plymouth, inviting British plasterers to come to this country and enter that union free, and promising them jobs at once.] But even if such a cablegram had been sent, it would not have been improper. If it had been sent, and had also been improper, we would have heard from the Department of Justice about it.

"If Mr. McGivern really means what he says, it merely shows he is willing to be an informer and to accept documents improperly secured."

Vice President Walter V. Price of Mr. Thornton's organization, referring to the alleged cablegram, said he had never received such instructions as those said to have been indicated in the cable, and that he had never received any plasterers from the British Isles.

Mr. McGivern, seen at his headquarters in the Hotel Aberdeen, 17 West Thirty-second Street, said he would in a few days produce the original cablegram, which is on its way to this city by messenger. He continued:

"Anticipating that the Bricklayers' International executive would perhaps deny the charge that in September, 1924, they were engaged in an attempt to induce British plasterers to emigrate to this country in order to build up their organization, I have secured a copy of a circular letter addressed by A. H. Telling, General Secretary of the National Association of British Plasterers, which proves conclusively all the charges we have made."

Work on the construction of the new wing of the Prudential Insurance Company's building in Newark was resumed yesterday. William J. Lyons, President of the Essex County Building Trades Council, ordered work resumed after he had received assurance that the plasterers of the Newark local only would be permitted to work on the job.

TWO NEW DANCES WIN TEACHERS' APPROVAL

The Cuban Danzon and the Miami Canter Combined the Waltz, Fox-Trot and Tango.

Two new dances which it is hoped will rival the Charleston in popularity were demonstrated yesterday at the American Society of Teachers of Dancing. The Cuban danzon and the Miami canter were shown to the assembled teachers and won general approval by their grace and ease of performance. Most of the delegates seemed to prefer them even to the modified Charleston, which was approved on Monday.

The most pleasing features of the waltz and the fox-trot are combined in the Miami canter, which was introduced by Adolph Newburger of New York. It is danced to waltz time but two steps are taken to each three beats of music. The Cuban danzon, as shown by Miss Rose Byrne of New York, resembles the waltz combined with some features of the tango.

A large part of the day was devoted to children's dances, which were shown by Regina Sexton of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Inez B. Hess of Chicago and Ruth Blankenhorn of New York. Pearl Wallace of St. Petersburg, Fla., gave an exhibition of buck and wing dances. Tom Patricola and Sally Star of George White's Scandals danced the Charleston as it is done on the stage for the delegates.

Many of the dancing instructors at the convention do not hesitate to condemn modern dancing, which they say is far inferior in grace and beauty to that of the past generation.

SHOUTS 'LIAR!' AT STRATON.

Artist Causes Near Riot at Louisville Meeting Addressed by Pastor.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 25 (AP).—Frederick Weygold, 35-year-old artist of this city, who interrupted Dr. John Roach Straton, Fundamentalist pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, New York, while he was speaking last night, was bound over to the Grand Jury today.

Dr. Straton, who was speaking on "Monkey Men and Monkey Morals—the Truth About Evolution," made reference to the people of Germany before the World War, when Weygold jumped to his feet and called the speaker a liar. A near riot resulted. Cries of "Throw him out!" resounded throughout the building. Police took charge of Weygold and escorted him from the building. A charge of interrupting public worship was placed against him.

In police court today, Weygold offered no explanation for his action. He was released under $300 bond to appear before the Grand Jury.

Weygold, in commenting upon the incident, declared it "was just a continuation of the Scopes trial," and said he thought the meeting was open to discussion and not an occasion of worship.

TAKES DR. TAYLOR'S PLACE.

Thomas P. Cooper, Southern Educator, Accepts Agriculture Post.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—Thomas P. Cooper, Dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky, has formally accepted appointment as Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and will take office Sept. 1.

Mr. Cooper succeeds Dr. Henry C. Taylor, who recently resigned from the post indicated at the demand of Secretary Jardine of the Department of Agriculture. The forcing out of Dr. Taylor has been ascribed in some quarters to political pressure and his opposition to a cooperative marketing bill favored by the President's Agricultural Commission.

Klansmen Act as Pallbearers At Funeral of a Negro Miner

Special to The New York Times.

WELCH, W. Va., Aug. 25.—Klansmen acted as pallbearers yesterday at the funeral of a negro at Roderfield, near here.

Samuel Obrey was killed in a mine in Fall River late last week and the body was sent to a Roderfield undertaker for burial. As the coffin was placed in a hearse to be taken to the cemetery a Ku Klux Klan meeting, held in rooms over the undertaking establishment, was dismissed. Noting the absence of mourners, several Klansmen boarded the hearse, while others fell in behind and marched to the cemetery, where they lifted the coffin from the hearse and lowered it into the ground. Each Klansman stood in silence while the funeral rites were concluded.

ARREST TWO, SEIZE DYNAMITE IN HOME

Detectives Lock Up Pair in Connection With Safe Blowings in Office Building.

BURGLAR TOOLS FOUND ALSO

Following the arrest of two men wanted in connection with the blowing of two safes in the building at 308 West Fifty-ninth Street, Detectives Morrissey and Cammayer, of the Safe and Loft Squad, discovered yesterday in the apartment of one of the men what they said was an up-to-date set of burglar tools, and a quantity of dynamite and several German Republic bonds. The prisoners described themselves as William Poger, 27 years old, a plumber, of 317 West 101st Street, and John Martin, 24, a salesman, of 74 West 101st Street. They were locked up at police headquarters charged with burglary and the possession of burglar's tools.

Sometime on Monday night burglars broke into the building at 308 West Fifty-ninth Street. When the various firms opened up for business William J. Donavan found the safe in his dance hall blown open and several hundred dollars missing. The manager of the Western Union office found the door of the safe wrecked and $190 stolen. Detectives Morrissey and Cammayor obtained the license number of a car that had been seen parked near the building. They found that the number was fictitious.

Their investigations led them into the neighborhood where Martin lived. There they saw the car carrying the fictitious number plates. They watched the car for hours and when at about 6 o'clock last evening the two men came out and got into the car they were arrested.

Returning to the apartment where Martin lived with his wife of a year, the detective searched the place. One of the first articles they said they discovered was an electric drill. At the bottom of a closet they say they uncovered seven and a half sticks of dynamite. They also reported having found another electric drill, 175 fulminating caps, 1,000 assorted cartridges and an outfit of bits, braces and other tools.

Hidden in a mattress, the detectives said, they found 1,000 German bonds, ranging from 1,000 to 5,000 marks, several 1932 4½ per cent. bonds of the German Republic, a Prudence Bond 3C-773, and stamps and stamped cards.

THREE SEIZED AS ROBBERS.

Accused of Elevated Station Hold-Up and Denied Bail.

Three men alleged to have criminal records were arrested early yesterday by Detectives Clancy and Sheehan, charged with having held up the ticket agent on the Fourteenth Street station of the Ninth Avenue Elevated on Aug. 1. The robbers escaped with $25. The prisoners were held without bail for examination tomorrow by Magistrate Goodman in the Jefferson Market Court. The detectives described them in court as well-known gunmen.

The prisoners were James Tackney, who gave his address as the Penn Post Hotel, Eighth Avenue and Thirty-first Street; Charles Meehan of 526 West Fifteenth Street, and Edward Sullivan of 439 West Fifty-fourth Street. The detectives said that when they halted the trio Meehan tried to draw a pistol which was hanging by a cord under his armpit.

The records at Police Headquarters were said to show that Tackney escaped from the House of Refuge not long ago by swimming the East River and that Sullivan served a term in Elmira for homicide. Meehan's record as given out by the police showed he had served a term in the reformatory and a year and one-half in Elmira for burglary.

LENIENT TO YOUNG ROBBERS

Court Frees on Probation Boys Who Tried to Hold Up Ticket Office.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Leniency was shown by County Judge William F. Bleakley today when he put on probation for five years two eighteen-year-old boys charged with holding up a railroad ticket agent.

The boys were James J. Killimaid of Ridgefield Park, N. J., a former resident of New Rochelle, and Norman S. Hamm of Mount Vernon, who on July 25 attacked Ticket Agent Louis Du Vingard at the East Sixth Street station of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad in Mount Vernon with a piece of lead pipe in an attempt to rob the station. The ticket agent drove them off with a pistol and notified the police.

"I am placing you on probation because of your youth, and the only thanks I want is that you make good. If you fail this Court will be open to criticism. You are on the border line of life. If you fail to live up to the trust placed in you by the Court you will be given long terms in Sing Sing prison."

SUICIDE UNDER A TRUCK.

Tells Policeman He Was Disgusted With Life, Then Dies.

An undernourished man believed to have been Orvis Spencer, about 35 years old, of Wynnewood, Pa., committed suicide yesterday afternoon by throwing himself under the wheels of a truck in front of 309 Canal Street while hundreds of persons looked on.

"I am disgusted with life and want to die," Spencer told Patrolman Irving Munster of Traffic A, who attempted to use first aid measures.

Spencer died on the operating table at Beekman Street Hospital. The driver of the truck, Charles J. Ponsit of 8,025 Ninetieth Avenue, Woodhaven, Queens, was not detained by the police.

The suicide was 5 feet 3 inches tall, weighed 140 pounds, had brown hair and eyes and wore blue trousers, gray coat, brown felt hat and black laced shoes. A postcard addressed to "Orvis Spencer" in the Pennsylvania town was found in his clothing.

SMOKE PALL FILLS LOWER MANHATTAN

Workers in Office Buildings Are Driven to Streets by Chemical House Fire.

POLICE DISPERSE CROWDS

Blaze in 100-Year-Old Building Being Demolished Menaces Stores Near By.

FIREMEN NEARLY TRAPPED

Frequent Burnings of Structures Being Razed Causes 'Smoky Joe' Martin to Investigate.

A thick pall of smoke from a fire in an old chemical building in the old Swamp district spread through lower Manhattan yesterday afternoon and disrupted the even tenor of existence in the financial and manufacturing districts. Many office workers were driven to the street and great crowds blocked traffic as they gathered to watch firemen at work.

The fire was in a 100-year-old five-story building at 91 to 97 Fulton Street, formerly occupied by the McKesson & Robbins Company, drug dealers. The building was being demolished, to be replaced by a modern office structure. The blaze started soon after noon, and Acting Chief "Smoky Joe" Martin, who directed the firemen, after commenting on the large number of recent fires in buildings being demolished, asked Fire Marshal Brophy to investigate. Jacob Volk, the contractor, was questioned for several hours and will visit the Fire Marshal again today. He declared it was accidental, and explained that since he was salvaging the structure the loss was his.

When the blaze started in a pile of débris in the basement about thirty workmen were demolishing the two upper floors. The flames spread quickly, and for a time it seemed as though the workmen would be trapped. They managed to escape over the roof of an adjoining building.

A passer-by had seen the first wisps of smoke and had turned in an alarm. Crowds of late lunchers had already filled the street and the firemen had some trouble pushing their way through to get to work.

The flames mounted through the chemical-soaked floors on which were great piles of débris. The smoke became thicker and thicker and began to spread over the whole district. The crowds in the street drew back. Because of the proximity of many drug and leather manufacturing buildings containing inflamable material, a second alarm was turned in. "Smoky Joe" Martin sent part of the reinforcements to the Ann Street side of the burning buildings and streams of water were played on the flames from both streets.

As the firemen worked the crowds grew in number and the smoke spread thicker and further. The fire-fighters who went into the building wore masks. They were later withdrawn by the Acting Chief because of the danger that the walls or the floors would collapse.

The smoke became so thick that Chief Martin ordered workers in several near-by office buildings to the street. As it spread, more workers in many other buildings came out to the open air.

After an hour's work the firemen were getting the better of the flames and smoke, but the crowd had become so great that reserves from five police stations were called out. The smoke clouds drifted out past them. It spread as far north as City Hall and down to Wall Street.

By 2:30 o'clock the flames were under control and the smoke pall commenced to disappear. One fireman was injured. He was Jack White of Hook and Ladder Company 1. He was cut over the right eye, but remained on duty after being treated by a doctor. Damage was slight, being confined to the building under demolition.

MME. BAKHMETEFF LEFT ESTATE OF $1,120,000

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Mme. Mary E. Bakhmeteff, wife of George G. Bakhmeteff, former Ambassador to the United States from Russia, who died in Paris on June 25, left an estate valued at $1,120,000, according to the petition for letters of administration filed in probate court by her brother, Truxton Beale.

This figure does not include personal effects left by Mme. Bakhmeteff in Paris, where she and her husband had been living. The bulk of the estate consists of securities. The debts will not exceed $7,500, Mr. Beale stated.

Mme. Bakhmeteff is survived by her brother, her husband and her nephew, Edward B. Maclean of this city. Ordinarily the former Ambassador would be entitled to become administrator of the will, but he is barred because he is an alien.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Movement of Stock Exchange Prices Again Confused—Bonds Firm, Money 4¼.

Except for continued decline in the price of cotton, most of yesterday's markets continued the perfunctory movement which is usual in the dull period toward the end of August. But activity on the Stock Exchange continued, with the same confusion of prices as had marked the day before. It was again a market whose actual trend it was difficult to discover, in which each speculative stock acted for itself and with no apparent interest in what other stocks were doing and in which, therefore, something less than a dozen of the manipulated industrial stocks would be falling three or four points while a dozen others were rising with equal rapidity. It was even possible to match a twenty-point advance in one of the favorite "specialties" of the recent market with a twenty-point decline in another.

Sometimes a conflicting movement of this sort will indicate that speculators for the rise are merely bidding up one group of stocks in order to hold the market for their own realizing sales in others; a "demonstration" in the railway shares has repeatedly been made to do that service during the present season, to cover sales by speculative holders of industrials. But yesterday's was hardly a market of that kind; it was not conducted in orderly fashion, but appeared to be plunging aimlessly about, with the advance in prices of certain stocks bearing no relation whatever to the fall in prices of others in the same group. Undoubtedly the pressure from speculative holders was reinforced by sales of professional operators for the decline; yet at the same moment other stocks were being "bid up on the shorts." The market gave little clue to the next probable swing of prices. What will happen in the long run to a market which has been jacked up in the manner and under the auspices which have characterized the present movement is reasonably certain; but it is never safe to name a date when the governing influence is purely psychological.

The strength in bonds continued yesterday, although United States Government bonds showed slightly more irregularity. The "averages," which indicate the general course of bonds more accurately at the present time than they indicate the course of stocks, stand at present less than one point below the highest of the year. There was no change in the money market, and none was expected.

Yesterday's further decline in cotton brought the spot price down to the lowest since May 18, when it was slowly recovering from the low price of the year, reached at a time when the cotton trade was talking of 6,000,000 bales for the Texas crop. Even Monday's Government estimate conceded that State only 3,700,000 bales; which makes the present fall in cotton, almost to the low May figure, still more interesting. In its bearing on the general situation, the action of the market is reassuring, in so far as it indicates another harvest as large as that of 1924. Such a result would throw a curious light on the utter despondency with which the cotton trade had come to regard the weevil pest two years ago. That affliction was seriously discussed at the time as an inexorable fate, which meant permanent annual shortage for American production. It has been the fortunate instinct of the South, as it was of the West under similar circumstances long ago, to plant more acreage, not less, and trust to nature and American ingenuity to overcome the enemy of the plant.

MONEY.

TUESDAY, AUG. 25, 1925.

Call money renewed at 4¼ per cent., a decline of ¼ per cent. from the previous day's close, but soon went to 4½ per cent. under the influence of out-of-town withdrawals, and ruled at the latter figure until the close. The market has come to expect firmness around the first of the month, and the present firm tone is associated with bank's preparations for Sept. 1 requirements. Quotations on time money were unchanged, but the undertone was steady. Commercial paper also was unchanged. Transactions were small in volume.

NEW YORK CENTRAL REPORTS BIG GAIN

Net Operating Income in July $6,423,745, an Increase of $1,232,415.

EXPENSES SHOW A DECREASE

Union Pacific July Net Gains 16 Per Cent.—Reading Net Income Also Advances.

The report of the New York Central Railroad to the Interstate Commerce Commission of revenues and expenses for July and the seven months to July 31, 1925, including the Ohio Central Lines, shows a net railway operating income for the month after taxes of $6,423,745, an increase of $1,232,415 compared with July, 1924, and for the seven months of $36,944,758, an increase of $934,651 over the corresponding period of 1924.

The ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues for July was 72.6 per cent., compared with 74.5 per cent. for July, 1924. For the seven months to July 31 it was 75, compared with 75.7 for the same seven months of 1924.

The net income of the Union Pacific system in July totaled $1,810,277, an increase of $258,265 over July, 1924, or a gain of 16 per cent. This result was effected despite an increase of only 1 per cent. in gross revenues, which amounted to $15,627,467. A saving was effected in tax accruals of $267,000.

The seven months period showed a decrease of $1,656,878 in net income from the corresponding period of 1924. The 10 per cent. drop was occasioned by a decrease in gross revenues of more than 7 per cent. The total for the seven months amounted to $99,131,884, against $107,314,070 for the first seven months of 1924.

The seven months' report indicated that the company had been able to effect economies in operating expenses, which fell more than $5,600,000, or nearly 7 per cent., from that period of 1924. The operating ratio of expenses to revenues was 77.98 per cent., an increase of .09, for July, while in the first seven months it was 75.76 per cent., an increase of .56 of 1 per cent.

The Reading Company reports July operating revenue of $7,962,367, an increase of $915,134, and net operating income for the month of $1,807,991, an increase of $313,212. Seven months' gross revenues of $53,889,874 indicated an increase of $480,552, and seven months' net of $11,330,248, an increase of $1,339,904.

FINLAND TURNS HERE FOR A LUMBER LOAN

The National City Bank and the New York Trust Company have extended credits totaling $15,000,000 to the Bank of Finland to finance exports of Finnish lumber, it was learned yesterday. The Bank of Finland will apportion the funds to individual lumber exporters as needed. The Finnish lumber industry exports most of its products to London and at times has arranged its financing there, but money is obtainable at more advantageous terms in New York than in London at present.

The new credits are described as purely a private banking transaction and have nothing to do with the credit of $15,000,000 established with the National City Bank by Finland several years ago. The Government credit was established to stabilize, but, it was learned yesterday, has never been utilized because of the favorable trade balance of Finland.

It was reported that a $10,000,000 bond issue of Finland will be floated shortly in the New York market. Such a loan would be in connection with plans being made in Finland for the restoration of the gold standard. The Finnish Diet, it is understood, will act on the gold standard plan next week. The finmark has been ruling steady at about 2.52 cents recently in the New York foreign exchange market. Par is 19.3 cents.

RAYON CORPORATION OFFERS STOCK ISSUE

Will Make Offer of Exchange to Holders of Industrial Fibre Common.

A syndicate headed by Watson & White of New York and Samuel Ungerleider & Co. is offering for public subscription at $20 a share a new issue of 150,000 shares of Industrial Rayon Corporation, Class A, stock. The corporation will own not less than 394,000 shares of 581,195 shares outstanding of the no par value common stock of Industrial Fibre Corporation of America and proposes to make an offer of exchange to holders of the balance of common stock of Industrial Fibre Corporation, which will, it is expected, result in the acquisition of substantially all the common stock outstanding.

The total number of shares authorized to be issued by Industrial Rayon Corporation is 600,000. Proceeds of the present sale of stock will be used to retire the outstanding preferred stock of the Industrial Fibre Corporation and for other corporate purposes.

The corporation, according to the banker's announcement, is the fourth largest producer of rayon in this country. It owns a plant in Cleveland, where 1,200 men are employed. Production is at the rate of 2,500,000 pounds of rayon annually and plant facilities are being enlarged to increase this output 80 per cent.

Gross earnings for the six months ended June 30 were $2,056,991 and net $497,017, which after charges were equal to the annual rate of approximately $1.50 a share on the 581,195 shares of common stock outstanding. This stock is to be exchanged on the basis of two shares for one of Class A stock of the Industrial Rayon Corporation. The present management will remain in control of the corporation through Class B stock ownership.

Application will be made to list the stock on the New York Curb and the Cleveland Stock Exchange.

Associated Gas & Electric Sales.

For the week ended Aug. 21 the Associated Gas and Electric Company reported sales of 5,827,181 K. W. H., against 4,916,752 K. W. H. for the corresponding week of 1924. This represents an increase of 18.5 per cent. in electric sales. Gas sales for the week total 12,617,506 cubic feet, against 10,437,337 cubic feet for the same week of last year, or an increase of 19.9 per cent.

LIVERMORE TRADING AGAIN.

Report Says He Conducts Stock Operations From Lake Placid.

According to a report printed in the financial district by Dow, Jones & Co. yesterday, Jesse L. Livermore, who has refrained from active participation in the stock market since June, 1924, once more is trading in stocks.

The report was as follows: "Livermore assumed a heavy short position in the late Winter and Spring last year after predicting a prolonged bear market. When prices began to rise in anticipation of Coolidge's election, he closed out his commitments at substantial losses. After that he gave up trading in stocks altogether, devoting his attention entirely to speculation in cotton and wheat. Recently, however, he re-entered the stock market, conducting his operations from his lodge in the Adirondacks at Lake Placid. One of his large transactions is said to have been the purchase of 50,000 shares of Steel. He is also understood to have taken an important position on the long side of White Motors."

Stock Exchange brokers, who usually act for Mr. Livermore in his market operations, declined to comment on this report yesterday, and none would confirm or deny it.

ACCLAIM RISE OF LIRA.

Some Rome Papers Praise Finance Minister Volpi.

ROME, Aug. 25. (AP).—The improvement in the lira, which has reached 26.30 to the dollar and 128 to the pound—representing a net gain of about a half lira to the dollar in the last two days—is received with great acclaim in that section of the press supporting the Government.

The Epoca believes this represents the beginning of a steady improvement, which is destined to continue uninterruptedly. The paper has praise for Finance Minister Volpi, whom it credits with operating the bourses with greater astuteness than his predecessor by avoiding repressive measures against active trading.

The Epoca adds that Count Volpi merits commendation for having weathered the month-end obligations without appreciable damage to the national credit.

WOULD ABANDON RAILROAD.

Kansas City Northwestern, Broke, Asks Permission to Quit.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—The Kansas City Northwestern Railway applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authority to abandon its line extending from Kansas City, Kan., to Seneca, Kan., 117 miles, with 44 miles of branch lines.

Since the Interstate Commerce Commission denied it a loan, the application set forth, the road is wholly without funds or credit to rehabilitate its line which it says is necessary before it can resume operation.

Deny Buying Pierce-Arrow Stock.

Numerous reports have been circulated in the financial district in the past few days that the buying of Pierce-Arrow stock was for the account of the American Car and Foundry Company, and that American Car would go into the manufacture of motor buses. Executives of the American Car and Foundry Company said yesterday that the company had not bought any Pierce-Arrow stock and was not contemplating the purchase of this stock.

Lehn & Fink Products Dividend.

It was announced yesterday that Lehn & Fink Products Company common stock would be placed on a $3 annual dividend basis by the declaration of an initial quarterly dividend of 75 cents per share, payable Dec. 1. Application will also be made shortly to list the shares on the New York Stock Exchange.

Buys More Gould Coupler Stock.

The Symington Company has increased its holdings in the Gould Coupler Company to 270,000 shares of common stock, or about 90 per cent. of the amount outstanding, according to a statement issued yesterday.

AMERICANS EXPECT TO GET AGA PLANT

REPORTS ON THE WAY HERE

American Engineers and Executives Would Take Charge and Increase the Output.

By LINCOLN EYRE.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Technical reports upon which an American offer for the purchase of the Aga Automobile Works from Dr. Edmond Stinnes will be based are on the way to New York. According to the Berlin representatives of the American financial group which is still unidentified, 12,000,000 gold marks is the probable price, but nothing can be decided until the reports reach the home office eight or ten days hence.

A spokesman for Stinnes informed THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent that he hoped the deal would be concluded within a fortnight. Meanwhile purveyors of raw materials have advanced sufficient funds to cover the payroll for the ensuing three weeks, apparently on an American guarantee.

Deep secrecy still is preserved regarding the identity of the would be buyers Agents here, with whom THE TIMES correspondent talked this afternoon expressed confidence, however, that negotiations would be successful. Reports of the American engineers and auditors which were sent to Paris last night by special courier to catch the Homeric at Cherbourg voice strong optimism about the Aga plant. The Engineers' report shows the plant equipped with modern American machinery operated by efficient workmen under a modern management system. The output of the Aga per man employed is double that of any other German automobile factory, they claim. The auditors' report shows the Aga returned 12 per cent a year net profit during the time since Edmond Stinnes took hold and that recent financial difficulties were occasioned by refusal of banks to discount their bills of sale as was the custom in the past.

The American representative stated American capital would finance future Aga needs if the deal was concluded, freeing the plant entirely from German banks, which would constitute a victory for Stinnes in the struggle to save the concern from German Bankers' domination.

It is planned to have American engineers and executives operate the plant, introducing American production methods, through which it is believed the output can be increased 50 per cent with the same number of employes, enabling a considerable lowering of the present sales price.

ECHO OF STINNES FAILURE.

Strength of Lead Market Laid to Trust's Repudiating Contracts.

Much of the recent strength in the lead market is attributed to the failure of the Stinnes trust in Germany to carry out its contracts, according to advices received in this country.

The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Metal Reporter in commenting on the situation says: "One of the most interesting developments in the German metal trade recently has been the collapse of the metal department of the Stinnes trust, forcing it into liquidation. The metal department of Stinnes in March of the current year booked an order for 20,000 tons of lead for the postal department. The order specified deliveries through October of the current year.

"When the trust collapsed there were still some 8,000 tons of lead to be delivered against the contract, and since Stinnes did not have the necessary finances with which to cover the contracts, the company's metal department was offered for sale to practically all the larger metal traders."

SUSPENDS NEW OIL RATES.

Commerce Commission to Hold Hearings on S. & O. Increases.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP). — New schedules increasing rates on petroleum and petroleum products from Falling Rock, W. Va., to Buffalo, N. Y., and points taking the same rates were ordered suspended by the Interstate Commerce Commission today from Aug. 26 until Dec. 24, pending hearings to determine their fairness. The new schedules were published by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company.

The commission also ordered suspended until Dec. 24 proposed new rate schedules which would cancel numerous routes via Mississippi River crossings north of St. Louis in connection with petroleum rates from producing points in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma to Indiana destinations.

The largest manufacturer of Washing Machines

Capitalization

	Authorized	To be issued
Common Stock (no par value)	2,400,000 shs.	1,600,000 shs.

NO FUNDED DEBT. NO BANK DEBT. NO PREFERRED STOCK.

History and Business

The Maytag Company of Delaware, as successor to a business started in 1893 on a cash capital of $2400, is today the largest manufacturer of washing machines in the world. Since 1922, production has never been able to keep pace with sales. Capacity in 1924 was increased to 400 machines daily, reaching 800 this July and with completion of the plant addition now under construction will reach 1500 machines a day.

The Company has six branches and sells through 5000 distributors and agents. Advertising on an extensive scale was only started in the fall of 1924, and is now at the rate of $1,000,000 annually. With facilities for increased production the Company plans to expand its sales organization in territories which have as yet been practically untouched.

Expanding Market

The total number of homes in the United States is estimated at 26,000,000 of which on January 1st, 1925, only 13,252,000 were wired for electricity. It has been estimated that at the close of 1924, 4,000,000 electric household washing machines were in use, or less than one in every third wired home. At present it is estimated that 5,000,000 homes are within reach of electric power and some 1,600,000 are annually being added to the number connected. Percentage of electrically connected homes using washing machines has constantly increased and may be expected to do so in the future. Annual sales of electric washing machines were only some 13,000 units in 1914 compared with 600,000 units in 1924. In addition the 12,000,000 unwired homes provide a market for the Maytag Company's gasoline engine-driven household washing machine. This market is entirely unavailable to any of the company's competitors.

Sales and Earnings

Maytag's leadership in the industry is unquestioned. Sales have been a steadily increasing percentage of the entire industry. Sales in units compared with the best estimate of those of the entire industry and earnings as determined by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst have been as follows:

Calendar Years	Total Sales Electric Washing Machines (Units)	Maytag Electric Per Cent of total electric	Total Maytag Sales (Units)	Net after taxes
1923	554,373	10.7	68,979	1,045,935
1922	422,927	5.2	33,298	318,082

* For July—29.8%

Based on present indications earnings for the full year 1925 will be $6,200,000 before taxes and in 1926 earnings are expected to exceed $8,000,000. It is the intention of the management immediately to place the common stock on a $2.00 annual dividend basis.

Assets

Without borrowing money the Company is doing the largest business in its history. Balance sheet of July 31st, 1925, showed current assets of $5,479,036 compared with current liabilities of $2,179,660, leaving a working capital of $3,299,376 ample for the Company's needs. Present capitalization is based on earning power, as total net tangible assets amount to $5,227,968. This earning power is given no value on the Company's balance sheet.

Management of the Company will remain in the hands of those responsible for past growth and the Maytag family and associates will retain a 79% interest in the common stock.

This stock is listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange. Application will be made to list it on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Desirability of Gas Investments

We have prepared a letter outlining the desirability of the securities of artificial gas companies as investments and pointing out some of the advantages these companies enjoy over electric power and light enterprises. Embodied therein is a brief description of The Laclede Gas Light Co. First Coll. & Ref. 5½s, due Feb. 1, 1953.

Copies may be had upon request.

REMOVE THE DOUBT

Now Prosperity Is Assured

BUSINESS is going to be good this Fall—better than seemed possible a short time since.

Signs of a turn for the better have been apparent for several weeks. But one thing has been lacking to make the significance of these signs unmistakable.

And now the confirmation comes! The Standard Index of Industrial Production has turned upward at last.

If you want to know what this newest development in the economic situation foretells, ask us for Report No. 41B.

This report has unusual value because the organization that produced it is equipped to examine and thoroughly analyze every available fact which might influence its conclusions. The Standard Statistics Company is the world's largest statistical organization.

GASOLINE WAR SEEN IN SHARP PRICE CUTS

OTHER COMPANIES CUT, TOO

Further general reductions in the wholesale and retail prices of gasoline were announced in the Eastern States yesterday following the reductions of 2 cents a gallon announced in the Middle West on Monday by the Standard Oil Companies of Indiana and Nebraska. The Tide Water Oil Company slashed its tank wagon price 3 cents a gallon in Greater New York yesterday. This was the most drastic single reduction announced in this part of the country since prices started downward about a month ago.

Under the new schedule of prices Tide Water Oil is quoting gasoline at 17 cents a gallon, tank wagon, in greater New York, Staten Island, Yonkers and Long Island. This is 3 cents a gallon below the price now quoted by Standard Oil of New York, and it is expected that the Standard will soon announce a reduction to meet the competition of other companies in this territory. The Gulf Refining Company has already met the reduction announced by Tide Water.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey announced yesterday another reduction of ½ cent a gallon in the tank wagon price throughout its territory, making the new price 16 cents a gallon. This reduction was immediately met by the Tide Water Oil Company, Gulf Refining Company, Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation and the Texas Company.

In the New England States the Atlantic Refining Company reduced gasoline 2 cents a gallon yesterday, and this reduction is expected to be met by Standard of New York, Gulf Oil, Texas and other companies operating in this section. Atlantic Refining also announced a reduction of 1 cent in gasoline, to take effect today in Pennsylvania and Delaware, the home territory of the company. The company also reduced kerosene 1 cent a gallon, the first reduction in this product since 1922.

Talk of a Trade War.

The numerous reductions in prices of gasoline by the leading companies, not only in the East but also in the Middle West and the South, were accompanied by revival of talk of a trade war. Whether or not a trade war exists, the automobilists of the country are now able to buy their gasoline at the lowest prices in about a year, and in some cities the price is from 3 to 5 cents a gallon less than in the middle of July, when the high prices for the current year were recorded. Despite the many reductions in the past month, however, the average price of gasoline in thirty representative cities of the country is still about 5 cents a gallon above the low levels touched in the period of trade depression last Summer.

Leaders in the local trade reiterate that no "war" exists between the various companies, but it is admitted that a fight is on to obtain all the business offered. The slashing of gasoline prices, according to leaders in the industry, is due entirely to the law of supply and demand. Demand for gasoline now is running at the highest level in the history of the country, and there are no signs of any halt at least for several months. While this demand has been in force, petroleum refiners have speeded up their production at a record-breaking pace, with the result that there is too much gasoline on hand in proportion to the demand. This situation is responsible for the desire of the smaller refiners to unload their supplies before winter.

The weak point, it is said, is in the mid-continent territory, where hundreds of small refiners operate. These refiners have been operating their plants as actively as appeared consistent with the demand for gasoline, but while this production was in force a huge surplus of gasoline accumulated on the Pacific Coast where the demand for gasoline is considerably below the capacity of the companies on the Pacific Coast. In order to liquidate their supplies, the larger companies on the Pacific Coast have been offering their surplus gasoline to the big distributing organizations there at prices more attractive than could be obtained in the Middle West. The shipments of gasoline from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast, by way of the Panama Canal, resulted in an accumulation of this product in the Middle West, where the "gas" is now being offered at a fraction above 9 cents a gallon, or nearly four cents a gallon less than about two months ago.

Overproduction Is Blamed.

C. O. Wilson, in the current issue of the Oil and Gas Journal, says that the recent Government reports showed that the supply of gasoline was far in excess of demand, and that the present weakness is due entirely to this overproduction. "The increased recovery of gasoline from crude, the accumulation of gasoline stocks in coastal territories and the failure of many refiners to adjust their production to a slackened demand in their areas are the principal factors in the present weakness in the motor fuel market," says Mr. Wilson.

"Although gasoline stocks on Jan. 1 of this year were larger than necessary, refiners added 896,295,555 gallons to this storage on July 1. The worst feature of this situation was reflected in the fact that only 22,000,000 gallons were taken from storage in June.

"Interior refiners at the expense of coastal refiners maintained a relatively healthy relationship between gasoline output and shipments during the first six months of this year. The situation is now apparently reversed and the interior refiners have failed to reduce their output in line with a lessened demand."

Another factor which brought about weakness in the gasoline situation the past few months, according to trade interests, was the reluctancy of foreign importers to come into the market recently when the price was advancing. Europe had been taking large quantities of gasoline in this market the early months of the year when prices were low. The assumption in trade circles was that this movement would continue throughout the year, but when prices started upward the foreign buyers simply dropped out of the market. Since the recent slash in export prices, however, there has been some improvement in foreign demand, and export buyers have reappeared in the market on a small scale, but once prices again become stabilized it is expected that the export movement will again get under way.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25. (AP).—The Atlantic Refining Company announced today another cut of 1 cent a gallon in the price of gasoline in Pennsylvania and Delaware. The new prices, with the State tax, will be, motor grade, 23 cents, 68-70 grade, 25 cents.

WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 25 (AP).—The price of gasoline dropped 2 cents at all stations here today, except the Standard Oil. One station was selling it for 20 cents and the others were charging 22 cents. The Standard Oil price of 24 cents was unchanged.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 25 (AP).—Gasoline prices were reduced 2 cents a gallon and kerosene 1 cent by all companies here today. Filling station prices here now range from 19.1 to 22.1 cents, not including tax.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 25 (AP).—All independent oil companies in St. Paul cut the price of gasoline 2 cents today, following the lead of the Standard Oil Company.

New England Gasoline Prices Cut.

BOSTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—Four gasoline companies made further cuts today in their wagon prices, which brought the retail price to 18 cents a gallon here. The Gulf Refining, Mexican Petroleum and Tidewater Oil Companies made a general cut from 18 to 16 cents in the wagon price in this State, Connecticut and Rhode Island, and the Texas Company made the same rate for Massachusetts. The Standard Oil Company will put the new rate in effect in Massachusetts and Rhode Island tomorrow, it was announced tonight. Independent dealers have been selling gasoline for 16 cents here.

Maytag Stock Offering All Taken.

Hornblower & Weeks, who offered 250,000 shares of the common stock of the Maytag Company at $20 per share, yesterday announced that the issue had been fully subscribed. The company manufactures electrical washing machines. The stock is listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange, and announcement was made that application to list the issue on the New York Stock Exchange would be made.

CANADIAN RAILWAYS GAINED

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, Ont. Aug. 25.—Official figures issued here today, after the arrival of Sir Henry Thornton, show that the Canadian National Railways have made a notable advance in net revenues during the seven months period ending July 31. This improvement has been made in the face of decreased gross receipts. The gross receipts were $8,934,871, or 0.63 per cent. below the corresponding figures for 1924, but operating expenses were reduced by $11,387,477, or 8.85 per cent., so that the net position stands at $5,067,287, an increase of $2,452,606 or 76.29 per cent. as compared with the first seven months of 1924, and an increase of 84.59 per cent. over the 1923 figures.

The favorable showing should be accentuated during the balance of the year, as an upward movement of gross earnings is now proceeding. During July, 1925, the gross increased by $388,944, or 1.02 per cent. over July, 1924. Operating expenses were decreased by $955,746, or 4.93 per cent., the resultant increase in net revenues for July 18 being $1,339,690, or 228.91 per cent., in the first three weeks of August, 1925. Gross earnings have shown an increase of $1,773,594, or 14.5 per cent. as compared with gross earnings for the first three weeks of 1924.

How to protect your estate and your family

1. Only by a will, can you designate to whom your property shall go; preserve any part of it, such as real estate or a business interest, in existing form; and protect principal and insure income for your beneficiaries.
2. If you die without a will, your property will be liquidated and distributed according to the laws of the State, and your family will be involved in the intricacies of court procedure at the very time when these details are most distressing.
3. But even if you make a will, there are more than thirty technical steps involved in the settlement of an estate which must be taken by whomever you designate as executor.
4. As a practical man, will you load this responsibility on the shoulders of your wife or a son or a friend? Or will you give it to a financially responsible corporation—a group of men in the business of executing wills and administering trusts?
5. The Equitable was founded primarily to act as executor under wills and trustees of inheritances. It can settle your estate and protect your family faithfully, wisely, and economically.
6. But if you should wish to bring in the intimate knowledge and personal interest of an individual, you may make The Equitable co-executor and trustee to provide the professional experience, financial responsibility, organization, and uninterrupted service necessary to the complete discharge of the duties which you some day must pass on to others.
7. Although the drawing of a will is a legal service which this Company as a corporation cannot render, there are personal and practical questions concerning the disposition and management of an estate upon which our advice may be useful to you.
8. For example, if you already have made a will, or contemplate making a new one, we shall be glad to review its provisions from the business and administrative standpoint and all information in our possession is available to enable you to determine the best provisions for your lawyer to incorporate therein.
9. Our booklet, How to Protect your Estate and your Family, will be mailed upon request, together with our Will Memorandum, a simple form which, when filled out, will give your lawyer the information he needs in drawing your will.

"That would never happen to me"

YOU READ the news of a fatal accident, of a sudden mortal illness. You shudder.

"But that would never happen to me," you say, for there is a strange mental twist in each of us that makes us feel secure, that makes death seem remote.

The only safe thing is to be prepared. For your family's sake and for your own peace of mind, make your will now.

Send for an Equitable Will Memorandum today. In a few minutes you can fill it out with the information your lawyer needs to draw your will.

FREIGHT LOADINGS AT YEAR'S HIGHEST

13,182 GAIN ON WEEK BEFORE

All Sections Show Increases Except the Allegheny and Central Western Districts.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—For the fifth consecutive week the loading of revenue freight has exceeded a million cars, according to reports filed today by carriers with the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association. The total for the week ended Aug. 15 was 1,064,793 cars.

While the number of cars loaded with revenue freight up to date this year has exceeded all previous years, the present heavy movement of freight began about July 18 and has been constantly increasing, with the result that the total for the week of Aug. 15 was the greatest for any week so far this year, exceeding by 13,182 cars the preceding week. Compared with the corresponding week last year, it was an increase of 111,385 cars and an increase of 24,853 cars over the corresponding week in 1923. A statement issued by the association today on the week's loadings read:

"Coal loading totaled 190,979 cars, an increase of 1,218 cars over the preceding week and 45,716 cars above the same week last year, and an increase of 1,800 cars over the same week two years ago. Grain and grain products loading amounted to 54,369 cars, an increase of 953 cars over the week before, but 5,761 cars below the same week last year. It was, however, 1,871 cars above the same week in 1923. In the Western districts alone, grain and grain products loading totaled 35,295 cars, a decrease of 6,220 cars below the corresponding week last year. Live stock loading for the week totaled 30,918 cars, an increase of 2,153 cars over the week before and 553 cars above the corresponding week last year, but 1,633 cars under the same week two years ago. In the Western districts alone, 25,090 cars were loaded with live stock during the week, 365 cars more than during the same week last year.

"Loading of merchandise and less than carload lot freight amounted to 259,210 cars, an increase of 767 cars over the week before and 17,272 cars above the same week last year. Compared with the corresponding week two years ago it also was an increase of 17,923 cars.

"Miscellaneous freight loading totaled 383,071 cars, an increase of 5,977 cars over the week before and 33,994 cars above the same week last year. It also was an increase of 30,308 cars above the same week two years ago.

"Coke loading totaled 9,782 cars, an increase of 166 cars above the preceding week and 2,868 cars above the corresponding period in 1924. Compared with the same period in 1923, it was a decrease of 3,805 cars.

"Forest products loading totaled 71,670 cars, six cars below the week before but 2,117 cars above last year. Compared with the same week two years ago, it was a decrease of 5,844.

"Ore loading totaled 64,794 cars, an increase of 1,949 cars above the preceding week and 14,616 cars above last year. It was a decrease, however, of 15,964 cars under the same period two years ago.

"Compared with the preceding week this year, increases in the total loading of all commodities were reported in all districts except the Allegheny and Central Western districts. All districts reported increases over the same period last year while all reported increases over the same week in 1923 except the Allegheny and Northwestern."

BANK STAFF CHANGES.

Montreal Institution Transfers H. F. Skey to Branch Here.

The Bank of Montreal announced yesterday that the recent transfer of Jackson Dodds from Winnipeg to New York had been canceled. Mr. Dodds has been appointed assistant general manager for the Western division of the bank, with headquarters in Winnipeg. H. F. Skey, associate manager at Winnipeg, has been promoted to be second agent for the bank in New York. R. J. Williams, manager at Regina, is to be assistant manager at Winnipeg, and H. C. Francis, inspector for the Province of Alberta, will go to Regina as manager.

The bank's business in the Prairie Provinces has grown to such proportions that it was considered necessary to have a senior executive officer in Winnipeg and further to enlarge the staffs of the West.

RUBBER ASSETS TO BE SOLD

Court Orders Liquidation of Hodgman Company.

A sale of the assets of the Hodgman Rubber Company, one of the oldest rubber concerns in the country, was ordered yesterday by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard. The company went into bankruptcy on Sept. 22, 1924, with liabilities of $1,200,000 and assets of $3,500,000. The company specialized in rubber tops for automobiles, balls, toys, drug sundries and other articles.

The sale was ordered with the consent of the Chase National Bank, the Guaranty Trust Company, the Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company and the Bank of America. It was said that the company had been running at a loss of $10,000 a month since the receivership.

The receivers, J. Newton Gunn and Gordon Auchincloss, were ordered to proceed with the liquidation as soon as possible and to receive offers for the purchase of real estate. The financial institutions which held six-tenth of the claims against the company consented to the sale, and other creditors filed consent through a committee.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Manufacturers' Trust Company is now prepared to deliver at its trust department, 149 Broadway, permanent Bing & Bing, Inc., twenty-five year 6½ per cent. sinking fund debenture bonds due 1950, in exchange for outstanding temporary bonds.

C. Dillon, Read & Co. announce that interim receipts for the issue of $2,500,000 Detroit Properties Corporation five-year 6 per cent. gold notes (with common stock), due March 1, 1930, are now exchangeable for definitive notes and common stock certificates at the Central Union Trust Company and will be exchangeable on and after Aug. 28 at the office of the Union Trust Company, Detroit.

H. D. Williams & Co., members of New York Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, have issued a descriptive circular on the Tulip Cup Corporation.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Francs and Lire Lower, While Scandinavian Currencies Gain —Sterling Easier.

Mixed trends were apparent in the foreign exchange market, with French, Italian and Belgian currencies easier, while Denmark and Norwegian kroner advanced sharply. The advance in Danish kroner put the rate above 20, representing a gain of 18 points for the day and came on speculative buying in the face of the reduction from 7 to 6 per cent. in the Bank of Denmark's discount rate. The buying came mostly from abroad and was connected with renewed reports of Denmark's intention of putting its currency back to par, which is 26.8 cents. Norwegian kroner scored an advance of 25 points, closing at 19.23. The lower trend in French francs was attributed to the apparent lack of progress in the Franco-British debt negotiations, and a decline of 3½ points in lire followed cessation of official buying, which has recently been the chief support of the Italian rate. Sterling closed 1-16 of a cent lower for the day. Other exchanges were steady.

BANK OPENS NEW BRANCH.

United States Organization Holds Ceremony at Seventh Av. Office.

The new Seventh Avenue branch of the Bank of United States at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street was opened yesterday by Joseph S. Marcus, President, who presented the keys to Saul Singer, Vice President in charge of the new office.

Delegates from many trade organizations in the garment industry and from union labor organizations were present at the opening of the new branch. Among the organizations represented were the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association, the Merchants Ladies' Garment Association, the Garment Centre Capitol buildings and other groups located in the new Seventh Avenue commercial district, of which Mr. Singer is regarded as the "discoverer." It was estimated that more than 5,000 persons inspected the new banking quarters.

Assisting Mr. Singer is A. H. Planteroth, Assistant Vice President, who has been stationed hitherto in the bank's main office at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-second Street.

The new branch is the fifth office established by the Bank of United States in the twelve years of its existence. Resources in the last ten years have increased from $2,000,000 to more than $36,000,000.

INTERBOROUGH NET $252,855 IN JULY

Reports $569,580 Gain Over Same Period of 1924, Caused by Cash Paid on Advertising.

3D AV. ALSO HAS INCREASE

Shows Income of $6,371—Deficit of $102,138 Suffered for Twelve Months Ended June 30.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the Third Avenue Railway system issued their statements covering operations for July yesterday. In both instances both gross and net income made a more favorable showing as compared with the previous year.

The detailed statement of earnings of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company shows total revenue of $5,269,212, against $4,426,138 reported in the same month last year. After allowing for all operating expenses, taxes, rentals, fixed charges and other deductions, the system reported net income of $252,855, against a deficit of $316,724 reported in July last year after similar deductions.

In connection with this more favorable showing as to net income, compared with July last year, the explanation of the company is contained in the following official statement:

"The total revenue from all sources for the month showed an increase of $843,074. This was largely due to the fact that the company received in the first part of July, 1925, a cash payment of $770,000 as part of the consideration for the new advertising contract which becomes effective on Nov. 1, 1925. Under the prescribed system of accounting this entire payment of $770,000 necessarily was credited to earnings for the month in which received and appears as an increase in revenue compared with July of last year, during which month, of course, there was no similar payment.

"Disregarding this item, the normal operations for the month showed an increase in total revenue of $63,074. The allowances for operating expenses, taxes, and rentals paid to the city on the old subway increased $233,859. After allowing for all charges, there was a balance for the month of $252,855, an increase of $569,580 compared with July last year, due to the extraordinary payment of $770,000 above mentioned."

The Third Avenue Railway reports total operating revenue of $1,231,253 for July, a reduction of $21,697 compared with the total of $1,252,950 reported in the same month last year. After allowing for all operating expenses, taxes, interest charges and other deductions, this system reported net income of $6,371, against $3,136 in July last year.

In conjunction with the July report the company also issued its statement covering the twelve months ended June 30, compared with the previous twelve-month period. The statement for the twelve months shows total operating revenue of $14,582,509, against $14,640,-268 in the previous fiscal year. After allowing for all expenses, charges and other deductions, a deficit of $102,138 was reported for the twelve months ended June 30, 1925, against a surplus of $75,261 reported after similar deductions in the twelve months ended June 30, 1924.

Directors of the Third Avenue Railway yesterday declared an interest payment of 1¼ per cent. on the adjustment mortgage fifty-year 5 per cent. income bonds, payable Oct. 1.

WILL SELL LAKE BOATS TO ALIEN OPERATORS

Palmer Authorized by Shipping Board to Dispose of 120 Idle Craft.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—President Palmer of the Fleet Corporation was authorized by the Shipping Board today to sell to aliens for operation surplus lake type Government merchant ships which cannot be disposed of readily in the American market.

Such ships, however, can be sold to foreigners only on condition that they shall not be used in trade with the United States. About 120 of them are tied up.

The action was taken after the board had rejected a recommendation of Mr. Palmer that he be authorized to offer for sale abroad surplus ships of all types that could not be disposed of at home.

Under the law ships may be sold to aliens only when they cannot be disposed of in the United States and then a vote of five out of seven Shipping Board Commissioners is necessary. Hitherto few sales abroad have been made.

Pennsylvania Papers File Rate Brief.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 25 (AP).—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association today filed with the Public Service Commission a brief covering contentions in the complaint of the newspapers to proposed rates for transportation of newspapers in baggage cars, filed by the Pennsylvania Railroad and other railroads. The newspapers contend that the proposed increase will subject the publishers to an "unreasonable and unjust" burden of about $271,000 annually.

PRICES OF COTTON LOWEST OF SUMMER

PARTIAL RECOVERY FOLLOWS

The lowest prices of the Summer were recorded in yesterday's cotton market when three active months sold below 23 cents, compared with 25½ cents on the advance a month ago. Final quotations showed a loss of 24 to 27 points on the day. With the Department of Agriculture raising its indicated yield to 14,000,000 bales and a daily increasing quantity of new cotton being offered in the South, selling pressure proved in excess of trade demand. Prices lost nearly $2 a bale, and it was not until December sold within a few points of 23 cents and 70 points below best figure of the previous session that the decline was arrested, and a recovery of 15 points established toward the close.

As compared with the extreme heat of last week, when over 160 stations reported temperatures of 100 to 110 degress, the thermometer of 100 to 110 degand only 4 points in yesterday's detailed return. In Texas thirteen stations had light moisture, but less than a quarter of an inch at any point. In Louisiana an inch was reported in the centre of the State and showers at several stations elsewhere. Very little rain fell in the rest of the cotton belt, and an increasing draught area prevails in Eastern sections.

With a lower range of quotations abroad, the selling movement under way at the close Monday was resumed at the opening of the market. At this season of the year agents of spot houses buy an increasing quantity of cotton at the interior, and hedging orders are executed on the opening and the close each day. Operations of this nature proved liberal yesterday both here and in New Orleans, and early trading found more contracts for sale than for some time. All the December buying orders between 23.40c and 23.50c were filled on and immediately following the call which induced various speculative interests to resell contracts covered before the Government issued its last report. Though each few points recession met buying orders for the trade, prices broke into new low ground for the movement, and before midday October ran through 23c. Heavier port and interiors receipts and Southern advices showing that dealers were rapidly securing the cotton needed to fill August commitments, operated against the market. After breaking to 23.13c for December, covering by professionals owing to uncertainty over the character of today's weekly weather report steadied the list and produced a rally of 10 to 15 points the last hour.

Transactions at Southern markets aggregated 22,000 bales at a decline of 15 to 34 points in quotations, with prices quarter of a cent lower at most points. As a result of increased offerings in Atlantic sections middling cotton is quoted at 22½c at Augusta and 22.55c at Savannah.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

Southern spot markets were: Galveston, sales 753; 23.40c, 25 points decline. New Orleans, sales 341; 22.48c, 34 points decline; Savannah, sales 308; 22.55c, 20 points decline; Augusta, sales 455; 22.50c, 25 points decline; Memphis, sales 3,350; 23.50c, unchanged. COMMODITY PRICES.

Grain prices again moved to lower levels in the local cash commodity markets yesterday. Wheat dropped 1¼ cents a bushel, corn and rye two cents and oats ½ cent. Flour declined 20 cents a barrel in sympathy with the recent reaction in wheat. Among the foodstuffs sugar was the only product to advance. Metals were generally easier, copper, zinc and tin all being quoted fractionally lower. Spot cotton dropped ¼-cent a pound. Crude rubber, remained unchanged.

MOON PROFITS SET RECORD.

Net Earnings in July Were at Rate of $12 a Share.

The Moon Motor Car Company reports July net earnings of $187,274, which is at the annual rate of $12 a share on the 180,000 shares of no par value stock outstanding. This establishes a new monthly record.

In making the announcement, Stewart McDonald, President, stated that the reason for the increased earnings is the success of the Diana models, on which the company got into production in June. He said that from the orders on hand and the number of cars being shipped this month, August earnings should approximately equal the July figures.

$200,000 Fire in Chicago Elevators.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP).—Damage estimated at $200,000 was caused by fire today in two six-story grain elevators of the Union Elevators on the south side and the Chicago River. The structures, one of brick and the other sheet metal, were empty. A warehouse of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., adjacent, was damaged to the estimated extent of $25,000. A blazing wall of one elevator fell into the river and for a time threatened shipping and near-by warehouses and factories.

Socialists Ask Universal 8-Hour Day.

MARSEILLES, France, Aug. 25 (AP).—The International Socialist Congress today adopted a resolution urging the effective and universal application of the eight-hour working day principle and demanding also that no unjustified overtime hours be permitted. The resolution called for a considerable reduction in this maximum for trades in which conditions are especially difficult and unhealthful.

Tulip Cup Earnings Take Big Jump.

The Tulip Cup Corporation reports net earnings of $189,816 for the six months ended June 30, after all expenses and reserves for depreciation and taxes. This compares with $168,957 reported in the full year 1924. The preliminary balance sheet as of June 30, 1925, shows current assets of $576,389 and current liabilities of $139,551, leaving net working capital of $456,838.

RENTENBANK LOAN REPORTED DROPPED

LEGISLATIVE BARRIER SEEN

President Schacht of Reichsbank Said to Be Coming Here for Financial Conferences.

Officials of the National City Company expressed surprise yesterday at cabled reports from Germany that negotiations for a $50,000,000 loan to the Rentenbank had been broken off. Several representatives of the company have been in Berlin for some time conferring on the loan plans, and officials here said that as far as they knew the negotiations were still in progress.

The loan was planned for the benefit of German agriculture and contemplated the reorganization of the Rentenbank on a basis somewhat similar to the American farm loan system. Several obstacles have arisen, among them the necessity of adopting legislation giving the Rentenbank authority to arrange for dollar loans based on German real estate mortgages.

Wall Street bankers were interested also in another report from Berlin saying that President Schacht of the Reichsbank might make an early visit to New York for a series of financial conferences. It is believed that if President Schacht comes here details not only of the Rentenbank loan but of other advances to German interests might be settled. The main purpose of such a visit, however, would be discussions with Goverhor Strong of the Federal Reserve Bank regarding the working out of the Dawes plan and other questions of German finance.

In the New York banking world President Schacht is regarded as one of the most level-headed and capable of the present-day public figures in Germany, and it is believed that if he should visit New York a number of uncertainties in the financial relations of this country with Germany could be cleared up. It has not been confirmed that he intends coming here, however, and it is uncertain whether the press of his business would permit him to leave Germany for any extended time.

FARGO DRIVES OUT I. W. W.

Groups Are Jailed and Chased Out When All Are Rounded Up.

FARGO, N. D., Aug. 25 (AP).—Citizens called into service by Sheriff John C. Ross escorted out of town last night more than one hundred alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World. The men were taken out in two groups. Clubs were wielded and there was some stone throwing.

One group, numbering forty-three, was taken from the Cass County Jail and commanded to march to the Front Street Bridge over the Red River of the North. Accompanied by a citizens' committee sworn in as deputy sheriffs, the party proceeded in orderly fashion to the bridge, where the men ran to the Minnesota side.

Returning to the jail the deputies brought out seventy-five more men and took them to the Northern Pacific Avenue Bridge. The second group turned as it reached the Moorhead side and began throwing rocks at the deputies. There were several hand-to-hand struggles, but no one was seriously injured.

For more than a week authorities have been busy rounding up men they believed to be I. W. W.'s. The alleged "wobblies" come to this district every Fall for the harvest. Those showing no inclination to go to work were taken into custody.

New York Dock Income Rises.

The New York Dock Company reports gross revenue of $289,426 for July, against $273,223 in the same month last year. After all expenses and taxes and interest, the company reports net income of $62,457, against $42,976. For the seven months ended with July gross revenue amounted to $1,945,705, against $1,883,423 in the same period last year, and net income of $378,198, against $322,498.

Bank Increases Its Capital.

Stockholders of the American Union Bank of 10 East Twenty-second Street voted yesterday to increase the capital stock from 8,000 shares to 12,000 shares, or from $800,000 to $1,200,000.

GERMAN BOND PLANE LANDS AT CROYDON

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The airplane laden with £9,600,000 worth of German bonds landed at Croydon airdrome today. The bonds are part of the security offered by Germany in connection with the £40,000,000 loan to that country arranged under the Dawes reparations plan.

The bonds were brought in sacks, each as heavy as a man could carry. Each sack was carefully sealed and the consignment accompanied by German financial officials.

On arrival from Amsterdam the airplane was met by armed police, who were on guard while the sacks from Berlin were loaded into bullion vans and transported to the Bank of England, in the vaults of which they were deposited.

Tomorrow the seals will be broken and the bonds checked over by bank officials in the presence of representatives of the German Government.

This was the most valuable load ever carried by an airplane, and the machine itself was a novelty in this country. It was a three-engine Junker of 600 horse power and carrying nine passengers. The whole machine was covered with thin sheets of corrugated duraluminum and has only one wing but of such strength that several persons can walk on it simultaneously.

Exchange Rules on AGWI Stock.

The Committee on Securities of the New York Stock Exchange has ruled that the common stock of the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Steamship Company be quoted ex rights on Aug. 28; that transactions in rights must be settled on Sept. 8, after which dealings in rights will be as in securities. The right to subscribe expires on Sept. 15.

RADIATOR WORKERS STRIKE.

A Hundred of the 600 in Bayonne Plant Demand an Eight-Hour Day.

Special to The New York Times.

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 25.—More than 100 of the 600 employes in the Bayonne plant of the American Radiator Company walked out on strike today. The demands of the workers, who are not organized, for an eight-hour day and an increase in the pay per hour, which will bring the day's wages up to the level of those now earned in nine hours. The strikers are endeavoring to induce the remaining workers to join them.

General Manager Geddes of the radiator plant called the strike merely the "quitting" of some two dozen men. "It it a trivial matter," he said, "we do not recognize that it is a strike."

Policemen are on duty at the plant to prevent disorders. Thus far there have been none.

LIQUIDATION SENDS ALL GRAINS LOWER

Sales of 1,200,000 Bushels on Export Demand Fail to Brace the Wheat Market.

CANADIAN GRAIN POURING IN

Corn and Rye Lose More Than Two Cents With Oats at Lowest on the Crop.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Scattered liquidation developed in all grains today and prices broke sharply, with September wheat at one time showing only 1 cent over the December and finished 1½ cents over, with net losses of 1¾@1¾ cents. A leading local long was credited with going out of his line during the day, and there was also pressure from houses with Northwestern connections. Winnipeg led the decline, being off 2¼@2½ cents at the last.

The market received good support on the declines from commission houses on resting orders and at the last was regarded as somewhat oversold.

The decline of the last two days was in the face of export sales of around 1,200,000 bushels of hard Winter wheat; the sales here failed to bring in any material increase in speculative interest. It is said that a considerable amount of grain is held by small traders.

The relatively light trade, causing the market to get oversold or overbought quickly, leads to extremely erratic fluctuations.

Pressure of Spring wheat hedges is steadily increasing, while the movement in Canada is gradually enlarging, with nearly half of today's arrivals of 87 cars being 1925 grain, and the quality relatively poor, due to rust and heat damage.

Wheat prices have been holding within a range of around 7 cents per bushel since the bad break following the issuance of the Government August crop report.

The fact that export business is being done in American wheats is taken as reflecting a scarcity of Manitobas, and the Russian offers are largely for September-October shipment, making it necessary for importers to secure wheat from this country, despite the relatively high price.

Primary arrivals today were 1,360,000 bushels; week ago, 1,101,000; last year, 2,263,000. Shipments were 576,000 bushels; week ago, 542,000; last year, 3,-266,000.

A number of leading houses were aggressive on the selling side of September corn, the impression prevailing that a local operator who had been bullish and long for some time was going out of his line. The close was at net losses of 1¼@2¼ cents, September leading.

There has been much comment of late over the strength in the near-by delivery and the trend of the market hinged largely on whether the longs or the shorts liquidated first.

Cash basis here was ⅜ cent higher and the country shut off selling as the result of the decline.

Favorable crop reports are coming from the greater part of Illinois and Iowa and the crop is well along to maturity. At the inside the market was within ¾@1¼ cents of the lowest price of the season.

Primary arrivals of corn today are 984,000 bushels; week ago, 984,000; last year, 860,000 bushels, and shipments, 503,000 bushels; week ago, 187,000; last year, 535,000.

MEXICANS WELCOME NEW BANK OF ISSUE

Conditions Believed to Be Favorable to Its Operations, Which Begin Next Week.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—A week before the opening of Mexico's National Bank its success seems assured. Business men are anxious for paper money, as under present conditions business is suffering from lack of fluid currency. Reports from all parts of the republic state that wage-earners have decided to accept the bills and threaten to boycott all business that refuses the bills or attempts to discount them.

A feature that will help place the bank on a solid base is that the Government will issue only a few million pesos in the next six months or until public confidence is fully established. Several important banks have offered to take the bills without limit. Societies connected with the labor syndicate have indicated their wish to place their savings funds in the new bank. Business men believe the issue of bills will stimulate trade, which is now stagnant. Circulation of the bills, they believe, will brighten business and make collections much easier, at the same time permitting larger operations at lower costs.

At present any large transaction must be handled in coin, with expenses for cartage and guards, or through drafts, which also increase the expense. The daily scene in Mexico City of collectors carrying bags of gold and silver on their shoulders and in autos and trucks will soon disappear.

Another factor in favor of solidity of the bank will be a decree of the Government making taxes, import duties, &c., payable only in the bills. This, it is believed, will prevent speculators from trying to discount bills, taking advantage of the ingnorance of the lower classes.

The Mutual Building recently purchased by the Government for the bank is being rapidly repaired and placed in condition for banking offices. Once occupied by the Bank of Montreal the building is well known to Mexicans and is estimated to be worth $500,000.

American business men are agreed in saying the bank will stimulate trade in Mexico and will help lower the cost of living, which in the past few months has been steadily rising.

Live Stock Markets at Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Hogs declined 10 to 40 cents, with a top of $13.10, and the day's average of $11.55 was the lowest since May 5. With receipts of 18,000 and a carryover of 16,000 from Monday, the supply was in excess of requirements. Large packers came into the market as buyers toward the last and caused a partial recovery in the decline. The bulk of the 160-210 pound averages sold at $13.75@13, with 225-325 butchers at $12@12.60, and packing sows at $10.40@10.65. Fat lambs were in demand at full prices, with a top of $14.85 on rangers, and $14.75 on natives, with the bulk of range stock at $14.50@ 14.75, and natives at $14@14.50. Sheep were steady, with receipts of 21,000. Choice steers were in demand and 25 cents higher, with a top of $15.75, while yearlings brought up to $15.50. Plainer kinds of grass steers were steady. Stockers and feeders were weak to a shade lower. Receipts were 7,000.

Call Light Rates Unfair.

President John Tulloch of Larchmont will appoint during this week a committee of three Trustees to investigate the rates of the Westchester Lighting Company, as a result of a letter received by the Village Board from the President of Tarrytown, Ernest Griffen. The letter said that the findings of the investigators indicated that the rates on electricity were higher than was necessary or fair.

FORD EXPERIMENTS ELECTRIFYING ROAD

COST NO OBJECT TO HIM

Will Soon Put Into Effect Another Scheme in His Ambition to Better Transportation Lines.

Henry Ford will completely electrify his Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad, it was disclosed yesterday, with equipment representing a radical departure from the general practice in railroad electrification. His locomotive will be unusual in that it will be actuated from alternating current supply but will use direct current motors, and his trolley voltage of 24,000 will represent twice as much as any previously used in this country.

Mr. Ford, it was said, was not looking at the electrification of the D., T. & I. simply from the standpoint of economical operation but regarded it as an experiment from which much might be learned by the country's major railroads. Removed from the limitations that in almost all other instances surround railroad operation, he is in a sense trying it out for their benefit, it was explained. This is possible, as the motor manufacturer has unlimited funds to expend upon the project and his labor policy frees him from all of the traditions bound up in the history of steam locomotive operation.

Rapid freight and passenger transportation is in his opinion the key to the country's economic future. Transportation has in fact become his chief hobby, and his entrance into the ocean-going end of it as well as his efforts to make the airplane practical have been phases of his ambition to coordinate all carriers in obtaining efficient delivery, according to a man in close touch with his electrification experiment who discussed it.

Other Roads Will Study Ford Road.

As the D., T. & I. in its route from Detroit to Ironton, Ohio, crosses the tracks of the country's principal trunk lines, an excellent opportunity for observation of his type of locomotive will be afforded. One railroad executive remarked recently that what Mr. Ford was doing on his railroad constituted the most interesting experimental work at the present time. Others have complained that Henry Ford has received too much credit from the public as a railroad operator, explaining that his problem was vastly more simple than that of a trunk line or of a railroad required to originate its traffic.

Many executives still maintain that electrification does not offer outstanding economies over steam, and recently a railroad President predicted that the time would never come when all of the country's railroads would be electrified.

The Ford locomotive of the motor generator type, which is the product of the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing Company, according to special specifications, has alternating current of 25 cycles supplied by the trolley and stepped down to 1,250 volts by a transformer carried in the cab of each of its two sections. A combination of a high alternating current with a direct current locomotive is thus achieved. Among the advantages of this type of motive power, as explained by electrical men, are an increase in the economical range of power, a decrease in the transmission losses and the number of substations necessary and a lighter line and trolley construction.

Has Traveling Substation.

This type of locomotive is also able to operate in the same train with any other type of alternating current locomotive and can easily be adapted for running on any 25 cycle trolley voltage. It is designed to develop a maximum of 5,000 horsepower, and a maximum starting effort of 250,000 pounds. One of its chief recommendations is that, instead of substations along the line for converting the current supply, the locomotive will contain its own traveling substation.

Other reasons for Mr. Ford's adoption of this unusual unit of electrification are said to be the simplicity of its regenerative system and its ability to regenerate at almost any speed from the maximum to a practical standstill, the rugged electrical characteristics of the motor, and the possibilities for the simplification of its mechanical parts.

The first unit of the D. T. & I. to receive electrical operation will be the branch known as the Detroit & Ironton upon which the powerful electric locomotives will be placed in the near future. Contracts drawn up to date in the electrification plan are said to involve the expenditure of about $15,000,000, but the entire program is expected to require more than $50,000,000.

Preliminary running tests on the Rouge yards of the railroad at Detroit are reported as very successful. F. H. Shepard, Director of Heavy Traction of the Westinghouse Company, who was present at some of the try-outs, said yesterday that they had justified the expectations of the company and of Mr. Ford.

FLORIDA LAND GOING FAST.

Less Than 10,000 Acres Left Open to Entry in State.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—General Land Office officials said today that less than 10,000 acres of Federal land now remain open to entry for homesteads in Florida, and at the present rate all will be gone by the end of this year except choice areas withdrawn by the Interior Department for sale at prices commensurate with present Florida values.

On June 30, 1924, the Government had 79,606 acres in Florida, but on last June 30 its holdings had dwindled to 20,127 acres.

MANGANESE SUPPLY IS NEARING NORMAL

American Concessions in Russia Are Expected to Assure the Needed Output.

BRAZIL'S EXPORTS FALL OFF

Steel Industry May Turn to Newer Field as Caucasus Mines Are Again Active.

The concessions recently granted by the Russian Government and private interests to American banking and manufacturing interests for the development of the manganese properties in Russia are expected to furnish the world with a normal supply of this commodity. The concession to the American interests runs for twenty years, and a new organization has been formed, with the cooperation of larger European consumers, to consolidate the numerous small holdings and reorganize completely the methods of production along modern lines. W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc., are the American interests which obtained the concessions.

"According to recent reports, more than 100,000 tons of Russian ore have been sold by the American concessionnaire for shipment to the United States over the remainder of the current year," says the National Bank of Commerce in its current review. "The annual world requirements of manganese ore are estimated to be 1,750,000 tons. More than 25 per cent. of all manganese ore consumed in the United States is used by the steel industry. Although manganese deposits occur in some form in many parts of the world, it is not economical, except in case of emergency, to work most of the deposits outside of Russia, India and Brazil, which before the war produced 95 per cent. of world supplies.

"Pre-war output by the three chief producing countries—Russia, India and Brazil—was somewhat over 2,000,000 tons. The low point of production by these countries was reached in 1919 with a yield of but little more than 350,000 tons. There has been a steady gain in annual output since 1922 and production by the three countries in 1924, according to the best available estimates, was approximately 1,175,000 tons.

"While manganese from Brazil has been the mainstay of the American steel industry for the past ten years it is improbable that Brazil will continue to be as large a contributor as heretofore. Total exports from Brazil reached the peak of 824,000 tons in 1917. In 1924 only 157,000 tons were exported.

"Deposits in the district of Chiaturi, in the present republic of Georgia, which before the war supplied three-fourths of the Russian output, are variously estimated at from 144,000,000 to 250,000,000 tons, as compared with reserves of 11,137,000 in three most important districts of India and reserves of 10,000,000 tons in the largest active mine in Brazil. The manganese content of ordinary Caucasus ore is from 46 to 50 per cent., which is considered high grade and resources of which are practically unlimited. At the normal rate of output the Chiaturi deposits are sufficient to last more than two centuries.

"Production of manganese ore in Russia in 1913 was 1,207,000 tons. The effect of war and internal political upheaval reduced the output in Russia exclusive of Georgia to less 12,000 tons in 1921, when apparently the mines in Georgia were not operating. Since that year production has increased steadily and according to a report published recently in the Russian Review, output for the fiscal year ended Oct. 1, 1924, was about 400,000 tons. Accumulated stocks of ore at the mines on Oct. 1, 1924, were only 221,000 tons against 371,000 tons a year previous.

"Development of proposed adequate transportation facilities in the Russian fields will have far-reaching effects toward restoring the Russian manganese industry to its former status. Successful development of Russian fields will be necessary before a normal supply of manganese will be available for the world markets."

WILLIAM H. BARR BANKRUPT

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 25.—William H. Barr of Derby, President of the National Founders Association since 1917, and President of the newly-formed American Pictures Corporation, which was organized in July of this year, filed a petition in bankruptcy today listing his liabilities at $150,237.27 and his assets at $21,269.77, of which secured claims amount to $16,884.

The Art Class Picture Corporation of New York and the Church and School Film Company, Inc., of New York, were promoted by Mr. Barr, who is a creditor for $15,386. Among his liabilities are notes for $108,616 payable to the American Motion Pictures Corporation.

At the offices of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., of which Will H. Hays is President, it was said that the American Pictures Corporation had gone into bankruptcy two months ago. President Hays said that Barr was not a member of the organization since he was interested in non-theatrical productions.

American Bridge Gets City Contract.

The American Bridge Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, has received a contract for 4,300 tons of steel to be used in connection with the construction of a part of the St. Nicholas Avenue subway.

Now It Is Leather Garters.

Among the newest items in women's novelty garters are ones made of leather. Selected belt stock is used in these garters, which are equipped with a rubber insert in order to provide the necessary elasticity. One firm here is offering six different styles of these novelties. The leathers are suede, kid or patent leather and are worked out in plain to highly decorative effects. The designs include fancy perforations with combination stitching or colored soutache braid sewed around the edge. The buckle adornments also come in for considerable attention, and range all the way from the celluloid tongue type to the fancy engraved or pressed gilt varieties. Wholesale prices of the merchandise are from $60 to $69 per gross pair.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The opening Fall luncheon meeting of the National Notion Association will be held on Sept. 23 at the Aldine Club. D. G. Perkins, merchandise manager of Strawbridge & Clothier, Philadelphia, will be the speaker.

A ready-to-wear store is being built in Port Chester, N. Y., for A. Gold, formerly of this city. Marshall Semmelman is treasurer of the firm which will operate the establishment.

Miss R. Donner has been appointed exclusive representative for this country and Canada of L'Art et la Mode, the French fashion weekly published in Paris. She will have her office at 1,269 Broadway.

Fire Department.

Good Holiday Belt Business.

Business in men's belts for the Fall and holiday seasons is reported to be very satisfactory, with the initialed buckle variety, attractively boxed for gift purposes, doing especially well. When goods are intended for gift purposes sterling silver is the material preferred for the buckle, although the bronze finish is also in demand. Calfskin is the preferred leather, with novelty colors such as light tan and blue selling well. Increasing importance of the color and style element in belts is seen by the style charts used by belt manufacturers in their advertising. These charts recommend shades of belts that will harmonize best with the various colors of men's clothing, in this way encouraging the ownership of more than one belt by each man. Reviving popularity of suspenders is said to be having little effect on sales of belts, since men prefer to wear a belt to give an added dressy appearance, even while they are wearing suspenders.

Novel Toy Poster Outfit.

A novel educational toy is just being placed on the market which enables children to make unique posters. This patented plaything puts to work the creative instinct of the child who is tiring of the usual toys with which it plays. It consists of an outfit which works on the "layer" process already successfully used in commercial display work. The completed posters depict familiar childhood subjects, the effect being secured through mounting painted cut-out pieces or layers on a background or on each other. The outfit comes complete with wooden frames, water colors, brush, glue and color guide and assembly sheets. The child is clearly instructed just how the posters are "built" up. The outfit, with two subjects, is priced to retail at $3.75. Additional subjects retail at $1.25 each. The first series contains Mother Goose subjects, and the manufacturers plan to issue new ones of educational and historical character monthly. Those forthcoming soon will deal with the landing of Columbus, Paul Revere's ride and the arrival of the Pilgrims. Leading stores are said to be stocking this toy.

Little Doing in Gray Goods.

The 25 point drop in raw cotton yesterday put an effectual damper on trading in gray goods. About the only business done was for fill-in requirements, with future deliveries neglected. First-hand sales were made of 38½-inch 60-48s at 8 cents and of 39-inch 68-72s at 10¼ cents. For small spot lots of 38½-inch 64-60s buyers paid 9¼ cents, with 9⅝ cents quoted for September delivery. A few parcels of 44-40, 8.20s, changed hands at 6¾ cents for quick goods. Sheetings were also quiet. A limited volume of business was done in 35-inch 5.15s at 6¼ cents and in 36-inch 5.50s at 7⅛ cents. The ruling quotation on 72-60 pajama checks was 10¾ cents. Drills and ticks remained inactive.

***

Styles in Silk Undergarments.

Buying of women's silk undergarments for the Fall has centred upon crepe de chine and crepe back satin models, with much lace ornamentation. The laces are chiefly of the novelty or appliqued net variety, since the hand-made type has largely disappeared from use for this purpose. Aside from the lace trimmings, ribbons and other embellishments are the high shades, which is also noted, is attributed to the use of these garments for lounging purposes.

***

Women's Neckwear for Fall.

The demand for women's neckwear is increasing and the prospects for Fall are considered good. Many novelties are being shown. In these stress the use of ribbons and satin buttons. In scarfs, hand-painted designs are prominent, with high shades continuing strong in the usual silk merchandise. In imported lines, the lace panel or square attached to a V-shaped collar is among the most wanted merchandise. There is also an extensive showing of jabots and side frills, according to the United Neckwear League of America.

New Negligees Are Shorter.

The new negligees are of shorter length than were those offered for last Fall. This is true not only of the dainty boudoir negligee, but also of the practical quilted robes for cold weather, according to the negligee division of the United Underwear League of America. The leading designs being offered feature marabou and ostrich trimmings in the more elaborate models. The materials used vie in beauty with dress materials. In frequent instances, brocades, gros de Londres, satin and chiffon are used. Instead of the slip-over model, preference is being given the garment which opens down the front. This is more easily put on.

Worsted Yarns Still Improve.

The worsted yarn market shows progressive betterment each week, according to the market letter of Thomas H. Ball, but current prices still mean small profits for the spinners. It is pointed out that either a lower level of raw wool prices the new manufacturing costs must obtain or higher yarn prices must rule if spinners are to benefit by the improvement in activity. The returning favor for worsted goods is indicated in the higher percentage of active spindleage compared to that ruling two months ago. Knitting yarns for jersey cloth and balbriggan goods and yarns for the knit underwear trade continue in good demand. Another encouraging feature of the yarn market is the return to favor of the sweater line of goods, to be made up into garments of real warmth. Carpet worsted demand shows some improvement, but purchases of this variety are expected to be of the hand-to-mouth variety until the outcome of the Alexander Smith carpet and rug auction sale, scheduled for Sept. 1, is known. Woolspun yarns are less active both for weaving and spinning.

Softer Worsteds Preferred.

Although the Spring lines of most mills producing men's wear fabrics are opened, the question as to the extent of the return of worsteds to popularity is still largely unanswered. It is recognized that worsteds are now on a level where they can compete with the wool fabrics in many price ranges, but it is still doubtful as to how the consumer will like the hard-faced fabrics. Buyers who have visited the market thus far are said to have reflected this uncertainty in their purchases. On this account, more mills are emphasizing their softer finished worsteds, such as the mill finished effects. Meanwhile, with much business remaining to be done on the Fall goods, mills are anticipating active reordering by the clothing manufacturers, especially of the more staple fabrics.

Larger Sales of Corsets.

Although the all-around type of corsets is still the best selling item, a recent increase is noted in the calls for the old back-laced types. This is ascribed to the difficulty which larger numbers of women are having in displaying the straightline silhouette that is still largely retained by fashions. Although the emphasized waistline being shown in Parisian dress styles is encouraging to corset manufacturers, it is recognized that the accentuated figure of former years is probably gone forever. A reported increase in sales of corsets during the past year is attributed by some manufacturers partially to the rubber reducing corset fad of a year ago. The fad collapsed rather rapidly, but it is said to have served the purpose of getting women thinking about corsets.

LATEST DEALINGS IN REAL ESTATE

Flag Manufacturers Buy Thirteen-Story Loft at Sixteenth Street.

WAS HELD AT $1,000,000

Plans Filed for Commercial Skyscraper at Fifth Avenue and Forty-fifth St.

Fifth Avenue figured prominently in the real estate market yesterday with the sale of a downtown corner to manufacturers and the filing of plans for a skyscraper at Forty-fifth Street.

One of the outstanding features of the market was the purchase by Annin & Co., Louis Annin Ames President, of the thirteen-story store and loft building on the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Sixteenth Street and known as 35 Fifth Avenue. The property, which was held at $1,000,000, has a frontage on Fifth Avenue of 49 feet and a depth along Sixteenth Street of 141.10 feet, with an "L" 35 by 92 feet, giving a total ground area of about 8,000 square feet. The purchasing company, which is the largest manufacturer of flags and banners in the world, will immediately occupy several floors in the building and also the store and basement at the expiration of the present lease in another year. The brokers in the transaction were William H. Whiting & Co.

Annin & Co. moved into their present quarters at 99 Fulton Street, corner of William Street, as tenants in 1847, subsequently purchasing the property. They have occupied this parcel continuously since that time, later acquiring the adjoining parcels out to and including the corner of Ann Street. About two months ago they disposed of all their holdings to the Royal Insurance Company, which is about to erect a tall building on the site.

File Plans for New Building.

Plans were filed yesterday with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings for the thirty-one-story commercial structure to be erected on the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-fifth Street by the Fred F. French Companies.

The new structure, which will be known as 551 Fifth Avenue, will represent an outlay of $10,000,000 in land and building and will have a frontage of 92.8 feet on Fifth Avenue and 200 feet on Forty-fifth Street.

The exterior finish will be of limestone and brick. There will be setbacks to comply with the zoning laws, and a decorative tower will rise 171 feet from the eighteenth floor. The ground floor will be arranged for banking purposes.

The main entrance will be on Forty-fifth Street, leading to a spacious elevator hallway.

According to a statement issued yesterday by the Fred F. French Companies the entire project has been financed and will be built by the Fred F. French Companies under the French plan.

It is expected that 551 Fifth Avenue will be completed about Jan. 1, 1927. Sloan Robertson, Inc., are the architects.

$1,500,000 Apartment Sale.

The Imperial Property Company has sold the twelve-story apartment house at 490 Riverside Drive and the eight-story apartment house at 99 Claremont Avenue, directly to the rear of 490 Riverside Drive. The holding price was $1,500,000. Thomas J. O'Reilly was the broker.

Lewis H. May Company sold for Lorraine R. & C. Company property on the west side of Beach Thirty-second Street, Edgemere Avenue and McKinley Avenue, Edgemere, L. I., consisting of fifty-two modern bungalows, to Isidore Tankoos for investment. The property was held at $275,000.

Brunswick-Praver Company sold seventy-seven acres at Ocean Side, L. I. This property has a large frontage on the Great South Bay. The Conservative Land Associates, who are the purchasers, will improve this property with hundreds of bungalows.

Frank J. Magerle sold for Lenora Strausburger 8,919 120th Street, between Eighty-ninth and Ninetieth Avenues, Richmond Hill, L. I., an eight-room, one-family detached cottage, on a plot 40 by 115, to a client, who will occupy same.

Another Apartment in Long Beach.

Another apartment house operation is to be undertaken at Long Beach, L. I., as the result of a quick turnover of a plot of six lots adjacent to the railroad station. The transaction was arranged by Fred J. Knob as broker, and involves the sale for a client of a plot 120 by 100 on the north side of Park Street, between Magnolia and Laurelton Boulevards. The purchaser immediately resold the property to J. Manowits, a builder, who plans the immediate erection of a four-story apartment house on the site.

A plot of five lots at the northwest corner of Riverside Boulevard and Broadway, Long Beach, L. I., has been purchased by Mrs. A. Fishkin, who plans to improve it with a boarding house. The property has a frontage of 100 feet along each thoroughfare.

Sales in Westchester County.

Yankauer & Davidson, representing Alaned Realty Company, report the purchase by their clients of a plot of ground situated on Drake Avenue, New Rochelle, N. Y., having a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of about 400 feet. It is said that an apartment house will be erected on this site in the Fall of this year.

Chauncey B. Griffen has sold for Mrs. E. Amundson her property on Ossining Road, Pleasantville, N. Y., to Horace Hogle Jr.

BUYS EAST SIDE SITE.

Thirty-first St. Plot Assembled for Alteration.

The Title Guarantee and Trust Company, as trustee, sold the three-story and basement house at 41 East Thirty-first Street, on a lot 21 by 98.9 feet, to a buyer who recently purchased the four-story business building at 43 East Thirty-first Street, making a total plot-age of 42.11 by 98.9 feet. It is the intention of the purchaser to make extensive alterations to this property, and leases are pending with a large silk concern for the entire building. The brokers were White-Goodman.

The New York Title and Mortgage Company has made a loan of $1,000,000 on the sixteen-story apartment house being erected by Harry Schiff at 126-130 West Fifty-ninth Street. The loan is for five years and bears interest at the rate of 5½ per cent. The site measures 76.6 by 100.5 and adjoins the "Spanish Plate."

Emigrant Bank Sells.

Eugene J. Busher Company, Inc., sold for the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank the plot 100 by 100 feet on the south side of Seaman Avenue, 200 feet west of 207th Street, to Samuel Rubin.

NEW FLATBUSH LOTS SOLD FOR $808,650

Builders, speculators and operators were bidders Monday night when Joseph P. Day offered business and residential lots on Avenue U, Neck Road, Avenue T, Nostrand Avenue and adjacent thoroughfares. In less than two hours the 290 lots were disposed of for a total of $808,650, or an average of nearly $3,000 per lot.

The highest price of the sale was paid for the northeast corner of Avenue U and East Twenty-fourth Street, a triangular plot 26 by 100 feet in depth, which sold for $12,500, to Joseph McFarland, who represented the owner of adjoining property.

The largest buyer of the sale was the Landaley Realty Corporation of Manhattan who bought eighty-three lots for a total of $203,150. Their purchases included lots in all sections of Avenue U, estates and Neck Road, Avenue U and Nostrand Avenue.

Another large buyer was the Greenfield Holding Corporation, who paid $4,100 apiece for three lots on Neck Road on the corner of Bedford Avenue. They also obtained the key lots comprising the block frontage of Neck Road between Bedford Avenue and East Twenty-sixth Street, paying $4,100 each for five and $2,550 for the other five lots.

A. Mishkin, a Brooklyn builder, paid $2,050 each for twelve lots on the west side of East Twenty-sixth Street, between Neck Road and Avenue U. Mr. Mishkin also bought a five-lot plot on the northwest corner of Avenue U and East Twenty-ninth Street, for which he paid $5,800 each, the adjoining five lots on Avenue U going to Samuel Tilove, also of Brooklyn, for $5,000 apiece.

The Namlis Holding Corporation paid $4,600 each for the five lots on the southeast corner of Avenue U and East Twenty-eighth Street, while the lots immediately abutting in the rear on Neck Road brought $2,200 apiece.

Nostrand Avenue lots went in strings of ten and twenty at $1,700 apiece to the Barouch Housing Corporation, B. Gould and Louis Katz of the Bronx.

Gedney Farm Property Transferred.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Papers were signed today by the Gedney Farm Golf Club for the purchase of the 116-acre tract it now occupies, from Howard Willets, who recently purchased the property from Edward H. Crandall, former proprietor of the Gedney Farm Hotel. The purchase price was not made public, but the property has been held at $400,000. The club will take title on Oct. 15.

The Gedney Farm Golf Club, organized in May, 1922, had a five-year lease on the property, which lease would run until Dec. 31, 1927. The property which has an eighteen-hole course, covering 6,500 yards, includes a large club house, to which additions are to be made. The property is located on Ridgeway Avenue, within the city limits of White Plains.

205 Apartment Homes

already have been bought in Hudson View Gardens

THE location is the loveliest in all Manhattan; 300 feet above the Hudson on historic Fort Washington heights. The setting is as charming as nature and landscape gardening can make it. The architecture is the quaint old Tudor, with its delightful casement windows.

Each apartment has oak parquet floors (in the kitchen tiled linoleum) a door-bed compartment for guests, and is completely fitted with modern devices such as dish-washing machines, automatic refrigeration to make housekeeping easy.

Some Choice 3-4-5 Room Apartments Still Available

$4300-$9100 for Equity—Elevator & Non-Elevator

MONTHLY MAINTENANCE EXPENSE FROM $40 to $85

Each person in search of a REAL HOME who has visited Hudson View Gardens has wished that he might live there, ALL the apartments would now be taken, were they for rent. Buying a Home requires a little capital. Not much; a moderate payment down is acceptable. And we make every effort to meet the financial requirements of desirable purchasers.

When you have taken an apartment the balance of the purchase price may be paid out of your income in monthly instalments. Your total outlay at first will be about as much as the usual rent of apartments elsewhere. But only half of the amount will be Expense; the other half will be an INVESTMENT toward the purchase of your home. Soon your monthly outlay will be cut in half.

100% Cooperative Ownership Cuts the Cost of Living

It is much less costly to maintain one central plant serving many homes than a separate plant for each. The home owners in Hudson View Gardens own the whole property. Each pays his share of maintenance and general repairs, earns a landlord's profit and benefits by increased values. And he enjoys the same advantages of owning his own home just as absolutely as though it were a detached house in a suburb from which he had to commute every day.

781 Fifth St., Miami Beach, Fla.

"We have toured the State," says Mr. Lewis J. Selznick, "carefully examining the respective advantages of each of the larger cities and many of the smaller ones. The selection of Gomes-Olympia, now Picture City, has been made because, of all things considered, we believe it to be the finest possible location for a motion picture colony. It is a beautiful and picturesque country. Location for exterior scenes of almost every sort abound within a few minutes of the studios. The climate, the cool breezes from the Indian River and the ocean, and the scenery; all these things combine to make it the perfect place to live and to work—whether at motion-picture production or at other industries. Every facility for industrial and social life is ready at Picture City. We are next-door neighbors to America's most famous playground, Palm Beach; and our proximity to the magic Miami is, of course another striking advantage.

"We shall commence producing ourselves immediately upon completion of the studio. But I want it clear that the main object in the founding of a new capital for the industry as a whole, not simply a place for our own productions. The great and numerous independents of motion pictures need a home, and it is our intention to give it to them. We shall supply them with every facility and cooperation offered anywhere in the world. Studios and laboratories are but the first steps. Financial and distribution cooperation for other producers will be ready."

My clients are offering 500 feet of ocean front, extending over 1,000 feet back to Indian River, at $275 per front foot. Comment is unnecessary. We also offer 1,500 feet ocean front at $300; terms, 20% down, 20% 30 days, 10% 60 days, balance one, two and three years.

SALESMEN WANTED.

SALESMEN.

A large manufacturer of nationally known floor covering can use several high-type salesmen in New England, Western Pennsylvania and possibly Southern territories.

To men who can show successful sales record in small towns and who are accustomed to earning around $5,000 per year and upward, this offers an unusual opportunity for increased earnings and rapid advancement.

Each man who can qualify is given a thorough training in the house for about a week and then sent on his territory with a district sales manager who will demonstrate the earning possibility of a real salesman.

Remuneration is a liberal commission with a weekly guarantee.

Do not apply unless you have an automobile, preferably of the smaller coupe type, and understand through experience what it means to call on the retail store, hardware and furniture trade in the smallest as well as the larger towns, and are also confident that your record entitles you to consideration.

Apply immediately,

TO THE EXCEPTIONAL SALESMAN.

In May we trained a class of nine men to sell an advertising service on commission traveling outside of New York.

Six out of the nine men made good during their first thirty days in the field and are enjoying a highly satisfactory income notwithstanding the dull period just passed. Our highly productive period opens in September.

We met through an Ad similar to this in The New York Times. They learned our methods in two weeks through an intensive training course here.

We have openings for the first five satisfactory men between 30 and 45 who have earned in the neighborhood of $10,000 a year in the past. Telephone

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The disturbance that was central over Northwestern Minnesota Monday night has advanced to Ontario, and other disturbances are central over British Columbia and Newfoundland and some disturbance off the South Carolina coast. The area of high pressure from the North Pacific is now moving eastward over Manitoba, the Plains States and the upper Mississippi Valley, and the barometer is still relatively high, but falling slowly, over the Eastern States. Except for local rains in South Dakota, Western Nebraska, the Southern Rocky Mountain and Southern plateau regions, Eastern Texas and along the South Atlantic Coast.

Fair weather has prevailed during the last twenty-four hours. The temperature was somewhat lower Tuesday in the Lake Superior region, Minnesota, the Plains States, the Southern Rocky Mountain region and Northern Texas, and it was higher from the northern portions of California, Nevada and Utah, northward over the Canadian Northwest.

There was little change in temperature east of the Mississippi River. The weather will be fair almost generally Wednesday and Thursday, east of the Mississippi River. The temperature changes will be slight except that cooler weather will overspread the lower lake region and the Upper Ohio Valley Wednesday night and the Atlantic States north of Virginia Wednesday night or Thursday.

COUNTRY-WIDE WEATHER CONDITIONS.

In the following record of observations at United States Weather Bureau stations yesterday, the temperatures given are the highest during the twelve hours ending at 8 P. M., 8 P. M., and the lowest during the preceding twelve hours from 8 P. M. to 8 A. M.; the barometer reading and condition of weather are those recorded at 8 P. M., and the rainfall is for the twenty-four hours ended at 8 P. M.

Restaurants and Tea Rooms.

THERE IS AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY in Miami, Florida, for a large restaurant; due to the difficulty in securing proper locations the entire restaurant capacity of Miami is utterly inadequate to feed the thousands of people pouring into the city; we have a site, 75x100, corner N. Miami Av. and 4th St., in the same block New Capital Theatre —Miami's finest motion picture theatre—now being erected; this property cannot be leased but would have to be bought to secure site; unusual opportunity also for advancement of real estate value; this property is in heart of Miami's downtown district and cannot be handled by small operator; location would also be suitable for other large mercantile establishments. If interested further, communicate with Meyer & Wolfson, 17 N. W. 3d St., Miami, Florida.

THE LARGEST AND BEST RESTAURANT room in the city of West Palm Beach, seating 120 comfortably, located in the largest and finest hotel and apartment building; restaurateur who knows his business and can cater to high-class patronage cannot fail to make a wonderful success. The guests in this hotel as well as other hotels and transients will give this restaurant a big business; rental is $7,500 per year and includes a roof garden seating 45 with a serving kitchen in connection. For particulars write or wire Manager Lake Court Apartments, West Palm Beach, Florida.

Cambridge Court

THE FACT that you Save Half Your Rent by purchasing a Garden Apartment at Jackson Heights is the best evidence of the soundness and economy of ownership as compared with the payment of rent which gives you nothing but rent receipts.

Cambridge Court Garden Apartments are a new group of buildings of the same high standard that makes all Jackson Heights Garden Apartments, with their surroundings of landscaped gardens and wide parked streets, so attractive to the families who live in the most carefully restricted residential section of New York City.

The apartments are of five and six rooms and two baths, with a sunroom equipped with full size disappearing bed and dressing closet, which makes a desirable guest room.

These Cambridge Court Garden Apartments range in equity price from $10,000 to $16,000 under the Jackson Heights Plan of 100% Cooperative Ownership. A modest initial payment gives you possession and thereafter you make regular monthly payments of from $145 to $193 the same as rent. Approximately one-half of each monthly payment is applied to the purchase and the balance to maintaining your apartment.

Jackson Heights offers fine private and public schools; the second largest tennis club on Long Island; safeguarded playgrounds for the children.

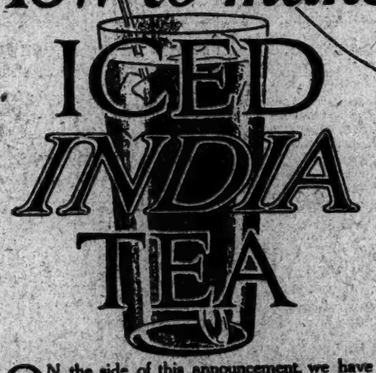
How to make ICED INDIA TEA



ON the side of this announcement, we have explained to you how to make Iced India Tea. Half the world's supply of Tea comes from India, and therefore half the Tea drunk in the world is India Tea.

Its great vogue in most countries has been created by the quality and aroma of the Tea itself. There is no Tea comparable with it.

Most dealers sell it, and if your dealer has not got it, he will get it for you. He will have no trouble. Insist upon India Tea and you will get India Tea. Make it according to directions, either hot or cold, and there is no more stimulating or refreshing drink.

Have You tried a Cup of Hot India Tea at 4 o'clock

C.F.H. 23

One teaspoonful for each cup of tea in the teapot, pour the boiling water on it, and allow it to stand for four or five minutes to infuse.

Fill the glass with three-quarters of ice, a slice of lemon, and pour the boiling tea on it, and sugar to taste.
